AMERICA SHOWS JAPAN THE WORLD

EXACT SPOT IS MARKED.

Bluff Old Sailor's Story of the First Landing Decades Ago in the Mikado's Kingdom.

[BY ELIZA R. SCIDMORE.]

TOKIO, Jan. 3.—The Japanese newspapers have published laudatory notices of Admiral Lester Beardslee, who died recently in Georgia, for to them he was a historical figure and a figure in their own history. As a midshipman in Commodore Perry's fleet he was a witness of the opening of Japan to the world. He revisited it as a ship's commander in 1870, when the country was torn with the Satsuma rebellion, and after his retirement from active service he gratified his long desire and spent a year in leisured ease on shore in the far east.

Admiral Beardslee hunted up, with the aid of a yachting American friend, the exact spot where the boats landed Commodore Perry, and where the president's letter was delivered to the unwilling Japanese officials on the beach of the little village of Kurihama, forty miles below Yokohama.

At the next banquet given him by the many societies and associations of Tokio, eager to honor the survivor of the Perry expedition, he demanded to know why there was no monument to mark such an important spot, since Japan is dotted with monuments and memorial stones from one end to the other. Forthwith, the Society of Those Who Have Been In America, as Beiyukuwai might be translated, promised to erect a monument if Admiral Beardslee would wait to dedicate it.

The committee of enthusiastic young men headed by Baron Kaneko, that Harvard graduate and degree man, who stands for good government, purity, and reform in municipal matters, went with the admiral to the spot. They planted trees, marked the monument site, and in a little over six months had the memorial completed and unveiled with great ceremony on the forty-eighth anniversary of the landing.

Admiral Beardslee had a strong sense of humor and dearly loved to tell how he first set foot on Japan. When the string of ships' boats had landed Commodore Perry and his staff and his files of marines Midshipman Beardslee was told off to command one of the boats and told not to leave it. While the mysterious proceedings went on in the draped enclosure time dragged on the hands of the lively young midshipman, and, wearing his boat deer in shore, he determined to step off on the beach for only a minute, "just to say he had been on shore in Japan." One cautious foot had just gone over the gunwale and touched the soft sand, when the other officer in command spied him and roared out: "Get into your boat immediately, Mr. Beardslee," and his experience on shore went no further.

Equally joyful was the old admiral's memory of his first and last interview with Commodore Perry. At that time grog was regularly served in the American navy, and on great occasions a special ration was given to seamen. One of the officers on the ship to which Midshipman Beardslee was attached was a hard drinker and had with difficulty been brought out of an attack of delirium tremens on the way up from Canton.

His ship's commander feared that the order for extra grog on the night of the delivery of the president's letter might be his undoing, and, not to make it an affair of official record and correspondence, he sent Midshipman Beardslee to the flagship to verbally state the case to Commodore Perry and ask that that particular ship be omitted from the order.

It was a hot night in mid-July. The commodore sat at his desk, collarless, writing. The little midshipman was ushered in and twirled his cap a few minutes, waiting. The commodore's quill pen scratched on and on, came to a stop, and the handsome old head was raised. An eagle glance shot from the eye, and the naval diplomat said, "Eigh?"

The midshipman repeated the message, gave the explanation, and stopped. The handsome old commodore meditated a minute, and said: "Umph!" and resumed writing, and the midshipman slipped through the cabin doorway and breathed freely on deck after the brief interval in the commander's presence.

"And that was my first and last interview with the commodore during the whole cruise," Admiral Beardslee used to say with a chuckle of delight.

The emperor had a special interest in receiving Admiral Beardslee, and the audience was not the formal, impersonal affair of set speeches that such affairs usually are. There were difficulties in arranging for the presentation, however, as Admiral Beardslee had no naval uniform with him in Japan. When he retired from the navy he retired, he said. He was a private citizen only, and the gold lace and buttons were not for him any more.

"But you must wear the uniform of your rank at the palace," said the despairing minister.

"Did Gen. Grant wear uniform in Japan?" said the retired admiral, and the vanquished chamberlain arranged for the presentation at a garden party, where civilian dress was permissible.

After he had seen the Japan of 1900 Admiral Beardslee in reality retired and settled down to an active life on his place at Beaufort, N. C., in an old colonial mansion, crowded with the trophies and accumulations of a busy life in many seas. Japanese servants and gardener went back to America with him, and the tireless old admiral had a little Japan on his place of every green and growing thing he had been able to send. Seeds, roots, bulbs, and specimens from Japan, chrysanthemums and morning glories, iris and lilies made splendid show for him in a first season, and his mulberry trees nourished silk worms that netted their Japanese tenders seventy pounds of shining, glossy skeins at the first trial. His was a happy old age, full of honors and activities, and the Japanese mourn him.

Japan has never failed to recognize the debt she owes to the United States. It was the fleets of the latter power that showed Japan the open door of the world and started the chrysanthemum kingdom on its surprising march toward the front rank among the great powers of the world.

RUSSIA IGNORES AMERICAN NOTE.

Proposal of United States That Powers Preserve Integrity of China Is Coldly Received.

CASSINI TALKS WITH HAY

Action of Secretary of State Most Important Since This Country Became a World Power.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Russia does not regard with favor the representations of the United States regarding the localizing of hostilities between that government and Japan. So far the St. Petersburg government has ignored Secretary Hay's note.

Count Cassini called upon the secretary of state today and informed Mr. Hay the Russian government had been forced by Japan to declare war. The Russian ambassador denied emphatically that his government was seeking to have the powers mediate, and declared that since Japan had begun the war Russia would accept the challenge and wage the conflict to the bitter end.

President Roosevelt has decided to issue a proclamation of neutrality, and it probably will make its appearance tomorrow. The proclamation is in usual form, and enjoins upon citizens of the United States a strict regard and observance of the neutrality laws.

These are the important developments in the Russo-Japanese situation here today. Count Cassini called upon the American secretary of state under instructions from his government to inform the United States that the Russian government had been forced to declare war against Japan because of an attack on the fleet in the harbor at Port Arthur. The ambassador presented Mr. Hay with a copy of the official cablegram from St. Petersburg, as follows:

"During the night of the 8th of February a detachment of Japanese torpedo boats unexpectedly attacked the Russian squadron in the outer roads of the fortress of Port Arthur. This attack, being the beginning of military operations, obliges the imperial government to take immediate measures to reply by armed force to the challenge issued against Russia. Be good enough to convey this information to the government of the United States."

Russia Suspicious of America.

There was a brief conference between the secretary of state and the ambassador regarding the proposition to localize the sphere of hostilities, but the Russian envoy gave no intimation as to how this proposition would be received by his government.

Russia is not likely to regard this proposal with entire satisfaction, and it possibly will not conduce to a better understanding between the governments at St. Petersburg and Washington. There is a feeling that the suggestion made by Secretary Hay will be construed as a sign of sympathy for Japan on the part of the United States.

As yet Russia has failed to respond to the suggestions of the United States, which were made with the friendliest motives. There are apparently several reasons for this failure, one being the promptness with which Japan accepted the proposition upon condition, however, that Russia do likewise.

Manchuria Is Included.

When the proposal of Secretary Hay is published it will be found that Manchuria will be included as a part of China proper, so far as the neutrality proposal is concerned. Thus Japan, while expressing willingness to localize hostilities, has forced a state of war by attacking Russians in Manchuria.

Japan has been contending for the preservation of the integrity of China ever since the Russian occupation, and the Russians, it is asserted, are bound to regard the United States as playing Japan's game at the outset of the war. The Russians will probably represent to the United States that the effect of this has been to make Japan feel that it had the moral support of the United States.

Keeps China Out of War.

Secretary Hay's proposal was made for the purpose of keeping China out of the theater of war and without prejudice to Russia. It was made because it was to the interest of all nations. This government feels that no nation can object to the suggestion that China remain neutral, and that no nation could justify itself if it did object.

In the second place, Russia avoids the risk of having on her hands a war with China and is left free to withdraw a large guard from her long frontier.

In the third place, the other nations, all of which have interests in China, escape the constant danger which would otherwise be threatening them of becoming involved in the controversy.

Two Plain Propositions.

Mr. Hay's suggestion when published will be found to lay down the two propositions in the plainest language. He has not differentiated between old China and that part of the empire known as Manchuria and now occupied by Russia, and almost certain to be the scene of war. Nor has he included the future independence of Corea. That was a question with which he did not want to involve the greater and more pressing question of the neutrality of China and the territorial integrity of China, which is a necessary corollary.

United States Deeply Involved.

With more information at hand concerning the exchanges now taking place between the great nations on the subject of arranging concurrent or collective action to secure the neutralization of China the conclusion is forced that the matter is more momentous than anything of an international character participated in by the government of the United States before or since it became a world power. Upon the outcome of these exchanges may depend the ending of the Russo-Japanese conflict, or the preservation of China from the designs of great governments actuated by political or commercial cupidity or desire to protect their own interests. And the administration of Washington has gone so earnestly and so deeply into the history making game that is being played that there is no telling in what position it may find itself when the present negotiations assume positive shape.

There is a vast difference between guaranteeing the neutrality of the Chinese government and guaranteeing the neutralization of

THE GEN. BULLER OF THE ORIENT.

FINDS THE LOST BODY

TRICK TO GET $500 FAILS.

Man Buries Mrs. Greenwald, Though Claiming Another Woman.

The long search of Frank R. Greenwald for the body of his wife, who lost her life in the Iroquois fire has been rewarded. He has found the body buried at Elmwood as that of another woman.

Mr. Greenwald identified the body by the membrane connecting the first and second toes of the feet, and by two rings that were still on the hand. The body was burned beyond recognition of the features.

Linked with the pathos of the long search, which has taxed the energy and ingenuity of Assistant Chief Schuettler, is a story, if the theory of the police and the husband is true, of a deliberate attempt to get possession of a body in order to obtain the money found on it.

Duplicate Numbers on Bodies.

Mrs. Greenwald's body was taken to Jordan's undertaking rooms, where it lay in the annex numbered 34. The number was a duplicate, and on the other body numbered 34 was $500. A man who said he came from Montreal, Canada, claimed body number 34, stating that $500 would be found on it. He secured a permit to take away this body.

He claimed it as the body of his aunt, who had arrived in the city on the morning of the fire, a woman 50 years of age. When he brought the permit to remove the body he found that it already had been identified as that of Mrs. Helen Miller, 23 years old, of 369 Huron street.

When he found he could not get the body of Mrs. Miller he took the other one, as his permit called for number 34. This was the body of Mrs. Greenwald. He called Bernard E. Arntzen, a north side undertaker, to care for the body and bury it.

He explained his circumstances, and upon promise that wealthy relatives would come to Chicago he obtained not only credit for the expense of the interment but also the loan of a considerable sum from the undertaker.

Persistent in Demand for $500.

After both the bodies had been buried this man continued to trouble the Miller family, seeking the effects that were on the body which they had identified. Although Mrs. Greenwald wore several articles of jewelry, the presence of the two rings leads the police to believe that the remaining pieces were taken by some one else, and not by the man who identified the body. No money was found on the body.

Suspicion of the sincerity of the Canada B. McKenzie, Arntzen's attorney, to have him get the effects. In reply to the attorney's questions, the man did not tell a straight story. Neither his stopping place nor the place from which he came could be discovered, nor the whereabouts of his and his aunt's baggage.

Man's Strange Conduct a Clew.

It was this interview that finally led to the correct identification. With a piece of his wife's clothing, found in the débris in the theater, the husband traced down every body about which there had been any uncertainty, and finally started to examine the incident of the Miller identification. His talks with Arntzen disclosed the Montreal man's curious behavior, and suspicion was directed against him.

The police have a good description of the man, and know that he has been seen in certain saloons on the south side. They say they will have him within the week.

Will Bury Bodies on Saturday.

Greenwald is much relieved now his weary search has succeeded, and on Saturday he will bury his wife and Leroy, his 10 year old son, together at Elmhurst.

The son also had been wrongly identified. He had been placed in a vault as Vernon Corbin, 6838 Wentworth avenue. This mistake was discovered by Mr. Greenwald ten days after the fire.

POPE SETS HIM FREE.

ACTION ENDS LONG FIGHT.

Woman in Case Is Marion Loomis of Chicago—Reverses One Trial.

Arthur G. Gaukler of Detroit has been granted at last an ecclesiastical decree of divorce from Marion Loomis of this city.

The action was taken by Pope Pius X. in Rome on Jan. 18, but news of the decree did not reach Mr. Gaukler and his friends until yesterday. The pope's decree reverses the action of the trial court held in the Holy Name cathedral, in Chicago, in September, 1901, and brings to a close the most sensational fight of the kind thus far known in the Roman Catholic church in this part of the country.

Mr. Gaukler already had been legally divorced, but he protested that he wanted the sanction of his church in order that he might remarry and remain in the faith. The church authorities here were reluctant to countenance the annulment of marriage, no matter what the circumstances.

Married Life Is Short.

The Gaukler affair, now celebrated, had its beginning in the marriage of Miss Loomis, an actress, to Mr. Gaukler, a wealthy lawyer of Detroit, on Feb. 12, 1901, at the church of the Holy Family, 413 West Twelfth street. Father Thomas E. Sherman, who had known Gaukler as a college student, officiated. Before the ceremony Miss Loomis became a Catholic.

The marriage proved unhappy, and divorce proceedings were instituted by Gaukler in Detroit in the following July. There the two were formally divorced—the marriage being annulled, and a bill for separate maintenance, which Mrs. Gaukler had filed, set aside.

Previous Marriage Is Alleged.

At this trial Gaukler testified that shortly after the wedding Mrs. Gaukler told him she would superintend his household, but would not be a wife to him. He soon afterward found letters in her trunk from Mrs. Mary Rose of Chicago telling her that "Billy still loved her"—this Billy being William McLain of Norris, Allster & Co. of the Columbus Memorial building.

Mr. Gaukler brought papers to show the defendant was once married to Harry Davies of the Castle Square company and that their marriage had not been annulled.

Church Trial in Secret.

Subsequently Gaukler sought to secure the ecclesiastical divorce, and the unusual spectacle of a church trial was witnessed in Chicago in September of the same year. The sessions of the court at the Holy Name parish house were secret. The Rev. N. J. Mooney was presiding judge and the Rev. Thomas E. Sherman, S. J., who married Miss Loomis and Gaukler, argued against the annulment of the ceremony. Mr. Gaukler appeared with scores of witnesses and the Rev. Peter A. Baart of Marshall, Mich., a recognized doctor of canonical law.

The decision of that court was adverse to Gaukler, but the pope's finding, announced yesterday in Chicago and Detroit, reverses the judgment and releases Gaukler.

Twelve Inch Gun on United States Battleship Missouri Makes a Remarkable Record.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—One of the officers of the battleship Missouri, which has been engaged in target practice off the Chesapeake capes, came to the navy department today with a remarkable statement. He said that one of the twelve inch guns, being elevated several degrees, let fly a shell which the strongest glass could not follow to the end of its flight. Later a passing steamer reported that the shot had struck the sea within 300 yards of it. The steamer was distant from the Missouri just fifteen miles.

CHEFOO, Feb. 10, 1:45 p. m., eastern time.—A high officer in the Japanese navy visited Port Arthur on Feb. 7, only twenty-four hours before the battle, and noted the exact position of the Russian warships and also saw that they had little steam up and were not keeping a sharp outlook. How he was enabled to do this is told by the Japanese consul at Chefoo.

The consul said today that when he was informed by his government that the Japanese minister at St. Petersburg was withdrawn on the 6th inst., he chartered a British vessel and went to Port Arthur and Dalny to take off Japanese refugees.

Enters Port Arthur.

He was afforded every facility by the Russian government officials at Port Arthur. Quarantine was removed and the consul entered the town in official dress. He was saluted by the soldiers and invited to dinner by a high official, where the toast drunk was that peace might be restored. After leaving Dalny the consul's steamer encountered the Japanese fleet, about eighteen miles from Port Arthur.

A high naval Japanese commander traveled as a menial in the consul's train to Port Arthur. As soon as the Japanese fleet was sighted signals were interchanged and the Japanese naval officer was taken aboard the flagship. There he made a detailed report of the observations to Admiral Togo.

How Russians Were Anchored.

This officer explained with marvelous accuracy the course of the fight, though he had not seen it. He said the Russians were in four lines. In the first line, next to the entrance, were the Bayan and Novik; in the second the Petropalosvk, Pobieda, and Poltava; in the third the Peresviet, Retvizan, Savastopol, and the Czarevitch; in the fourth the Bayarin, Diana, Pallada, and Askold. In front of all was the Angara, the only ship that used searchlights. The torpedoed battleships, he said, were the Czarevitch and Poltava, while the torpedoed cruiser was the Bayarin.

The condition of Ald. William Mavor, reported as improving during the day, became worse last evening, and early this morning Dr. Robert Dodds reported that it was "extremely low." The council leader has not recovered consciousness since his attack of apoplexy in the city hall Monday afternoon. Death may result at any time, it was said, and there is little hope for Ald. Mavor's recovery. The council finance committee, of which Mr. Mavor was the head, will begin its sessions tomorrow afternoon, probably with Ald. Bennett in the chair.

At the station he gave the name of La Fayette Connors, but refused to tell where he lived. He probably will be sent to the detention hospital today.

Several Attempts to Land Troops Under Protection of Cruisers Prove a Failure.

Transports Loaded with Czar's Troops Reported Captured in an Attack on Chemulpo.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A special dispatch from Port Arthur says the Japanese fleet attempted on Wednesday to land men in several bays in the neighborhood of Port Arthur under the protection of the guns of the cruisers. It is asserted, however, that all the attempts were unsuccessful.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Feb. 11, 3 a. m.—Japanese engineers, disguised as Chinese, are reported to have blown up a railroad bridge on the Manchurian railroad, killing thirty Russians.

This information indicates that Japan has lost no time in attacking Russia's railroad communication, with the design of isolating Port Arthur and Dalny.

It is understood that hundreds of Japanese engineers, disguised as Chinese coolies, have been in Manchuria for weeks waiting for the signal to attack the Russian railway.

Advices from Kwar-Ting, Manchuria, say that 10,000 armed Chinese, unofficially recognized as government troops, are operating in the district, and are expected to attack the railroad guards when they hear of the Russian disaster.

Gale at Port Arthur.

In a dispatch from Chefoo dated Feb. 10 a correspondent of the Daily Mail says:

Russia Masses 50,000 Troops.

It is stated that 50,000 Russians are massed along the line from Liao-Yang, Hai-Cheng, Feng-Huang-Cheng, and the Yalu river to oppose the Japanese advance into Manchuria.

Rumor of Massacre of Chinese.

The Tien Tsin correspondent of the Standard sends in a report that the Russians have massacred 100 Chinese at Liao Yang, in consequence of which the officials at Shan-Hai-Kwan are greatly alarmed and are appealing to Pekin for protection.

Russian Troops Captured.

Japan is reported to have scored fresh triumphs on Russia yesterday by capturing three transports of the Russian volunteer fleet, with 2,000 soldiers. The capture was made off the Corean coast.

Japan's troops have taken possession of Seoul, the capital of Corea, and the emperor of Corea has taken refuge in the French legation. Four hundred French troops are on their way from Tien Tsin to reinforce the guard at the French legation at Seoul.

There are 1,000 Russian troops in Seoul, and unless they withdraw they are likely to fall into Japanese hands.

Fate of the Variag in Doubt.

Early accounts of the naval battle at Chemulpo stated that the Russian cruiser Variag had been sunk after a severe naval engagement. Later dispatches say the Variag was captured by the Japanese and towed into the harbor of Sasebo. Official reports will be needed to ascertain the facts.

Russian Vessels Captured.

Details of the capture of Russian steamers are brought by dispatches to the Daily Mail from Nagasaki. One of the steamers was the volunteer fleet transport Ekaterinoslav, which recently landed troops and arms at Port Arthur, and the other was the steamer Argun, belonging to the Chinese Eastern railway company. Both were captured by the Japanese cruisers Sai Yen and Hei Yen, in the neighborhood of Fusan, Corea. The Ekaterinoslav is of 10,000 tons displacement, and had been fitted up as an auxiliary cruiser. It had thirty rifles on board and was on its way from Vladivostok. The Argun was going to Vladivostok from Nagasaki.

The Russian whalers Glorige, Nicetai,

Alexander, and Michael, captured by the Japanese, have also arrived at Sasebo.

Report Received by Hayashi.

The text of the official dispatch received by Baron Hayashi is as follows:

"On Monday a Japanese squadron escorting transports met on the way to Chemulpo, Corea, the Russian gunboat Koriets, as the latter was coming out of port. The Koriets took up an offensive attitude toward the Japanese vessels and fired on the Japanese torpedo boats. The latter discharged two torpedoes ineffectively and then the Koriets returned to anchorage in the port.

"Early in the morning of Tuesday Admiral Uriu, commanding the Japanese squadon, formally called on the Russian warships to leave Chemulpo before noon. The admiral added that if his demand was not complied with he would be compelled to attack them in the harbor.

Russians Seek a Fight.

The two Russian warships left the port at about 11:30 a. m. and a battle ensued outside the Polynesian islands. After an hour's engagement the Russian warships sought refuge among the islands. Towards the evening the Russian cruiser Variag sank, and at about 4 a. m. today, Feb. 10, the Koreatz was reported to have also sunk, having been blown up. The officers and men of the two sunken vessels sought refuge on the French cruiser Pascal. There were no casualties on the Japanese side.

It is not known whether their sinking was due to the Japanese fire or to the Russians' own action, but it is believed to be due to the former.

There were no casualties among the Japanese and their vessels sustained no damage.

Japs Make Up for Delay.

"We were slow in negotiating, so we are making up for lost time by quickness in action," said Baron Hayashi, commenting on the news. "The engagements at Port Arthur and Chemulpo were merely in accordance with plans long matured.

"As soon as our forces are landed in Corea I look for an important fleet action at Port Arthur. The Russian vessels are not likely to give up the advantage they gained by being under the cover of their land batteries. By going to the Chinese side, however, the Japanese fleet, by high angle fire, can drop in shells which should make it uncomfortable for the Russian ships, lying moored close to one another. Thereby it is hoped to drive out Viceroy Alexieff's forces.

"Possibly, like Admiral Cervera, he may anticipate fate, and come into the open of his own accord.

"The present events merely go to show the utter uselessness of Port Arthur from a strategic viewpoint."

Battle of the Yalu a Rumor.

Little attention is paid here to the dispatch from Vladivostok telling of private advices of the complete rout of the Japanese by the Russians on the Yalu river. These advices also claimed that Chemulpo, Corea, has been occupied by Russian soldiers and marines. The dispatch is regarded as pure invention.

A dispatch to the Central News from Port Arthur says the Japanese fleet returned there Tuesday afternoon and again bombarded the Russian fleet and forts, but that it soon withdrew. The losses to the Russians, the dispatch says, were small. During the firing a Japanese cruiser grounded.

OFFICERS TO OBSERVE WAR.

United States Asks Permission of Russia and Japan to Send Military Experts with Both Armies.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 10.—By direction of the authorities at Washington, Ambassador McCormick has asked the Russian officials to permit the following officers to accompany the Russian army in the field:

COL. JOHN B. KERR of the general staff.

CAPT. CARL REICHMAN of the Seventeenth infantry.

CAPT. WILLIAM J. JUDSON of the engineer corps.

Lieut. Newton A. McCully, U. S. N., will be attached to the Russian fleet if the necessary permission is obtained.

American Officers with Japanese.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Mr. Griscom, the American minister at Tokio, has been directed to request permission of the Japanese government for the following army officers to accompany the Japanese army.

COL. E. H. CROWDER of the general staff.

CAPT. J. F. MORRISON of the Twentieth infantry.

CAPT. FREDERICK MARSH of the artillery corps.

DOWAGER EMPRESS IN FLIGHT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HONGKONG, Feb. 10.—The dowager empress and her court have left Pekin and taken refuge at Kai-Feng-Fu, in the province of Honan.

Gen. Yuan Shi Kai, commander in chief of the Chinese army, is drilling 30,000 new troops. He has applied to the government for funds, and, if unable to obtain them, proposes to raise the required money himself.

Gen. Ma has been ordered to Shan Hai Kwan to hold it against Russian occupation.

FRANCE NOT TO OCCUPY FORTS.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—The foreign office discredits the reports from Tien Tsin of the French occupation of Shan-Hai-Kwan, on the gulf of Liaotung. The officials here say the negotiations on this subject occurred six months ago, without definite results, and the officials believe that the reported arrival of French troops there arose from the shifting of the small garrison detachments. The officials add there certainly can be no significance in the French occupying the forts vacated by the Russians.

JAPAN'S DECLARATION IS MADE.

Washington Legation Sends Out Notice of the Mikado's Proclamation of War.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 11, 1:30 a. m.—The following cablegram was forwarded this morning to Hejine Ota, assistant commissioner general of the world's fair for Japan, from Attaché Hanhari of the Japanese legation at Washington: "His majesty declared war against Russia today."

EUROPE STUDIES JAPAN'S VICTORY.

Balance of Naval Power in Far East Upset by Work of Forty-eight Hours.

RUSSIANS IN BAD SHAPE.

Fleet at Port Arthur Left to Choose Between Inaction and Defeat.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Every successive detail from the far east emphasizes the significance of the astounding successes won by Japan, apparently without the sacrifice of a single ship or the loss of a single life. It is pointed out that the mikado's squadrons are sweeping the sea as triumphantly as did that Dutch admiral who rode the channel with a broom at his masthead. In less than forty-eight hours the balance of the naval power in the far east has been entirely upset.

Russia, one expert says, is in the position of a chess player who loses his queen in the first half dozen moves. The naval position of the Russians at Port Arthur is considered absolutely desperate, and it is thought most unlikely that Vladivostok's squadron of four powerful armored cruisers will be able to to the assistance of the battered fleet at Port Arthur.

Russian Admiral in Bad Fix.

Admiral Stark's position there is likened to Cervera's at Santiago. He is described as being between the horns of a dilemma. He must either submit to be held under the guns of Port Arthur in a posture intensely humiliating to Russian pride and prestige or he must come out and fight in a condition of inferiority which would render defeat almost a foregone conclusion. Whatever now happens, the Japanese empire is thought safe from attack. It is, however, recognized that the war is by no means over and Russia's position is compared to that of Great Britain after the initial reverses of the Boer war. Several papers take pains to throw a little cold water on the exultation with which the news of the Japanese victories are received in London. Everything is not over, bar the shouting, say these papers, and, by the way, a majority of the English press pays a warm tribute to the manner in which Russia has received the news of her disasters.

Land Battles Yet to Come.

"Whatever Russia has suffered on the sea," the Telegraph points out, "the foundation of her strength will remain unshaken until she is beaten upon terra firma. While the finish of the sea struggle may still present a prolonged opportunity for exciting and important incidents, it is upon the land that the bloodiest and most doubtful development of this epoch making conflict must take place." Similarly, the Daily Chronicle says: "The fortitude with which the reports of initial reverses are received remind us of the latent strength of these great people."

What will Japan do next? is the question asked on every side. The predictions made here are neither more nor less valuable than those published on the other side of the Atlantic, and it is idle to cable more than an indication of what appears to be the consensus of British expert opinion on the subject.

Expert Views of Outlook.

The Daily Telegram sums up as follows: "Seoul is in Japan's hands, and for all practical purposes Corea has passed into her possession. Repeating the famous converging movement of the Chinese war, Japan has thrown troops upon both sides of the Corean coast. If she marches against the Russian army upon the Yalu, Japan can move simultaneously from Fusan on the east coast and from Chemulpo on the west, with direct support of the fleet at Yalu itself.

"The czar's troops at that point would risk a Sedan upon a minor scale. Separated by a week's march from the railway, and precariously relying upon cart transport, they could not be largely strengthened without denuding the railway itself or dangerously weakening the garrison at Port Arthur. Even then the increased difficulties of transport with the increase in size of the army at the Yalu would still mean the ultimate probability of a Sedan upon a colossal scale.

"Thus retreat in that quarter is perhaps as likely as resistence now that Russia is awakening to the desperate complexion even of her military outlook.

Japan's Possible Aim.

"Upon the other hand, Japan, masking Port Arthur with her fleet, might try to break the neck of Russia's communications at New Chwang. There she would possess a splendid base and would cut the Manchurian railway upon the coast, and attacking at the treaty port with success, she would break up all of Admiral Alexieff's dispositions, isolating the garrison of Port Arthur from the troops in the Manchurian interior and both from the troops far away upon the Yalu. As this contingency has been the least mentioned by the Japanese, it may be the most probable."

Germany Deeply Impressed.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The successes of the Japanese have made a deep impression in Berlin, in spite of German sympathy for Russia. The courage, audacity, and resource shown by the Japanese force admiration in military and naval circles. At the Russian embassy there was great bitterness on account of the behavior of Japan, and it was declared contrary to all international law that she should thus assume the offensive without a declaration of war.

A contrast also is made between the condition of Japanese and Russian ships. All the former were docked within six weeks and every bit of internal apparatus was in perfect order and tuned up for action, while some of the Russian vessels, it was added, had not been docked for a year.

RUSSIAN SHIPS REFUSED COAL.

Steamer and Two Torpedo Boat Destroyers Are Held Up at Port Said.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PORT SAID, Feb. 10.—The steamer Smolensk of the Russian volunteer fleet and two torpedo boat destroyers arrived here today. By order of the Egyptian government they were not allowed to take coal at this port.

Stops Orders at Cardiff.

CARDIFF, Wales, Feb. 10.—Orders have been received here suspending all shipments of coal for the Russian government and canceling the charterings in its behalf.

Is Russia Buying American Coal?

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 10.—Unconfirmed rumors were current today that Pittsburg river coal was being rushed to New Orleans to be loaded in colliers for shipment to Russia. A shipment of 1,500,000 bushels of coal was started south today.

NOTED FIGHTER TO LEAD RUSSIAN FORCES.

GEN. M. J. DRAGOMIROW.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that as Gen. Kuropatkin the minister of war, is needed at the capital, it is probable Gen. Dragomirow will be sent to take command of the troops in the far east. He is one of Russia's most distinguished soldiers. He served in the Italian war in 1859, in the German war of 1866, and in the Turkish war of 1877. In the Turkish wa. he commanded the advance guard at the passage of the Danube and was wounded at Shipka pass. It will take him at least twelve days at the best rate of traveling over the Transsiberian railway to cover the approximately 6,000 miles between St. Petersburg and the scene of the war.

MIKADO IS THE WAR CHIEF

EMPEROR OF JAPAN IS NOT SPARING HIMSELF.

Spends Many Hours at His Desk Attending to Affairs—Tokio Gets News of Victories in Roundabout Ways and Rejoicing Is General—Belief Is That if Navy Is Free Army Will Be Put in Motion in Corea and Well Into Manchuria.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TOKIO, Feb. 10.—The emperor is taking an energetic part in the direction of the campaign. He is in constant communication with his ministers. He is at his desk from sunrise far into the night. All the provincial governors have been summoned here to receive instructions. It is stated unofficially a large Japanese force has reached Seoul, but no news of happenings there, nor are there any operations ashore. There is no further news of the movements of the fleet.

It is rumored the Japanese captured seven Russian ships at Port Arthur in addition to the three that they damaged. This report cannot be confirmed and it is not credited.

The rumored capture of three Russian transports with 2,000 troops on board is equally incapable of confirmation. It is difficult to obtain accurate news of Japanese captures.

Merchantmen Taken and Released.

It is stated they include the volunteer steamer Ekaterinoslav, with thirty rifles on board, which lately landed at Port Arthur, and a full complement of recruits from Odessa, and also the merchantmen Argun, Shilka, Manchuria, Sleipner, Mukden, and Sentis.

Some, if not all, of the merchantmen have been released with apologies for their mistaken detention. The Sleipner and Sentis are Norwegian vessels. The naval authorities here claim the Japanese successes have already insured her the command of the sea between Port Arthur and the mouth of the Yalu river. The government is sending Baron Suematsu to the United States on a special mission, explaining Japan's case. Baron Kaneko will go on a similar mission to England.

Baron de Rosen Is Liked.

The newspapers are unanimous in expression of personal sympathy for baron de Rosen, the Russian minister, whom they dissociate completely with Russia's attitude. It is reported he deprecated his own government's diplomatic methods and warned St. Petersburg some time ago that they were goading the Japanese into war. He urged the characteristic contempt of the Russians for the Asiatics was entirely misplaced in the case of Japan.

Entire Nation Rejoices.

Undaunted by the absence of official confirmations Japan is rejoicing over the victory at Port Arthur and other war news that has been made public.

The newspapers here published extra editions containing news of the battle and produced the first popular demonstration of the war. Flags were raised everywhere and excited crowds thronged the streets. Later in the day came a cablegram from Paris saying that Viceroy Alexieff had reported to St. Petersburg that three Russian ships had been injured by a torpedo attack.

Big Army Move Next.

The news was accepted in official circles and transmitted to the palace. This, combined with the bottling and destruction of two ships at Chemulpo Tuesday, stirred the populace to the highest enthusiasm and gave additional confidence as to the outcome of the war.

If the Russian fleet is crippled or destroyed it is anticipated that an order to advance the army will be given promptly.

FEARS FOR THE AMERICA MARU.

Big Japanese Pacific Liner About Due at Yokohama May Be Captured by the Russians.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 10.—Agents here of the Japanese steamer America Maru, which left this port last month on its last trip to the orient, are apprehensive regarding its safe arrival at Yokohama. It sailed on Feb. 1 from Honolulu, where it took a fresh supply of coal. The vessel, with the Nippon Maru and the Hongkong Maru, have been impressed by the Japanese government as auxiliary cruisers.

JAPAN'S POSSIBLE PLANS.

STRATEGY EXPERT REVIEWS THE CHANGED CONDITIONS.

Says Purpose Will Be to Engage Russian Forces as Soon as Possible at Point Away from Direct Line of Retreat—Easiest Way to Accomplish This Is Through Corea—Port Arthur Likely to Be Besieged at Once — Able to Choose Conditions.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Spenser Wilkinson, whose commentaries on the strategy and tactics of the south African war placed him in the forefront of British military writers, has an article in today's Morning Post in which he says:

"Russia's Vladivostok squadron of four large cruisers and transport is reported to have cleared for action. An account of any action they may have will be interesting, the more so as the Japanese can hardly, in view of the number of ships employed elsewhere, have told off a strong force to observe them. The squadron at Vladivostok, whose commander will have heard the news from Port Arthur, will be likely to be either timid or desperate.

Object Is to Strike Army.

"Any Japanese objective can best be secured by the defeat of the Russia army, and it therefore seems unlikely that Japan would willingly place any large force in Corea except as concerns a road to Manchuria in the absence of any better road. But is not the sea a better road? That is the question I find some difficulty in answering. There are three points at which an army if landed would be well placed for operating against the Russian communication. They are the north coast of the Liaotung gulf between Shan Hai Kwan and New-Chwang, the northwest coast of Corea bay between Port Arthur and the Yalu, and the coast near Vladivostok. But in the present season the first and last of these places probably are impracticable for landing on account of ice, and the Liaotung gulf is perhaps too shallow in its northern portion to admit of transports approaching the coast, so that a landing there might be difficult at any time.

Purpose of Corean Landing.

"To land near Vladivostok would be to have to advance through an exceedingly difficult country towards Kharbin, and the march could be delayed by a Russian rear guard so long as to nullify its effect as a blow against communications. A landing in Corea would have to be secured against a terpedo attack and might be resisted on shore, but if successful it ought to clear the Russians from the Yalu.

"The difficulties of landing at any of the places named may lead the Japanese to move their army through Corea, landing its portions at various points and to trust to their power of maneuver to bring about a decisive battle in conditions unfavorable to the enemy. A force will be landed probably in any case in the Liaotung peninsula to blockade Port Arthur and to prevent its relief.

POPE CANNOT URGE MEDIATION.

Vatican Newspaper Recalls Refusal to Permit Leo XIII. to Participate in The Hague Conference.

ROME, Feb. 10.—The Voce Della Verita, the vatican organ, today, referring to the war in the far east, says that "illegitimate interference" prevented the late pope from participating in the peace conference at The Hague, adding:

"The absence of a papal representative has brought no good fortune to the conceiver of the conference, as the czar is the first to fight with a foreign country, and Europe has separated herself from the questions in dispute. If the late pope had participated at The Hague conference perhaps the influence of the present pope might have resulted in avoiding a conflict."

WANTS TO BUY SHIP FOR JAPAN.

Georgia Man Thinks It a Good Idea to Raise Three Million Dollars as Nation's Gift.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Col. Harry Silverman, chief of the governor's staff, has begun a movement to purchase a $3,000,000 battleship for Japan. Col. Silverman is of the opinion that Japan should have the sympathy of the whole world. He believes that $3,000,000 will be quickly subscribed. Other cities will be notified of the scheme and an organized effort will be made to get the funds.

RUSSIA ANSWERS CALL TO BATTLE.

Czar Replies to Mikado's Challenge to Combat and Appeals to His People.

WAR SPIRIT IS HIGH.

Army Reserves in East Asia Are Called to the Colors to Aid in Fighting Japan.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 10.—The czar has answered Japan's peremptory challenge to arms and ordered his armies and fleets in the far east to meet force with force.

The empire is responding to the call of the czar. The scenes of intense patriotism which accompanied the declaration of war against Turkey in 1877 are being repeated in all parts of the empire. From Kief, Odessa, Kharkoff, Ekaterinoslav, and Moscow come stories of patriotic demonstrations. The war fever has seized upon the people. Public balls and other festivities have been countermanded and the Red Cross society is besieged with women ready to go to the front as nurses.

Czar Calls Out the Reserves.

The czar's first move after accepting the issue of war was to order the mobilization of the army reserves in east Asia.

In every military district in European Russia regiments of infantry, cavalry, and artillery are under orders to prepare for a campaign in the far east.

The war department has practically assumed control of the Transsiberian railway and its capacity already is being taxed to the utmost in the transportation of troops and munitions of war.

One of today's military consignments was seventy-two quick firing mountain guns and seventeen carloads of ammunition from the arsenal at Moscow.

The state of feeling here was illustrated at the theaters last night when people demanded the national anthem. More remarkable was the refusal of the drosky drivers yesterday to accept money from officers whom they drove to the palace.

Czar Promotes Midshipmen.

There was a great scene at the naval academy today when the czar personally advanced the senior class to the rank of officers. The czar, who wore an admiral's uniform, in addressing the cadets, said:

"You are aware, gentlemen, that two days ago war was declared upon us. The insolent foe came by night and attacked our stronghold and fleet. Russia now needs her navy as well as her army. I have come today to promote you to the rank of midshipmen. I am confident that, like your revered predecessors, Admirals Chichagof, Lazaref, Nakhimof, Karnilof, and Istomin, you will work for the welfare and glory of our beloved fatherland and devote all your energies to the fleet over which flies the flag of St. Andrew."

After his majesty's departure the newly promoted officers hired sleighs and drove up and down the quay fronting the winter palace, clad only in their black tunics, unmindful of the bitter cold, and shouting wild hurrahs. Grave visaged generals, carried away by emotion, saluted the youngsters, whose only regret was that their service uniforms were not ready so as to permit of their departure for the far east today.

Waiting for Battle News.

No further details of the fighting off Port Arthur have been made public here beyond the official bulletins. All newspaper dispatches over the Siberian line have been stopped.

Skepticism is expressed in certain quarters that the full extent of the Russian losses has not been given out.

Newspapers Are Bitter.

The newspapers in general chorus denounce the action of Japan as being treachery, declaring that it is truly Asiatic, but insisting that the issue of the conflict will not be decided by the naval engagements, as the Japanese will have to meet Russia on dry land, when the score will be wiped out.

The Novoe Vremya says it is quite possible that the whole of Corea has been overrun by Japanese soldiers in disguise, and that Russia may first have to assume the defensive, but when her forces in southern Manchuria and Corea are increased the Japanese will realize what they have to meet.

"God, right, and international law are on our side," the Russ says.

"One hundred and thirty million Russian hearts are beating in unison in the desire to expunge the traitorous slight on Russian honor. Enough of defensive tactics! Let us drive out the foe!"

Will Startle the World.

The Bourse Gazette says: "Yesterday we longed for peace. Now we think only of war. The world soon will be startled by Russia's heroic work. Japan has placed herself beyond the pale of civilization. The upstart, pigmy Japan, would not have dared to attack the giant Russia without the encouragement of England and America."

In this connection the Russ claims to have authority for saying that the two new Japanese warships, the Nisshin and Kasuga, were saved from certain capture by the Russian squadron bound for the far east under Admiral Wirenius by the action of the commander of a British battleship in placing his vessel across the Suez canal and hoisting a signal of distress, thus delaying the Russians two days.

Japanese Minister Departs.

In spite of the state of public feeling there has been no attempt to molest M. Kurino, the retiring Japanese minister, or his staff. He left St. Petersburg this evening, a special train taking him to Berlin. As the Japanese minister left his carriage and walked to the train through a respectful crowd, he carried a bouquet of roses, which had been presented to Mme. Kurino by Mrs. McCormick, wife of the United States ambassador.

As the train drew out of the station there were a few cheers and cries of "Long live Nicholas."

Gen. Dragomirov arrived in St. Petersburg today. He is one of Russia's greatest fighters and may be appointed commander in chief, as Gen. Kouropatkin, the war minister, probably cannot be spared.

AMERICAN FLEET NEARLY READY

Rear Admiral Evans Will Not Accompany Cruiser Squadron as Witness of Naval Spectacle of the War.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Rear Admiral Evans today cabled the navy department that the American cruiser squadron can coal and get under way in two days. Admiral Evans, it is expected, will remain with the battleship squadron in Philippine waters, instead of accompanying the cruiser squadron north.

American Red Cross to Aid.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—The executive committee of the Red Cross society today issued the following:

"Red Cross executive committee authorizes call for donations to be sent to treasurer American National Red Cross society, Washington, D. C., for relief work Russo-Japanese war.

CLARA BARTON, president.
"S. W. BRIGGS, secretary."

CZAR DECLARES WAR IN SUPREME MANIFEST.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 10.—The Official Messenger this morning contains the following "supreme manifest":

"By the grace of God, we, Nicholas II., emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, etc., make known to all our loyal subjects:

"In our solicitude for the maintenance of peace, which is dear to our heart, we made every exertion to consolidate tranquillity in the far east. In these peaceful aims we signified assent to the proposals of the Japanese government to revise agreements regarding Corean affairs existing between the two governments. However, the negotiations begun upon this subject were not brought to a conclusion, and Japan, without awaiting the receipt of the last responsive proposals of our government, declared the negotiations broken off and diplomatic relations with Russia dissolved.

"Without advising us of the fact that the breach of such relations would in itself mean an opening of warlike operations, the Japanese government gave orders to its torpedo boats to suddenly attack our squadron standing in the outer harbor of the fortress of Port Arthur. Upon receiving reports from the viceroy in the far east about this we immediately commanded him to answer the Japanese challenge with armed force.

"Making known this, our decision, we, with unshaken faith in the Almighty, and with a firm expectation of and reliance upon the unanimous willingness of all our loyal subjects to stand with us in defense of the fatherland, ask God's blessing upon our stalwart land and naval forces.

RUSSIA IGNORES HAY NOTE

PLAN TO KEEP INTEGRITY OF CHINA COLDLY RECEIVED.

Count Cassini Notifies the United States That War Exists in the Far East and Presents an Official Notice from the St. Petersburg Government to the Effect That Japan Began the Hostilities—Manchuria Included in American Proposals.

the Chinese empire. The first means that in the matter at issue the powers will insure to Russia and Japan a certainty that China shall not take sides with either belligerent. The other means the certainty that the Chinese empire shall hereafter be a zone of peace protected by the great nations of the world from the exploitation by any other power or powers, and shall remain a territorial entirety.

It is this second arrangement which the United States government hopes to accomplish through the proposals submitted by the secretary of state for the president to all the nations concerned in the Chinese question, including Russia and Japan. The ramification of ideas which come from a consideration of the suggestions now being discussed by the ministries of every government of consequence are many and startling.

If the neutral powers agree to insist upon the neutralization of Chinese territory, including Manchuria, Russia will be forced to forego the spoils which she is expected to gain in the event of a victorious struggle with Japan. To carry out such a purpose the powers must be in sufficient number to make it useless for Russia and any ally or allies which she may secure to resort to hostilities in the hope of preventing the accomplishment of the neutralization scheme.

China Wants to Stay Neutral.

Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister, informed the secretary of state today that the Chinese government would preserve a strict neutrality and had directed provincial viceroys to see that the people of their provinces took no part in the Russian-Japanese struggle.

Count Cassini, in denying that Russia was seeking to have the powers mediate, said:

"This is absolutely false, and I wish you would express my emphatic denial of it without reservation. Russia did not wish war, and Admiral Alexieff was directed not to initiate hostilities. But now that Japan has made this attack without any declaration of war Russia has no inclination to draw back, and the statement that she would seek mediation by the powers is absurd."

"We should maintain the strictest neutrality and at the same time keep a sharp lookout for our interests in the orient," said Representative Adams of Pennsylvania, who has been acting as chairman of the house foreign affairs committee. "Our interests can be summed up in the words 'open door.' We must see to it that we are on an equal footing with all other nations so far as our commerce is concerned in the east. That is, give us an open door and we will take care of ourselves commercially.

China Our Great Market.

"China, with its 400,000,000 population, is one of the greatest markets on the face of the globe. This vast population is sufficiently advanced in civilization to use our products. The Chinese wear our cotton clothes, use our electrical appliances, provide a market for railroad material and machinery, and, in fact, use many of our manufactured products.

"It would be unfortunate for Japan if, in preserving the integrity of China, the Japanese should be prevented from reaping the fruits of victory, assuming, of course, that Japan will be victor in this contest. When Japan whipped China she was not allowed to profit by that victory, as Russia and Great Britain stepped in and seized the prize.

Must Keep China Intact.

"But our first consideration is to conserve the policy of the open door in China and to take steps necessary to preserve the integrity of the Chinese empire. Our people are just beginning to awaken to the possibility of extending their commerce to the east. For a long time our capital was so busily employed at home, where it could be turned over every sixty or ninety days, that we could not afford to branch out in search of foreign trade, requiring and giving long time credit."

BERLIN PRESS DENOUNCES HAY.

Proposal of United States to Limit Area of Hostility Declared to Be in Japan's Interests.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The Berlin press is extremely bitter in its comment on the action of the United States, which is accused of secretly backing up Japan. It is pointed out that at first America only asked for the open door. Then America extended this demand to one for guarantees of the integrity of China. Now, it is declared, Secretary Hay intends proposing that the powers should take measures to limit the area of hostilities. According to the Vossische Zeitung, Secretary Hay's proposals amount to an unmistakable demand for "hands off" on the part of the United States.

The Cologne Gazette, on the other hand, says the plan suggested on the American initiative will certainly be well received in Germany.

Russia Is Distrustful.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 10.—Secretary Hay's note to the powers asking them to join the United States in a concerted movement to preserve the integrity of China and to localize nostilities between Russia and Japan is received with some distrust at the foreign office. An authoritative expression of opinion could not be secured.

In diplomatic circles the proposal of the American secretary of state was welcomed. There seemed to be great doubt, however, of the propriety of adhering to the latter clauses of Mr. Hay's note pending more definite advices.

Doubtful Reception in France.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—The overtures of the United States governmenet to the powers for preserving the neutrality and integrity of China during and after the hostilities between Russia and Japan are attracting widespread attention. It does not appear probable, however, that an accord of the powers can be reached at the present time. It is practically certain that France will not take any action which could possibly be construed as embarrassing to Russia, or as seeking to coerce her concerning the integrity of China, if the term "China" is intended to include Manchuria.

England to Declare Neutrality.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—It was announced in the house of commons today that a proclamation of British neutrality will be drawn up at a special cabinet meeting tomorrow.

Japan Wants More Light.

Dealing with Secretary Hay's note to the powers on the subject of preserving the integrity of China, Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister, said today:

"Japan will certainly agree most heartily to Secretary Hay's proposition, which appears chiefly to be due to the suspicion that Russia might find a pretext for military action against China.

"If, however, the United States and other powers contemplate the neutrality of Manchuria the case becomes complicated. So long as there are Russian troops in Manchuria Japan cannot regard it as neutral territory.

"While we are anxious to assist in assuring the neutrality of China proper, we have every intention of waging an aggressive land campaign in Manchuria itself. Having resorted to arms, we shall probably go further than our modest demands made during the negotiations."

Denmark Is Neutral.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 10.—King Christian decided tonight to issue a neutrality proclamation, which will immediately be communicated to Japan and Russia.

Enthusiasm for Japan is growing among the people here.

Netherlands Proclaims Neutrality.

THE HAGUE, Feb. 10.—The government of the Netherlands today issued a proclamation of neutrality during the war in the far east.

Austria to Be Neutral.

VIENNA, Feb. 10.—Count Goluchowski announced today that Austria-Hungary will observe strict neutrality.

FRAUDS IN A BALE OF HAY.

Which Suggests a Word or Two About Frauds in Watch Cases.

According to an article in the Cincinnati Commercial, a fifty-one-pound stone was recently found in that city secreted in a bale of hay of eighty pounds.

This is not as bad as finding a lump of lead of nearly one-half the weight of the solid gold watch case secreted in the center of the case.

Gold watch cases are sold by weight and no one can see where this lead is secreted until the springs of the case are taken out and the lead will be found secreted behind them.

These cases are made by companies who profess to be honest but furnish the means to the dishonest to rob the public. It is not pleasant for anyone to find that he has lugged a lump of lead in his watch case.

Another trick of the makers of spurious solid gold watch cases is to stamp the case "U. S. Assay." The United States does not stamp any article made out of gold and silver except coin, and the fakir, by using this stamp, wants to make the public believe that the government had something to do with the stamping or guaranteeing the fineness of watch cases.

Another trick of the watch fakir is to advertise a watch described as a solid gold filled watch with a twenty or twenty-five-year guarantee. These watches are generally sent C. O. D., and if the purchaser has paid for the watch, he finds that the Company which guaranteed the watch to wear is not in existence.

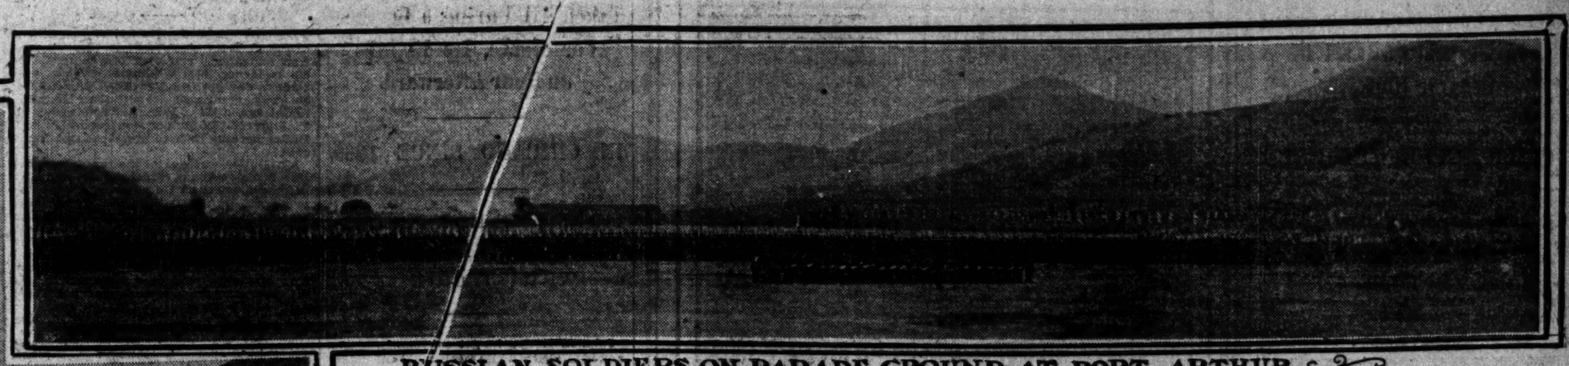

The Dueber-Hampden Watch Company of Canton, Ohio, who are constantly exposing these frauds, will furnish the names of the manufacturers who are in this questionable business.

Legislature at Annapolis Passes Resolution Making Demand for 1,000 Regulars Possible—City Is Authorized to Draw on State Up to $2,000,000 — Officer in Command of Militia Is Censured for Stopping Passes—Outside Aid May Not Be Asked.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The legislature at Annapolis tonight passed a joint resolution asking the president to send 1,000 United States soldiers to this city to take the place of the militia now on duty.

A resolution directing Brig. Gen. Riggs of the Maryland state guard to be summoned to the bar of the house of delegates to answer the charge of having exceeded his authority in cancelling all passes issued was introduced. Speeches denouncing Gen. Riggs in unmeasured terms were made by several members of the house, each of which was received with enthusiasm. The resolution was passed by large majorities and the vote was cheered by the members.

An enabling act to empower the mayor and city council of Baltimore to borrow temporarily $2,000,000 to meet the emergency of the fire was referred to the city senators, who immediately reported favorably, and the bill was passed.

Mayor Names Emergency Commission.

Mayor McLane's announcement that he will appoint an emergency committee of citizens to act as an advisory board to municipal officials is a great step forward in the way of putting the situation in a practical, businesslike shape.

The opening of the board room by the chamber of commerce, and the receipt of quotations, the uninterrupted shipments of grain cargoes, the certainty of state aid, and the notification by some of the large insurance companies of their readiness to pay 50 per cent on losses have done much to restore confidence.

Outside Aid Not Yet Needed.

Late this afternoon Mayor McLane reconsidered his previous determination to announce that he would accept outside aid. On this subject he said: "The situation here does not justify such action. There is no destitution as yet. I cannot tell what may follow. We have a board of charities which looks after the city's destitute.

"We have received by contribution from various cities about $7,000, and additional offers of thousands of dollars have been made. The money already received will be put aside until we can determine whether or not to ask for outside assistance."

A number of large vaults and safes were opened today, and in each of them the contents were found to be in good condition. Four hundred thousand dollars in coin and legal tender notes was taken from the vaults of the Third National bank and sent to the vaults of a bank outside the fire district.

Some of the burned out banks have resumed business in a small way at their temporary quarters. Most of the checks for small amounts presented today were cashed, but those for large sums were not paid in full.

Telegrams, letters, and resolutions offering aid or sympathy are still being received at the mayor's office. Among them was a cablegram from Liverpool announcing that at a representative meeting of the tradesmen of that city a resolution was unanimously passed offering the sympathy of that city to the citizens of Baltimore.

Underwriters Are Busy.

The fire insurance underwriters put in a busy day perfecting their organization and preparing to get at the work of adjusting the losses. The agents of the companies, who organized yesterday, moved into permanent headquarters at the rooms of the Royal Arcanum. An early morning meeting was held, at which about seventy-five companies were represented. At the afternoon session of the general organization about a dozen "sub committees" were appointed, and tomorrow these will get to work adjusting the insurance.

The insurance companies are also cooperating with the bank people in their efforts to relieve the financial situation. The largest companies and some of the smaller ones, too, have decided to immediately pay 50 per cent of the amount of the claims presented to them where the loss was total or nearly so, leaving the remainder to be paid after the insurance has been finally adjusted.

Will Rebuild in Four Months.

Hammond J. Dugan, president of the real estate exchange, said today that if the work of clearing away the debris in the burned area is commenced at once in four months' time temporary structures can be erected all over the ground swept by the fire and business will assume normal proportions.

The real estate exchange has telegraphed a request to the legislature to speedily pass the bill already introduced repealing the mortgage tax of 8 per cent on income.

Insurance men seen today as a rule stick to the estimates made yesterday on insurance losses. A minority express the belief that when all adjustments have been made the insurance companies will not have to pay more than $60,000,000, while others think that $100,000,000 will not more than cover the insurance.

One branch of the city government that is running in full operation is the marriage license bureau, eighteen licenses being issued yesterday and the rush continuing today.

FIGHT OVER "L" ROUTE IS MADE IN RAVENSWOOD.

"East Siders," Arrayed Against Residents of Western Section, Win at a Massmeeting, but Face Contest.

"East siders" and "west siders" clashed last night when the people of Ravenswood held a meeting to decide upon the route for an extension of the Northwestern Elevated railroad through the suburb. The "west siders" were defeated, and protested with hoots, shouts, and hisses when the committee report was adopted defining the following route:

North along the alley between West Ravenswood park and Lincoln street to a point 200 feet north of Wilson avenue, thence by gradual curve to a point 142 feet south of Leland avenue and 60 feet west of Lincoln street, thence west to Western avenue, it being understood that the committee did not favor such route except in its entirety.

The committee was composed of seven members, but J. P. Tracey withdrew, because, he declared, the west side was not given proper representation. The other members, C. F. Newkirk, D. J. Murphy, G. F. Koester, F. J. Bradley, Irving Washington, and C. E. Cleveland, all were from the east side.

Mr. Tracey asserted that the road, it built along the route adopted, would "practically ruin" the Ravenswood High school, near it. He said it would also be a detriment to the United Presbyterian church.

Another speaker excitedly declared the trains would not disturb the pupils while studying.

"Why, the elevated trains do not disturb the lawyers in the Monadnock building," he asserted. "They do not—"

But here he was interrupted by a Northwestern train which passed near the building, and not a word could be heard. His opponents shouted so that he was compelled to take his seat.

After the adoption of the route Mr. Tracey mounted a chair and amid the shouts of the east siders called a massmeeting of his followers from the west side, to be held Saturday night at the United Presbyterian church, Leland avenue and Lincoln street.

COEDS COAST IN DUSTPANS IN LIEU OF TOBOGGANS.

Novel Party by Young Women of the Massachusetts State Normal School Causes a Stir.

Westfield, Mass., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Arrayed in gymnasium suits with heavy dustpans in lieu of sleds two score fair students of the state normal school made merry at a coasting party last night. Had it not been for the dilapidated condition of the dustpans and severe colds this episode possibly never would have reached the ears of Principal Charles E. Brodier, who is said to regard the affair as a breach of propriety not to be made light of. More than half the party were unprovided with dustpans, and the young women with skirts reaching only to the knees shivered from the cold. One pretty maid, drawing her skirt tightly around her, sat down on the brow of the hill, and, raising her heels, slid down the incline at a speed which fairly took away the breath of her astonished companions, who quickly followed suit.

GIVE TO SAVE A POLICEMAN.

Subscription Is Raised for Patrolman Held Responsible for Robbery of Iroquois Victim.

A subscription has been taken up at Central station to save Policeman Gibbons, held responsible for the disappearance of money and jewelry valued at $300 from the body of an Iroquois fire victim. The sum raised was turned over to Christopher Flentye of Laporte, Ind. Gibbons' case still is pending before the police trial board.

Policeman Gibbons was in charge of the patrol wagon and removed the body of Mrs. Ella Wachs, a daughter of Mr. Flentye, to an undertaking establishment at Eighteenth street and Wabash avenue. The valuables were taken from the victim's body and placed in two envelopes, which never were turned over to the coroner or police.

Mr. Flentye threatened when the money and jewels were not turned over to him to prosecute the policeman unless he was reimbursed for the theft or loss. He agreed to take $175 cash and the money quickly was raised at roll call and given to him.

HANNA FAMILY UNEASY.

DANGER FEARED FROM WEAKNESS MORE THAN TYPHOID.

Bulletins as to Temperature Do Not Tell All About His Case—Irritability of Stomach Considered an Unfavorable Symptom—Milk Diet Is Not Sufficient to Afford All the Nourishment Necessary—Crisis of Fever Yet to Come.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Some uneasiness exists in the Hanna family over the condition of the Ohio senator, according to information obtained from reliable sources. While there is no occasion for immediate alarm, it is said that Senator Hanna is not so well as is indicated by the bulletins issued by his physicians.

The bulletin tonight indicates that there has been an abatement of the fever, but the typhoid has caused less uneasiness than has the senator's general condition. It is not a typical case of typhoid, and there has not been any great danger from it, according to this information. Senator Hanna's weakened condition and the persistency of the stomach trouble are the causes for uneasiness. Attention has been called to the fact that ever since the physicians have been issuing bulletins there has been some reference to the irritability of Senator Hanna's stomach.

Notwithstanding the milk diet upon which Senator Hanna has been placed, this trouble has not disappeared. It is true that he takes considerable nourishment, but does not retain all of it.

Growing Weakness Causes Fear.

This in a measure, it is said by those who are in close touch with the family, is one cause for the weakened condition of the patient. It is asserted if the senator does not become too weakened before the crisis occurs there are some prospects of his pulling through, but if his strength continues to fail it will be impossible for the physicians to say what the result will be.

Dr. Osler came over from Baltimore today to visit Senator Hanna. The physicians made an examination of the patient this evening and issued the following bulletin:

"Mr. Hanna's temperature at 6 p. m. was 100.2; pulse, 92; respiration, 24. There has been some irritability of the stomach; otherwise the symptoms are favorable and there are no complications.

RIXEY,
"OSLER,
"CARTER."

Temperature Is Deceptive.

Senator Hanna's temperature is considerably lower tonight than it was last evening, and this indicates an abatement of the fever, but it is by no means an indication according to the physicians that the crisis has been reached. The senator's temperature may remain at the 100 mark for several days, and may then take a turn upward, and it will be some time yet before it is known whether or not the critical point has been reached.

So far as all the bulletins issued and the public utterances of the physicians are concerned they have been encouraging, and the only element of danger is the continued weakness of Senator Hanna.

BRISK BATTLE WITH BURGLARS.

Saloonkeeper Opens Fire with Two Batteries and Intruders Withdraw in Sinking Condition.

John Hamilton, proprietor of the Derby saloon, North Clark and Huron streets, early yesterday morning was awakened by a noise in the place. He says he found two masked men, who had secured entrance through a side door. From revolvers carried in each hand Hamilton opened fire, which was replied to in a desultory manner from the lighter weapons of the burglars. After a short engagement the latter hurriedly withdrew. It is believed one or both were wounded. Twelve bullet holes in the walls and shattered glassware were the only results left of the conflict. Last May two men attempted to hold up Hamilton and both were wounded by him after he had been shot three times. Hamilton says he hails from Breathitt county, Ky.

Edmund Russell, English Apostle of the Beautiful, Lectures in Fine Arts Building.

Edmund Russell, the English exponent of the beautiful, spoke yesterday afternoon in Miss Anna Morgan's studio in the Fine Arts building, discussing at length the shortcomings of Chicago houses and house furnishings.

Among other objects of his aversion were mentioned the cupids which so often adorn walls, china, and furniture. Neither did he approve of the "central chandelier" nor the "ballet skirt, home made, paper and silk lamp shades."

If Mr. Russell's views are adopted the gilt picture frame will be consigned to the attic.

MRS. CARSE BADLY HURT.

Being Unable to Rise, She Lies on the Ground at Leland and Pemberton Avenues Till Aid Comes and Is Completely Chilled—On Her Way Alone to Services at the North Shore Congregational Church When the Accident Occurs.

Mrs. Matilda B. Carse, founder of the Woman's temple and one of the leaders of the National Women's Christian Temperance union, suffered a fall on an icy pavement last night which resulted in a broken hip. She left her house, 1920 Magnolia avenue, at 7:30 p. m. to go to services at the North Shore Congregational church. She was alone, and while crossing at Leland and Pemberton avenues slipped and fell heavily.

Her efforts to attract attention were unsuccessful until half an hour had elapsed. She was unable to move, and the cold wind chilled her thoroughly.

When passersby discovered her it was necessary to send for a cab, and this added to the delay. Finally Mrs. Carse was taken to her residence and a surgeon was summoned to care for her. At 1 o'clock this morning she was comparatively comfortable, but the outcome of the injury is uncertain.

Mrs. Carse's sons are in New York.

CALL FIREMEN TO TRAIN WRECK

Engine Crew on Lake Shore Road Rescued—People Jump from House Windows.

In momentary fear of the bursting of the boilers of two overturned switch engines men of engine company 50 directed streams of water on the wreckage at Forty-sixth street and the Lake Shore railroad last evening. J. W. Watson, engineer of a Lake Shore switch engine, and H. W. Canfield, fireman, were taken from the wreck and removed to the Englewood Union hospital. Both were scalded and the fireman's leg was broken.

The accident was the result of a Rock Island switch engine backing into a Lake Shore engine.

Twenty persons living in the three story boarding house building at 223 Ontario street were aroused early in the morning by fire, and two women and a man jumped from the second and third story windows. Emma Erickson, a waitress, who jumped from the third floor, suffered a fracture of the spine. John Knott and Bessie Mickler jumped from the second story and suffered bruises. The fire did $2,000 damage.

State of Massachusetts $405,000 Ahead in the Last Four Years by Its Enterprise.

As an encouragement to the efforts which are being made by various organizations of the city to bring about the municipal manufacture of antitoxin, the announcement came to Chicago from Massachusetts yesterday from Dr. Samuel Abbott of the state board of health that by manufacturing its own antitoxin in the state of Massachusetts had saved the people $405,000 in four years. The actual expense during that time, when 159,000 bottles of antitoxin were distributed free, was $31,500.

Members of the Illinois Lumber Dealers' association were guests last evening at a banquet given in the Sherman house by the Traveling Lumber Salesmen's Central association. J. E. Officers will be elected this morning.

HAVER GETS LICENSE BACK SOON AFTER REVOCATION.

Mayor Acts on a Petition Signed by Neighbors and Says the Englewood Saloonkeeper Is Punished Enough.

Three days after revoking the license of John D. Haver, proprietor of a saloon at 7059 State street, Mayor Harrison restored the license on petition of 150 residents of the neighborhood and on letters from Mrs. Haver and a protest filed by Haver, who says he is the victim of persecution by the Englewood Law and Order league.

The league secured the conviction of Haver on Oct. 20 for violating the wineroom ordinance. He was fined $10 and costs, which he paid. No appeal was taken. On Oct. 13 Haver was fined $20 each upon three charges of operating slot machines.

In a letter addressed to Mayor Harrison Arthur B. Farwell, secretary of the Hyde Park Protective association, says:

"Now, your honor, here is the conviction of the violation of an ordinance that you helped to have passed by the city council. The ordinance is mandatory upon yourself upon the conviction of the violator. The man has been convicted. It is now for you to act. One of the reasons why we desire this license to be revoked is that its revocation will, in all probability, deter many other persons in Chicago from operating such damnable places as the wineroom, and we appeal to you as mayor of Chicago who grants the licenses and who revokes them to act upon this case promptly.

Haver filed an affidavit stating that he had never violated the wineroom ordinance, as he had no rooms used for that purpose, and that he was aware at the time he served Secretary Ferguson and his wife with drinks that he was violating the ordinance, but believed there was no harm in it, as he only had been three weeks in the business. The mayor says, in part, in his letter of explanation:

As Haver has torn out the alleged wineroom and has kept a thoroughly respectable place since the complaint was made, it seems to me he has been pretty well punished and will make amends by any wrongdoing he may have been guilty of in the past by conducting a decent place in the future.

HONEYMOON ENDS IN A CELL.

Bert Pease, a Medical Student, Is Arrested on Charge Preferred by Former Fiancee.

Bert Pease, a student in the Bennett Medical college, spent the second day of his honeymoon in a cell. He is accused of larceny by a former fiancée. The complainant is May E. Harris, 977 West Van Buren street, also a student in the college.

Jealousy and revenge are alleged by Pease to be the causes of his arrest, while Miss Harris asserts that the engagement between Pease and herself was broken at her demand, and only a desire to secure the return of property lent the young student caused his incarceration.

Pease resides at 417 Washington boulevard and is 22 years old. He declares his parents are wealthy residents of Aurora. The marriage of the couple had been planned for next month. Last Tuesday, while calling on his sweetheart, the latter declares, he took her watch "to have it regulated."

Three days later Pease's friends were surprised when told that his engagement with Miss Harris was broken and that he was to marry Mary Lindley, also a student in the Bennett college, the following Sunday. He was arrested at a dance while waltzing with his bride.

Lillian Chang, whose husband, Lee Chang, is charged with her murder, formerly was a slum worker of a Baptist missionary school in Pittsburg. The marriage was the result of an effort to convert the man to Christianity. Besides discovering the woman's identity, the police say a Chinaman who was in love with her followed the couple from Pittsburg. A search was made for him, and it was found that he had fled from the city. The marriage license was found by the police, and gave the first clew as to the past of the Changs.

METHODISTS ARE TO FORM UNION OF THEIR COLLEGES.

Presidents of Institutions, Meeting in Evanston, Indorse Plan for Organization of Denominational Schools.

President Edmund J. James of Northwestern university yesterday afternoon laid before other presidents his plan for a union of Methodist Episcopal universities, colleges, and academies. The heads of nearly thirty institutions were present at the meeting in Evanston, and agreed upon the reorganization and enlargement of the work of the church.

According to the plan the territory of the church is to be divided into three kinds of districts—university, college, and academy, or seminary. A small number of institutions centrally located and best endowed will be selected as universities. The university districts are to be subdivided into college districts, which in turn will be subdivided into academy districts, all centering one upon the other.

"In organizing this work existing institutions will be taken as the starting point," said President James, "and where they have a strategic location they should be strengthened to the point of complying with the conditions indicated, but if none exists where needed in any section the church must found it.

"In this organization every conference and every church and preacher would have a definite relation toward the support and interest of the different institutions."

The educators in the morning agreed upon a course of study for academies. They will be guests of the Methodist Social union tonight at a banquet at the Auditorium.

He expired instantly, while the actress went into a swoon.

JAMIESON IS NOW A NAVAL OFFICER.

Senate Confirms Appointment in Response to Call by Senator Hopkins.

QUICK ACTION THE RULE.

[BY RAYMOND.]
WASHINGTON BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.

Dr. T. N. Jamieson's nomination as naval officer at Chicago was today confirmed by the senate. Senator Hopkins lost no time in bringing about confirmation. The nomination was sent to the senate yesterday afternoon and at the instance of Mr. Hopkins was immediately referred to the committee on commerce, which reported it back to the senate today with a favorable recommendation. Senator Hopkins this afternoon called up the nomination in executive session and it was confirmed. When asked if there had not been undue haste in having the appointment of Dr. Jamieson acted upon, Senator Hopkins said:

"Doc" Jamieson Confirmed as Naval Officer.

"No, there has been no undue haste. It is a most ordinary proceeding for a nomination to be confirmed the day after it is received by the senate, especially when both senators are in favor of it and there is no opposition. I called up the nomination and had it confirmed today because the business interests of Chicago are suffering owing to the fact that there is no naval officer at the port of Chicago to pass upon the estimates of the appraisers.

"This action was taken in order to permit Dr. Jamieson to assume his duties without delay. Some protests were made against this appointment and they were investigated by the president, who decided to send in the nomination, especially as it was indorsed by many leading business men of Chicago, who will have to deal directly with the naval officer.

"I do not believe Dr. Jamieson's character can be successfully assailed. He is an honest man, notwithstanding the general charges that have been made against his integrity. He also has the ability to perform the duties of his office. I have absolute confidence in his ability and integrity and I believe his administration of the office will be a successful one.

"Bankers and business men of the character of John M. Smyth, former Controllers Eckels and Dawes, and leading business men of Chicago know the meaning of words and they would not say a man is honest unless they knew it to be true. These gentlemen highly recommended Dr. Jamieson and informed the president that he is honest.

"Paul Morton called upon the president personally and advised Mr. Roosevelt that he would not make a mistake in appointing Dr. Jamieson. Because a man is a politician is no argument that he is not honest and does not possess ability. In my eighteen years of public service I have recommended and secured the appointments of many men and every one has turned out well. I am confident no mistake has been made in this appointment."

Appointment Is Railroaded by Hopkins.

In spite of the statement of Senator Hopkins, it is a well known fact that "Doc." Jamiesen's appointment was railroaded from beginning to end. He was appointed the same day the bill was signed creating the office. This was for the express purpose of forestalling other possible candidates, and this sharp practice was not an accident. The confirmation was as suspiciously prompt as the appointment. The committee to which the appointment was referred had no chance to investigate the personal and political character of the appointee. The fact that the nomination was distasteful to many thousands of good citizens of Chicago was printed in the Washington papers. The committee knew the nomination was an unpopular one. The committee acted with unprecedented haste, and it is a well known fact that it did so on the personal request of Senator Hopkins and for the express purpose of preventing citizens of Chicago filing their protests. It is too late now to appeal to the senate or the president, but it is just as well the facts should be known. As a rule the senate takes ample time to consider all new nominations where there is any considerable opposition. Unfortunately for the people of Chicago who object to the little doctor, both the senators were agreed and both assisted in the extraordinary confirmation without giving the slightest chance for an effective protest.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, was the guest of honor at a dinner given tonight by Senator and Mrs. Cullom. Their other guests were the Mexican ambassador and Señora de Aspiroz, the French ambassador and Mme. Jusserand, the Chinese minister, Sir Liang; Senator Frye, Mrs. Hobart, Senator and Mrs. Spooner, Senator Fairbanks, Senator Warren, Gen. and Mrs. John W. Foster, Mrs. Timmons, Miss Warren, Miss Fisher, and Miss Ridgely.

Rear Admiral Sotokichi Uriu, the Japanese naval victor at Chemulpo, is a graduate of Annapolis Naval academy and received practically all his naval training under the stars and stripes. He finished fourteenth in a class of seventy-six, and was one of the three Japanese who were graduated in the class of 1881. All three of them—Tasuker Serata, Sotokichi Uriu, and Yanoske Inouye—made brilliant records in the brief war between Japan and China, and Serata died last year with the rank of Rear Admiral.

Japanese Hero a Graduate of Annapolis.

Admiral Uriu pronounces his name as if it were spelled Youreeoo. Not only is he an American by education, but he is a Christian as well, and so is his wife, who is a graduate of Vassar. After leaving Annapolis in 1881 Uriu took a brief course at the British school at Greenwich.

He is 43 years old and has been devoted to his profession. For some time he was deputy minister of marine, and he has never hesitated to tell his associates that he owes his high rank and his thorough knowledge of naval architecture and gunnery to the splendid training he received at the famous American naval school on the shores of Chesapeake bay.

Mr. William B. Ridgely, controller of the currency, and Miss Ridgely are entertaining a house party consisting of Miss Katherine Williams of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughennessy of London, who arrived today. On Saturday the party will be increased by the arrival of Miss Katherine Earle of Philadelphia. Miss Ridgely will give a tea to introduce her guests, and they will attend the dance Tuesday night given in honor of Miss Ridgely by her father.

"It is too early to tell anything about the value of the torpedo boat in naval warfare," said Representative Charles B. Landis, "and I do not believe the battle of Port Arthur is an indication of what would happen during a contest between a fleet of battleships and a flotilla of torpedo boats, because the Russians were not prepared for battle, war not having been declared, and the Japanese went into the harbor under the cover of darkness and attacked the Russian fleet. I believe the action of the Japanese will be condemned by the civilized world.

C. B. Landis Discusses War in Far East.

"American people and the people of the entire world like fair play, and the action of the Japanese can only be properly considered as an underhand method of warfare. The sympathies of the American people are always with the weaker nation, and I believe the Japanese had the sympathy of our people before the attack on the Russian fleet at Port Arthur.

"When our people think over this matter and remember the Russian government was a great friend of ours during the civil war, when the life of the nation was at stake, their sentiments will be with Russia. The battles which have already occurred and which took place before war was declared and when Russia was not ready to strike, must not be construed as an indication of what the outcome will be. Japan may sweep the Russian navy from the sea, but if such an unfortunate thing should happen I do not believe this would be a victory for the little Japs, because Russia has such wonderful resources it is able to sustain the loss of its navy and then defeat the Japanese on land."

The secretary of war was the guest of honor at a dinner tonight when Gen. and Mrs. Chaffee were the hosts. Suggestive table decorations were little American flags arranged with ferns, while larger flags and potted palms made the other apartments gay. There was music by the cavalry band from Fort Myer. Other guests were Postmaster General and Mrs. Payne, Secretary of the Navy Moody, Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Hitchcock, Speaker of the House and Miss Cannon, Senator and Mrs. Dryden, Senator and Mrs. Alger, Gen. and Mrs. Gillespie, Gen. and Mrs. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. James Pinchot, Miss Carow, sister of Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Colgate of New York, Mrs. Leonard Wood, and Dr. Rockwell of London.

Many business men of Chicago have appealed to Senator Cullom and members of the foreign relations committee to try to secure the adoption of a bill providing for the reorganization of the consular service of the United States. These appeals have been so strong the committee decided to consider the measure, and today's session of that body was devoted to the bill. It is quite likely the foreign relations committee will make a favorable report. The measure provides for the classification of the consular officers, and for the promotion of these officers from one grade to another.

Consular Reform Bill Is Urged by Citizens.

These officials will receive fixed salaries, and be required to cover into the treasury of the United States all fees received for services performed. It provides for an examination of all those now in the service, with a view to weeding out those who are unable to stand the test. Present officers are to be recalled from their posts for reexamination within two years, and shall be dropped from the consular service if they fail to pass, but if they are successful they will be reappointed. These examinations are to be conducted by the consul general, the civil service commissioners, and an officer of the state department, who will constitute a board of examiners.

The adoption of this measure would undoubtedly result in the improvement of the consular service, but it is doubtful if the bill becomes a law at this session.

Another series of bachelors' cotillons was given at the New Willard tonight, and proved particularly brilliant. Mrs. Wallach received the guests, and Maj. Montgomery Macomb led the cotillon. The British ambassador and Lady Durand, Miss Durand, Miss Roosevelt, Baron and Baroness Moncheur, the Danish minister, Mr. Brun, all the young dancing men of the diplomatic corps, and society people generally to the number of fully 300 were guests.

Robert Baker, the Brooklyn congressman who refused to accept a railroad pass, has made himself the laughing stock of the house of representatives by standing sponsor for a remarkable bill prepared by James Selden Cowden, a son of the engineer who for many years has urged upon congress an expensive plan for confining the Mississippi river within its banks. The bill if printed in full would make about nine columns of TRIBUNE print. It provides for the creation of forty-five separate cabinet secretaries, each of whom is required to resign instantly whenever any considerable number of patrons or employés of his office ask for his removal. The duties of the army of cabinet ministers are about as peculiar as anything ever submitted to congress. "The secretary of public communication" is required to connect by wire every voting precinct, public park, and public building so as to form one gigantic whispering gallery laid beneath the surface of the earth.

Anti-Pass Baker Fathers a Curious Bill.

"The secretary of public fluids" is to supply people with gas and filtered water, to distil water, and to freeze it and place it in drinking coolers until it melts. "The secretary of public surveying" is instructed to survey the lands of the nation in such a way and to lay out the highways in unsettled places in such a way that sunshine will enter every window and thus do away with the green moss on the north side of new houses. "The secretary of public fairs" and the "secretary of public amusements" are authorized and directed to hold such things "at such times and on such plans as may be deemed appropriate by exhibitors and visitors."

It is further provided that one secretary shall provide for the public comfort of mankind in an indefinite sort of way free of expense and that another shall run bureaus of healing, nursing, burying, and burning. "The secretary of public hotels" and "secretary of public baths" are to run institutions at the lowest possible cost, and the latter official is especially directed to set up public laundries and "operate them in such a way that the water in the tubs shall be changed with each lot of clothing." The secretaries of war, navy, and treasury are required to do the ordinary duties of such offices, with manifold directions and restrictions varying from universal currency to compressed army ration.

Naturally enough, Mr. Cowden and Mr. Baker turn their attention toward engineering projects and provisions are made for the building of permanent ship canals, for the constructing of outlets to the Mississippi river, for making tidewater harbors in California, Virginia, and elsewhere, for running a ship canal from Buffalo to Albany, and for the construction of bridges 100 feet above water whenever asked for by citizens, and the "secretary of public waterways" is instructed to dig up, blow up, or otherwise remove all dangerous obstructions to navigation in New York and other harbors, although nothing is directly mentioned about the removal of the Chicago street railway tunnels.

It was demonstrated at the executive session today that the ratification of the Panama canal treaty was now dependent almost solely upon Senator Morgan. When that venerable gentleman becomes tired of talking the treaty will be ratified. There is practically no other opposition. This condition of affairs has induced the president and his advisers to turn their attention to the composition of the canal commission which will have to do with the work. Rear Admiral Walker probably will be put at its head and the ranking member almost certainly will be Isham Randolph, the engineer of the Chicago drainage canal. This is considered to be an ideal combination, because Admiral Walker has been making a study of the isthmian canal for many years, and Engineer Randolph, it is assumed, knows more than any one else about canal building on a large scale with the use of modern specialized machinery.

Canal Commission Now Under Consideration.

Gen. Peter C. Haines of the regular army and Gen. George W. Davis, now on the retired list, also have excellent chances for appointment. The civilian member probably will come from the south or southwest, and some one like former Gov. Sayers of Texas or Editor Howell of Atlanta may be selected to represent the southern democracy, which has given the canal bill such general support.

CONNELL WINS CONTEST CASE.

Congressman Howell Is Unseated by Resolution and His Contestant Is Given the Seat.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—The house today disposed of the Connell-Howell contested election case from the Tenth Pennsylvania district in favor of Mr. Connell. The republicans, with the exception of Messrs. Lanning [N. J.], Shiras [Pa.], and Parker [N. J.], supported the resolution unseating Mr. Howell and giving the seat to the contestant. The democrats solidly supported Mr. Howell. Mr. Connell was promptly sworn in and took his seat.

The house then resumed consideration of the senate amendment proposing a loan of $4,600,000 to the Louisiana Purchase exposition, on which a vote on the question of concurrence will be taken tomorrow. Further opposition to the proposition developed today.

The major portion of the time of the senate in open session today was devoted to a speech by Mr. McCumber, who supported the Panama canal treaty and justified all the acts of the administration in connection with the recent revolt.

LIVERY OF STATE DEPARTMENT.

Answer to House Resolution Reports That Outfit Which Cost $2,845 Is Maintained.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—The state department's answer to the house carriage resolution was transmitted to that body today by President Roosevelt. The answer sums up the "livery" as follows:

"The department maintains for the use of the secretary and assistant secretaries one brougham, one victoria, two depot wagons, one surrey, four horses, three sets of single harness, and one set of double harness."

The total cost of this outfit is $2,845. Four assistant messengers at $60 a month are employed as drivers. No footmen or automobiles are employed.

TO GUARD AMERICAN INTERESTS

Outrage by San Domingo May Result in Admiral Wise Seizing Insular Gunboat.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Specific instructions have been cabled Rear Admiral Wise, commanding the training squadron in Dominican waters, regarding the protection of American shipping interests there. The firing on lighters attempting to land a part of the cargo of the Clyde line steamer New York by a government gunboat, as reported in cable dispatches, has aroused indignation in official circles here, and it was said at the navy department that the probable course of action after such an outrage would be the seizure of the government gunboat by Rear Admiral Wise, in which event it probably would be carried to Guantanamo.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

PANAMA, Feb. 10.—Nicaragua cables are that President Bonilla has assumed the dictatorship in Honduras, dissolving congress in order to break up the plot in which some deputies here are conspiring, and who are now under arrest. Honduras is quiet. The people approve the government's conduct of the relations with Nicaragua. Honduras is on a good footing.

FORMER MAYOR OF CHICAGO, WHO IS DEAD.

JOHN A. ROCHE

EX-MAYOR ROCHE DIES SUDDENLY.

IN CHICAGO SINCE 1869.

Identified with Machinery Trade; President of Lewis Institute Trustees.

John A. Roche, former mayor of Chicago and identified with its mechanical and manufacturing life since 1869, was suddenly taken ill yesterday afternoon, and died an hour and twenty minutes later. Uræmic poisoning was the probable cause of death. Dr. Edwin C. Williams, his family physician, and Dr. Francis W. McNamara were hurriedly summoned, but were unable to revive him. Mr. Roche was 59 years old last August.

A few minutes after 12 o'clock Mr. Roche called at the office of R. W. Patterson, in the Tribune building, and discussed business matters with him until 1 o'clock. As he was about to leave Mr. Roche complained of dizziness and resumed his seat. When the window was opened he walked to it, and said he probably would feel better. When his condition did not improve the physicians were called.

Members of Family Summoned.

At first they did not believe that it was a serious illness. Mr. Roche continued to grow rapidly worse, however. When the physicians were unable to regulate the action of his heart members of the family were notified and his son, John A. Roche Jr., Prof. George C. Howland, his son-in-law, and E. A. Russell, with other of his business associates, reached his side before he died. Mrs. Roche was not at home and could not be reached until after he had died.

The body was taken to the Roche residence, 4605 Drexel boulevard. The funeral arrangements were not completed. The interment will be at Rosehill, where Mr. Roche's oldest child, William Roche, is buried.

Born at Utica, N. Y.

Mr. Roche was born in Utica, N. Y., Aug. 12, 1844, the son of William and Sarah Roche. He was graduated from the high school of that city at the age of 17, and took an apprenticeship as a pattern maker in the Allaine works of New York, where he remained three years. During this time he studied in the Cooper institute night school, to which time might be traced the interest he afterward took in the Lewis institute of Chicago, being president of its board of trustees.

After being engaged as a draftsman for J. R. Robinson of Boston for two years, Mr. Roche became connected with the Corliss Steam Engine works, where he remained for two years. In recent years he remarked with pride that he had been asked to come back as general manager of the Corliss works, where he had been almost an apprentice.

Arrival in Chicago.

Mr. Roche came to Chicago in 1869, becoming at once identified with the machinery trade. He succeeded to a partnership in the firm of James Roche & Spencer, 105 Lake street, where he remained until after the fire of 1871 destroyed that establishment and it was reopened in South Canal street. Mr. Roche then became connected with the firm of J. A. Fay & Co. of Cincinnati, remaining with this company until he was elected mayor of Chicago in 1887. His administration is remembered for his statement that professional gambling was not necessary and his successful efforts to suppress it.

During his term as mayor the water tunnel was extended to the four mile intake, and contracts were made for a pumping engine with a capacity for supplying 100,000,000 gallons of water in addition to the capacity of the ones then in use. It was during his term that many anarchist outbreaks occurred and the convicted anarchists were executed. He was known as the "reform mayor," a title which attached to his administration for years after he had retired from that office. He was elected on the republican ticket with a majority of 28,000.

Superintendent of Crane Works.

After his term as mayor Mr. Roche became general superintendent of the Crane Elevator company. Later he was president of the Lake Street Elevated railroad, and in 1895 he became identified with the Standard Elevator Manufacturing company, which was finally reorganized as the Otis Elevator company, with which company he was connected until his death, being known as the managing director.

In 1894 Mr. Roche became a member of the board of trustees of the Lewis institute. Afterwards he was made president of this board. Judge C. C. Kohlsaat, Oliver H. Horton, Thomas Kane, and John A. McLaren are now the remaining members of the board of trustees.

In 1873 Mr. Roche was elected a representative in the Illinois legislature.

A widow and three children survive, Mrs. Emma Howard Roche, Mrs. George C. Howland, Miss Helen Roche, a freshman in Bryn Mawr, and John A. Roche Jr., secretary of the Elevator Repair and Supply company.

HOW TO HANDLE PNEUMONIA.

Cough to Cure It, Refrain from Bathing to Prevent It, Say Two Eclectic Physicians.

A meeting of the Chicago Eclectic Medical and Surgical society was held at the Auditorium last night for the discussion of the diagnosis and treatment of rabies and pneumonia. Statistics were read to show that more deaths result from pneumonia than from any other disease and that people neglect it more than any other.

Coughing as an aid in the cure of pneumonia was advanced by Dr. Charles H. Francis.

"I have found in my practice," said he "that those without the cough succumb to the disease."

Dr. Alonzo Sheets, announcing that he was a Bird Center physician, recommended hot applications of onion poultices and turpontine and said he has never lost a case when such treatment was used.

"Running down the street until you are hot, and then sitting in the draft, is as bad as a bath," said Dr. J. Dill Robertson. "I have prepared some statistics showing that the majority of colds and pneumonia appear on Sunday or Monday, caused by bathing on Saturday or Sunday."

REFUSES TO RUN FREIBERG'S.

Sol Friedman Says He Is Without Ambition to Suceed Ike Bloom as Manager.

Sol Friedman denied yesterday that he was to succeed Ike Bloom as manager of the Freiberg dance hall at 182 Twenty-second street. The report that Frederick Freiberg, to whom the license was transferred, would remain only as leader of the orchestra caused comment in the levee and among the Michigan avenue residents who are making a fight to have the place closed.

"I would not take the position under any circumstances," said Friedman. "I have a ten years' contract with the liquor house I represent and have no ambition to manage a dance hall. I am trying to get my brother Joe to go out of the business."

Joe Friedman, who runs the "Snug" saloon in Wabash avenue, also declared he was in no way connected with the new management.

HERMON BEARDSLEY BUTLER IS VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA.

Vice President of Joseph T. Ryerson & Son Is Stricken—One of Merchants' Club Founders.

Hermon Beardsley Butler, vice president of Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, jobbers of heavy iron and steel, who died of pneumonia at his residence, 1920 Wellington avenue, yesterday, was born in New York City in 1856. He was graduated from Yale. He came to Chicago in 1844. When the firm of Joseph T. Ryerson & Son was incorporated Mr. Butler became its vice president and treasurer.

Mr. Butler was one of the founders of the Merchants' club, of which he subsequently became president. He gave much attention to the affairs of the Lying-In hospital and those of the St. Peter's church, of which he was a warden at the time of his death. Mr. Butler also was a promoter of the State Pawners' society and a member of several clubs. Because of the death the Merchants' club dinner to have been given at the Auditorium tomorrow evening was postponed until next Thursday evening.

In June, 1896, Mr. Butler married Miss Jessie Peabody, daughter of Francis B. Peabody, who, with four children, three sons and one daughter, survive him. The funeral will be at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from St. Peter's church, 1737 Belmont avenue.

OBITUARY.

DR. CHARLES E. MAMERRE, who died in Oconomowoc, Wis., on Monday, was buried yesterday at Longwood. Dr. Mamerre was born in Chicago Feb. 28, 1860, graduated from Cornell university in 1880, and took his degree in medicine at Rush college. During some years he was lecturer on surgery at the Chicago Policlinic hospital.

BENJAMIN H. BODWELL is dead at his home in Dallas, Tex., aged 88 years. He was a pioneer merchant of Chicago in the days before the great fire of 1871. At one time he owned more than sixty-five acres of land in what is now the heart of the business section of Chicago. Meeting with a reverse of fortune, he went to Dallas about thirty years ago.

WILL HEAR BRIDGE CASE.

BOARD NAMED TO CONSIDER REMOVAL OF I. C. STRUCTURE.

Vesselmen Assert That Chicago River Navigation Is Impeded, and Government Engineers May Decide to Order It Cleared Away—Ship Owners Prepare to Make a Strong Case at Hearing—Was Formerly Used for Switching, but Now Is Out of Repair.

A board of United States engineers has been named to consider the removal of the Illinois Central railroad bridge near the mouth of the Chicago river. The members are: Maj. James L. Lusk, stationed at Rock Island; Maj. J. G. Warren, stationed at Milwaukee; and Capt. C. S. Riche of the Chicago district. The board will hear the case at Col. Ernst's office in Chicago on Feb. 22. Vesselmen are preparing to make a hard fight against the bridge.

The bridge is 1,400 feet east of Rush street. It formerly was used by the Illinois Central for switching its cars between the two piers, which are covered by a network of tracks, but the bridge has been out of repair and has not been used, vesselmen assert, during a long time.

A large warehouse has been built over the tracks on the south side of the river. Vesselmen say that since there has been a current in the river the structure has been a constant menace to ships.

The drainage board yesterday approved plans and specifications for a new bascule bridge to be erected over the Chicago river at Harrison street. Bids will be opened April 13.

DRINKING Coffee, or Tea, to spur on a tired Brain and Nerves, is like flogging a Starving horse to make him look spirited.

Every bit of action thus forced, means a heavy draft on the future.

With the majority of people Coffee trades upon to-morrow's vitality, like Opium, weakening the Heart, and arresting the Digestion of food eaten with it.

Can you quit coffee to-day if you want to?

Coffee acts directly, and disastrously, upon the Spinal Cord, which is the center of the whole Nervous System.

If you doubt this, try the following test.

Take four cups of strong coffee, without food, upon an empty stomach, in the morning.

Then note the tremors that seize you!

They are shudders of the Spinal Cord, in a Coffee-lashed system.

A weary Brain and Nerves need feeding instead of flogging!

If they don't work well without coffee, you may be sure they won't work long with it.

What they need is neither tonic nor stimulant, but food of a kind that will restore the Phosphates and Albumen, consumed in excess by overwork.

These constituents, if assimilated, will build Brain and Nerve up to normal condition, and keep them feeling as good all day as Coffee makes them feel for a few minutes in the day.

In the outer coats of the Wheat berry are located the richest and readiest form of Brain-building and Nerve-feeding elements, the substances which are consumed in mental activity.

This portion of the wheat cannot be digested by the stomach, in the form of Flour, or Bread, because it consists largely of a woody fibre, enclosing, in sealed up cells, the tiny Mineral particles that are such rapid builders of Brain and Nerve tissue.

But—what is not milled into a digestible condition can be mulled into it, by the Post process, under which Postum Food Coffee is made.

This process so loosens the mineral particles from their sheaths of Cellulose, that fifteen minutes' boiling of "Postum" extracts the Brain-building materials in fluid form, ready for prompt assimilation, while leaving the useless woody portion in the coffee pot.

"Postum" builds Brain, Nerve, and Heart, while Coffee corrodes and weakens them.

"Postum" differs from coarse Rio Coffee in flavor, resembling instead fine Old Government Java, while costing no more than common bitter Coffee.

But,—don't use Postum at all unless boiled fully fifteen minutes, because it takes that minimum time to free the Brain-food in it, and to develop its rich flavor and aroma.

Postum is a Coffee-cure, and a logical Nerve-feeder.

DIVIDE ON GUILT IN BEDFORD CASE

Some Believe McDonald Killed Miss Schafer, Others Think Him Innocent.

PRISONER IS LOCKED UP.

Defendant Taken to the Scene of the Crime, but Retains His Composure.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Great excitement prevails in Bedford over the arrest of James McDonald, a coal teamster, for the murder of the Bedford high school teacher, Miss Sarah Schafer. Opinion is divided as to the guilt of the prisoner, while it is generally agreed that the arrest was justified by the circumstantial evidence.

McDonald is now confined in the Jeffersonville reformatory, having been removed there early this morning in charge of Sheriff Frank Smith and Detectives Reed and Smith of the Pinkerton agency. A crowd gathered at the Monon railway station when the prisoner was placed on a train for Jeffersonville at 4:30 o'clock, but there was no suggestion of violence.

During the journey McDonald talked freely with his captors and joked about his arrest, remarking that he supposed it "was up to the Pinkertons to arrest some one." He declared that he would have no trouble in proving his innocence.

McDonald Placed in Cell.

On the arrival of the party at the reformatory McDonald was placed in a cell on commitment papers signed by Mayor Smith as a city magistrate of Bedford. To conform with the laws of Indiana the preliminary trial of a prisoner must be held within forty-eight hours after an arrest, but it is believed that McDonald will waive this hearing, and will not be returned to Bedford until after the grand jury has acted.

Bedford officials admit that the evidence against McDonald is purely circumstantial, and they rely largely on his own testimony before the board of inquiry to convict him. Conflicting statements made by the teamster as to his movements on the night of the murder they also consider incriminating.

Admitting that he passed Miss Schafer near the scene of the murder shortly after she left the Johnson boarding house, McDonald has told two stories to account for his presence there. One was that he had called at Dr. Smith's office, half a block from the alley where the girl was attacked, to get medicine for his family, the other that he was on his way home from Conner's shoe store. No one can be found who saw McDonald at either place during the evening. The authorities regard as significant the fact that McDonald made no mention of meeting with Miss Schafer until summoned for examination by the board of inquiry the week after the murder.

Prisoner Taken to Scene of Crime.

An effort to break down the prisoner's composure was made by the Pinkertons immediately following the arrest. From the city hall he was taken to the scene of the crime and showed the blood spots on the walls and floor of the cab shed. He also was shown the footprints supposed to be those of the murderer, near a telegraph pole inside the alley, and forced to stand in them. Later he was shown the bloody clothing of Miss Schafer. The only effect of these maneuvers was to make McDonald angry and abusive, but at no time did he show signs of breaking down.

The two room frame house occupied by McDonald and his family was today ordered closed till a thorough examination could be made of the premises. According to Detectives had a pair of trousers was found in the home early this morning which looked as if they recently had been soaked in water. McDonald's wife and young stepson are now at the home of relatives.

When questioned today by the city officials the woman said that she was not at home on the night of the murder, and did not know when McDonald left the house or returned to it. Her husband told her that a murder had been committed, but that he did not know the woman who was murdered. She did not think McDonald was guilty. S. B. Lowe, in charge of the investigation of the murder, tonight said that the evidence of McDonald's guilt was indisputable.

Case Thought to Be Strong.

"When the people of Bedford know all that we know against McDonald and have weighed the evidence as long as we have they also will be convinced we have the right man," he said. "The fact that McDonald has been unable to prove an alibi is sufficient to justify his arrest. The case against him will grow stronger daily."

Stress is laid by the authorities on the fact that McDonald's shoes fit the prints of the man's foot near the telephone pole. It is Detective Reed's theory that McDonald lay in wait for the school teacher at the entrance to the alley and struck her a blow with his fist from behind that rendered her almost unconscious. Then he thinks the teamster dragged her to the telegraph pole, where the pickets loosened from the fence close by indicates a struggle. The girl there was choked into submission and dragged to a cab shed and murdered.

McDonald is of athletic build and is said to have a quarrelsome disposition. He frequently has been arrested for assault and battery. On several occasions his wife has appealed to the police to protect her from him. He has few friends, and generally is regarded as a dangerous character.

McDonald Makes Statement.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Feb. 10.—George McDonald made the following statement to the officers at the reformatory today:

"My right name is William Parsons, although I am known by the name of James McDonald. So far as the crime with which I am charged is concerned, I am as innocent as a man could be, but I have done wrongs in my life, and if I get forgiveness for them I don't care what becomes of me in this case. I got into this through my own foolishness. I made false statements before the court of inquiry. I can't explain why I did it, but I suppose it was because I wanted to make people think I knew something about the murder."

HOLDS TRUSTEE WAS RECKLESS

Judge Tuley Orders G. W. Kern to Account for Decrease in Value of Big Estate.

"In the management of estates trustees have no right to take desperate or gamblers' chances," declared Judge Murray F. Tuley yesterday in holding George W. Kern responsible for the decrease in the value of the estate of E. B. Sears, who died in 1894. It was in the management of the cutlery and silverware establishment of Henry Sears & Co. before its failure in 1897 that Kern is held to have erred.

The estate was valued at $81,000, but after the failure only $27,000 was realized. Kern is ordered to make an accounting to the widow, $43,000 of the stock in the Sears company being held to have passed into Kern's hands upon Mr. Sears' death. With the stock went the control of the company.

Kern is declared responsible for all the losses from March, 1895, to Jan. 30, 1897, and is held accountable to Mrs. Sears for more than half of his $5,000 a year salary during that time. A sale of the business at 50 per cent of its value also is blamed upon the trustee, who long was purchasing agent for the company.

Mrs. Sears now resides in South Haven, Mich.

President Harper Leaves His Bed.

President William R. Harper of the University of Chicago, who has been ill with appendicitis since Thursday, was able yesterday to leave his bed. He spent nearly all the day dictating letters. Mr. Harper will remain indoors today, not daring to risk exposure, but his physicians think he will be able to go to his office tomorrow.

BALL FAILS TO WIN CASE.

COURT DIRECTS VERDICT IN FAVOR OF THE DEFENDANTS.

Decision Turns on Point That State Board of Charities Has No Power to Administer an Oath and Examine a Witness—Appeal Will Be Taken by Plaintiff to the Appellate Court—Proceedings for Damages Also Being Considered.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Kankakee, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—All investigations into the conditions of asylums, hospitals, and penitentiaries by the state board of charities, by the examination of witnesses, are without effect. This was the substance of a ruling made by Judge Charles B. Garnsey this morning, who at the same time ordered the jury to return a verdict of not guilty in the damage suit brought against Len Small and C. R. Miller, officials of the Eastern Illinois Insane hospital. The court held that the board is without the legal authority to administer an oath.

It is the first time that this question has been so decided. It was raised by the attorneys for Harry Ball, a discharged attendant at the hospital, who alleged that he had been wrongfully charged with perjury by the defendants, trustees of the hospital. The court heard the argument yesterday afternoon that the law was so faulty in expression that the board of charity was unable to take sworn testimony.

Murphy Led by Small and Miller.

Ball had testified that former Trustee Murphy had been guilty of immorality while a trustee at the institution. Ball was then arrested and confined in jail on the charge of perjury made by Murphy. Murphy said that he was led into making the charge by Small and Miller.

The point raised by Ball's attorneys was that Ball could not be guilty of perjury, for the reason that the board had no legal right to swear its witnesses.

"The court holds that the complaint against Harry A. Ball was made on the advice of competent attorneys," said Judge Garnsey, in announcing his decision. "Small and Miller are, therefore, protected. There was no proof of any malice against them. The law states that a person who makes a complaint on the advice of a competent attorney is protected. The law relative to the taking of sworn testimony by the board of charities is not clear, and without the legal right to swear witnesses perjury could not be committed."

Court Directs Jury's Verdict.

Then Judge Garnsey turned to the jurors and announced his decision:

"Under the law as the court has found it there is nothing for the jury to do except to return a verdict for the defendants, Miller and Small, in this case. The court, accordingly, directs you to find a verdict as follows:

"'We, the jury, find the defendants, Small and Miller, not guilty as charged.'"

The jurors nodded their heads that they understood the court's order and were dismissed. The case was ended, and Small's followers were correspondingly happy. If it was a battle of the "regulars" and "antis," as Small declared, the "antis" had met with defeat.

E. B. Harney, one of Ball's attorneys, was not downcast because of the result. He declared that the case would be taken to the Appellate court, where the same "influences" would not be so strong.

A new suit may be commenced against Murphy by Ball on the same charge that was dismissed. He has been advised that in such an action he could hardly fail to secure a judgment for damages. Murphy is said to be worth $50,000.

GIRL ADDED TO FIRE VICTIMS.

Death of Elizabeth Clingen, 15 Years Old, Increases Iroquois Death Roll to 575.

Another name was added to the death roll of the Iroquois disaster yesterday morning, when Elizabeth Clingen, 15 years old, succumbed at her residence, 291 Ashland boulevard. The total death roll is now 575.

The girl attended the matinée with two companions, and was seated in the gallery. She fell to the floor in the crush, and got under a seat, where she partly escaped the blast of gas and hot air that brought instant death to hundreds. When the firemen found her she was badly burned.

The child's stepfather, William G. Clingen, heard of the fire and was endeavoring to enter at the front while firemen were carrying his daughter over the plank bridge to the old Tremont house. Miss Clingen was taken to the Passavant hospital, where the father found her twenty-four hours later. The hospital physicians, according to the information secured by the coroner, declared the girl had no chance of recovery, and she was taken home. For a few days a physician attended her, and then Mrs. Clingen, who is a believer in healing by faith, adopted the treatment of her cult as an aid to the sufferer. This was continued until Tuesday, when a physician again was called.

The inquest will be joined with that over the body of Mrs. Henning, whose death from injuries received at the Iroquois fire occurred on Monday.

"L" SIGNS MAKE TROUBLE

THREE ALDERMEN DECIDE TO ALLOW THEM TO REMAIN.

Anxiety to Serve on Subcommittee Recalls That Which Caused the Allis-Chalmers Scandal—Blocki Removes Clocks at Stations and Self-Constituted Body Censures Him—Recommends Advertisements Be Allowed on Payment of 15 Per Cent to City.

The same desire to serve on subcommittees which started the trouble in the Allis-Chalmers switch track scandal reappeared in the license committee yesterday when a subcommittee reconsidered the ordinances regulating advertising privileges in elevated railway stations.

The ordinances some time ago were placed on file by the council, and the advertisements were ordered removed, Commissioner Blocki finishing the work yesterday when he had the clocks surrounded by signs taken away. Monday night, however, Ald. Dunn had caused the ordinances to be taken from file and referred back to the license committee. That body has not met yet, but because the members constituted the subcommittee which originally handled the ordinances, Ald. Scully, Alling, and Dougherty yesterday called a hurried meeting, at which Clarence Knight and Noble B. Judah represented the elevated roads.

Censure Blocki; Ask Changes.

There this self-constituted subcommittee censured Commissioner Blocki for having obeyed the orders of the council in taking out the advertising signs. The members were especially angry because he had removed the clocks. They listened attentively to everything Attorneys Knight and Judah had to say, and voted to recommend ordinances allowing the companies to use their stations for advertising purposes on payment to the city of 15 per cent of the gross receipts from the signboards.

The main committee will meet tomorrow for the first time since the ordinances were recommitted to it. Whether it will recognize the action of the three aldermen who met yesterday is a question puzzling the subcommittee. The regular course would be for it to name a new subcommittee.

Mayor Replies in License Case.

"I did not send the Rafferty saloon license case to Judge Kavanagh," said Mayor Harrison. "Rafferty took it to him. After the Herrmann committee had the license revoked Rafferty appealed to me and I said I would hear it, but must be given time. I agreed to waive formal notice. If Judge Kavanagh thinks I ought to decide the case I will do it."

This was said in answer to the judge's complaint that the question as to whether the license at 129 Harrison street should be restored had been left to him by the mayor, who ought to have decided the case himself.

Chief O'Neill and Justices Caverly and Prindiville testified Rafferty was of good moral character.

Allowed to Build Tunnel.

The committee on streets and alleys south recommended for passage an ordinance giving Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. permission to build a tunnel diagonally under the intersection of Adams and Market streets to connect the two stores of the firm. The compensation was put at $500 a year.

Factory to Come to Chicago.

The Western Telephone Construction company soon will vacate its factory at Winthrop Harbor and remove to Chicago, to secure advantages in shipping and to save freight on fuel.

TWO BIG STRIKES ARE THREATENED

CAN MAKERS PLAN WAR.

General Walkout at All the Thirty-five Trust Plants Is Talked Of.

Trouble involving 10,000 men employed in the sixty-five shops represented in the Chicago Brass Manufacturers' association may result from action taken yesterday. The manufacturers went over the heads of the local union officials and telegraphed to International President E. J. Lynch to order back to work the members of the chandelier makers' union now out in Chicago. A general strike or lockout of all the brassworkers may follow. At present 10 shops and 550 men are affected by the strike of the chandelier makers.

A meeting of the executive committees of the Brass Manufacturers' association and the unions will be held today in the office of the secretary of the association, at which some development is expected which will indicate the outcome of the present strained relations.

General Strike Is Considered.

A general strike at the thirty-five branches of the American Can company is said to be under consideration by the international officers of the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' alliance as a result of the fight making against the three plants of the company in Chicago by the striking canmakers. The possible spread of the trouble has been suggested, it is said, by the report that the Chicago concerns have been sending work to the St. Louis plants.

A meeting of representatives of all the trades employed by the American Can company here has been called at the headquarters of the Chicago Federation of Labor for Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock for the purpose of calling out the other trades.

In the Field of Labor.

Slugging in which both assailants and victims are union men has resulted from the fight between the carpenters and woodworkers for jurisdiction at the William H. Warren Manufacturing company's plant, Blackhawk and Wood streets. Max Grell, 936 North Hermitage avenue, member of Painters' union No. 453; Walter Kuszinski, 577 Dickson street, of local 181, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners; and J. Machanen, 843 North Clark street, a union woodworker, are the three latest victims of the pickets.

A general strike of the city garbage wagon team owners and drivers is expected as a result of the walkout of the fourteen men with teams in the Twenty-fourth ward. There are 480 garbage teams in the city's service. The trouble is on the question of hauling two or three loads of garbage a day. Frank Solon of the street cleaning department said that if the men have their way, the entire $1,000,000 appropriation will be taken for the removal of garbage and there will be no funds for street cleaning.

The Carriage and Wagon Workers' union last evening rejected a proposition of the manufacturers. The employers offered fifty-four hours a week during the year in place of fifty-six hours a week during the summer months, and fifty-four the remainder of the time. The men refused to accept the clause providing for an "open shop."

The Chicago City railway signed an agreement with the union engineers and firemen. The engineers are to receive 37½ cents an hour and an eight hour day. The firemen were allowed the union scale, ranging from 23½ to 22½ cents an hour, according to the class of work done. No agreement was reached with the electricians.

Mayor Harrison and members of the council peace committee who aided in settling the recent strike on the Chicago City railway lines have been asked to meet a committee of the employés this afternoon at 2 o'clock to consider the cases of several car men who were under charges after the strike and not reinstated.

Chief of Police O'Neill and Assistant Chief Schuettler yesterday declared that no anarchistic speeches will be allowed at the massmeeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor called for Sunday at Bricklayers' hall to consider the case of John Turner, the English anarchist, now detained at Ellis Island.

Treasurer John B. Lennon of the American Federation of Labor yesterday was in the city conferring with President George W. Perkins of the cigarmakers on the question of placing certain piano firms on the unfair list.

Union coopers to the number of 1,200 are on strike for an increase of 10 per cent on all piece work and of 25 cents a day for day work, with a decrease from nine to eight hours a day.

Typographical union No. 16 is to organize a women's auxiliary. M. H. Madden is at the head of the movement. It will give entertainments for families of the members of the union.

A strike of the 200 employés of the L. Kiper Saddlery company, Peoria and West Congress streets, may be called Saturday.

PREPARED TO FIGHT DRIVERS.

Street Cleaning Department Plans to Secure Nonunion Garbage Removers Under Police Protection.

One department of the city government is likely to appeal to another tomorrow for protection against striking city employés. Street Supt. Solon said yesterday he would start nonunion garbage teams at work in the Twenty-fourth ward if the union men persisted in their demands, and call on the police to guard the drivers.

Business Agent Myron of the Team Owners' union yesterday renewed his demands for an eight hour day for garbage teams. Supt. Solon told him three trips constituted a day's work, and while they should not require more than eight hours' work the three loads must be drawn.

Whether a strike is to be ordered in the Twenty-fourth ward, which is the territory in dispute, will be decided this evening at a meeting of the Team Owners' association. In the meantime Ald. Schmidt and Ehemann have provided teams which can be used if the regular men quit.

SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH

Use Pe-ru-na for La Grippe and Winter Catarrh.

IN EVERY country of the civilized world the Sisters of Charity are known. Not only do they minister to the spiritual and intellectual needs of the charges committed to their care, but they also minister to their bodily needs.

Whenever coughs or colds, la grippe or pneumonia make their appearance among the children these Sisters are not disconcerted, but know exactly the remedies to apply.

With so many children to take care of and to protect from climate and disease these wise and prudent Sisters have found Peruna a never-failing safeguard.

Sisters of St. Joseph, of the Deaf Mute Institute, 1849 Cass Ave., St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"We appreciate Peruna very much. It certainly does good work with catarrh and also with colds and la grippe. We have faith in Peruna and have inspired many others with same. We do not like to be without it. It has certainly kept us from being very sick. It did a world of good last winter for our little ones. Thanking you for your kindness to us and our afflicted ones, we remain, yours gratefully,

SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH."

Dr. Hartman receives many letters from Catholic Sisters from all over the United States. A recommend recently received from a Catholic institution in Detroit, Mich., reads as follows:

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio:

Dear Sir:—"The young girl who used the Peruna was suffering from laryngitis, and loss of voice. The result of the treatment was most satisfactory. She found great relief, and after farther use of the medicine we hope to be able to say she is entirely cured." Sisters of Charity.

This young girl was under the care of the Sisters of Charity and used Peruna for catarrh of the throat, with good results as the above letter testifies.

From a Catholic institution in Central Ohio comes the following recommend from the Sister Superior:

"Some years ago a friend of our institution recommended to us Dr. Hartman's Peruna as an excellent remedy for the influenza of which we then had several cases which threatened to be of a serious character.

"We began to use it and experienced such wonderful results that since then Peruna has become our favorite medicine for influenza, catarrh, cold, cough and bronchitis."

"A number of years ago our attention was called to Dr. Hartman's Peruna, and since then we have used it with wonderful results for grip, coughs, colds and catarrhal diseases of the head and stomach.

"For grip and winter catarrh especially it has been of great service to the inmates of this institution."

SISTERS OF CHARITY

All Over the United States Use Pe-ru-na for Catarrh.

A recommend recently received from a Catholic institution in the southwest reads as follows:

A Prominent Mother Superior Says:

"I can testify from experience to the efficiency of Peruna as one of the very best medicines and it gives me pleasure to add my praise to that of thousands who have used it. For years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach, all remedies proving valueless for relief. Last spring I went to Colorado, hoping to be benefited by a change of climate and while there a friend advised me to try Peruna. After using two bottles I found myself very much improved. The remains of my old disease being now so slight, I consider myself cured, yet for a while I intend to continue the use of Peruna. I am now treating another patient with your medicine. She has been sick with malaria and troubled with leucorrhea. I have no doubt that a cure will be speedily effected."

These are samples of letters received by Dr. Hartman from the various orders of Catholic Sisters throughout the United States.

The names and addresses to these letters have been withheld from respect to the Sisters but will be furnished on request.

One-half of the diseases which afflict mankind are due to some catarrhal derangement of the mucous membrane lining some organ or passage of the body.

A remedy that would act immediately upon the congested mucous membrane restoring it to its normal state, would consequently cure all these diseases. Catarrh is catarrh wherever located, whether it be in the head, throat, lungs, stomach, kidneys or pelvic organs. A remedy that will cure it in one location will cure it in all locations. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

The Bush Temple theater was added last night to the list of "houses reopened." Its two sectioned steel curtain was finally completed, the last official inspection was made yesterday afternoon, and an audience which filled every seat was in attendance last evening to welcome heartily each of the members of the Players' stock company and to lend approval to their performance of the Tolstoi historical drama, "Ivan the Terrible." The piece is cast as it was at holiday time, when first produced, the only change being the substitution of Al Phillips for Mr. Somers as Prince Romanoff.

Mr. Irving will offer no new plays during the latter half of his stay at the Illinois. He has arranged the repertory for next week as follows: Monday and Wednesday evenings, "Waterloo" and "The Bells"; Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday evenings and Saturday afternoon, "Merchant of Venice"; Friday night, "Louis XI." Sardou's "Dante," which was brought to this country to be the especial feature of the present tour, has been stored in New York, and will not be presented again before Sir Henry returns to England, early next month. The elaborate fire effects used in the scene in Inferno are considered too trying on sensitive nerves to be offered again under the conditions existent here at present. The production has therefore been stored, and because of this the English actor is unable to bring forward anything new during his engagement at the Illinois.

Building Commissioner Williams informed the theater commission yesterday that the clause of the ordinance referring to banks of seats in balconies did not express clearly the intention of the committee. The ordinance, as it reads now, requires only one cross aisle, and that back of the first five rows of seats. The intention was that back of every five rows there should be such a cross aisle. Assistant Corporation Counsel Sexton was called in and consulted concerning the changing of the reading of the ordinance, and the matter probably will be brought up at the meeting of the council next Monday.

Mme. Nordica gave a recital last evening in the Auditorium before an audience of over 3,000 persons. Comment is deferred.

They Informally Discuss Relations of the Two Big Leagues.

COMMISSION MEETS TODAY

Signed Statement Given Out Regarding Cases of Davis and Jones.

Chairman Hermann of the national baseball commission, President Pulliam of the National league, and President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club arrived in Chicago yesterday in good time for the session of the national commission, which is to be held at the Auditorium Annex today for the purpose of adjusting the dispute between the major leagues over Sunday baseball in New York and any other questions which may arise.

President Johnson of the American league is speeding back from California, expecting to arrive this morning, and Treasurer Farrell of the New York American league is also expected today. Messrs. Hermann, Johnson, and Pulliam constitute the commission which is to decide the controversy, and Messrs. Farrell and Ebbets are the disputants who are present to state their cases.

In the absence of the American leaguers, yesterday was devoted to informal conferences, in which President Hart of the local National league club and President Grillo of the American association participated. The chief result was the announcement of the decision of the committee appointed by the National league to settle the cases of George Davis and Fielder Jones.

Unite Against Freedman.

This committee, consisting of Messrs Hermann, Dreyfuss, and Hart, reiterates in its finding the fact that the two players belong unquestionably to Comiskey. The text of the report, submitted to President Pulliam yesterday to be transmitted to the league members, is as follows:

We find that, under what is known as the Cincinnati peace agreement and the national agreement, Players George S. Davis and Fielder A. Jones belong to the Chicago American league club until such time as said players may be disposed of by that club in the regular manner.

We recommend that the president of the National league, immediately after this report has been approved, be directed to notify both players to this effect and request them to report to said club at the proper time.

We recommend that the New York club be requested to pay no additional salaries or moneys to either of said players under any so-called contracts that either of them may have with said club nor to defend or resist any suit or suits to be brought by either of them against said club.

We recommend that, if either player institutes suit, either against the New York club or the National league as a body, to recover any money under any so-called contracts with the New York club, that the league, at its expense, employ counsel to resist and defend such suits.

We recommend that, if any recovery is made by either player under suits brought by them, either against the New York club or the National league, under the so-called contracts with the New York club, that such obligations be paid by the National league as a body, each club sharing alike.

We request that we be given farther time to report with respect to the money already paid Davis by the New York club, under a so-called contract with him for the year 1903, having in view, however, a just and equitable settlement of the same to the satisfaction of all parties interested.

In order that the New York club may be fully advised as to the action of the league with respect to this report, we recommend that the president be directed to immediately forward the same to all members of the league for their approval.

AUGUST HERMANN,
BARNEY DREYFUSS,
JAMES A. HART,
Special Committee.

Brooklyn Sunday Game Question.

The magnates declined to discuss the probable outcome of the dispute over Sunday games in New York further than to state that the matter would be thoroughly thrashed out today. It is well known, however, that Messrs. Hermann and Pulliam hold the opinion that the American league cannot play at Ridgewood park under the terms of the national agreement. Chairman Hermann is positive in his belief that the American league agreed to restrict itself to Manhattan island at the time the peace treaty was adopted, and has gone to the trouble of requesting the written testimony of twenty different persons who participated in or were conversant with the formation of that treaty, and he says the replies he has received substantiate his belief. On the other hand, all evidence which the American league can present to the contrary will be accepted and weighed with the same spirit of fairness which has characterized all the acts of the commission and its chairman. It is even possible that the weighing process may delay the final decision for some time, of so much importance is it considered to baseball.

All Three Clubs Must Consent.

President Ebbets denied that the Brooklyn club had at any time made advances looking to playing games at Ridgewood, but said the Ridgewood people had made a proposition to him in writing to the effect that his club could have all open dates at the park on the same terms as the American league. Furthermore, the Ridgewood representative had told him, but he would not vouch for its truth, that both Brush and Freedman had consented to the American league's playing Sunday games at that park. In this connection Chairman Hermann made his own position stronger by asserting that, in his interpretation of the agreement, neither the Brooklyn club nor either of the New York clubs could play baseball at Ridgewood if it conflicted with the interests of either of the other two clubs.

Johnson-Dreyfuss Quarrel.

The question of schedules and the breach between Messrs. Johnson and Dreyfuss came up for discussion, and President Pulliam made the point that the American league was technically violating the peace treaty in not having appointed a schedule committee of three before Feb. 1, which is mandatory in the treaty, to confer with the National league's committee already appointed. Mr. Hermann took issue on this point and declared that the American league had observed the spirit of the treaty by delegating Mr. Johnson to act as its schedule committee, and that, so long as a conference was held and as nearly nonconflicting schedules as possible were arranged within the three weeks from Feb. 1, as specified by the agreement, there would be no violation of the treaty.

From statements made by the magnates it is plain the rival leagues are not far apart in their schedule views, that the breach between Johnson and Dreyfuss is regarded as a personal matter caused almost wholly by a New York newspaper, and that no difficulty is expected in agreeing on playing dates.

Pool Holiday Receipts.

Chairman Hermann summed up the situation exactly: "Gentlemen, you can never arrange schedules or anything else over a telephone or through the newspapers. Get together in one room and talk it over. That's the only way. I believe the whole question of holiday games could be settled best by both leagues agreeing to play all holiday games in the best cities of each circuit, then pool the receipts in each league."

New Umpire for American League.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Charles King, who umpired in the New England league last season, has received word from President Johnson that he is to be given a trial in the American league staff of umpires next season. King was recommended to Johnson by the officials of the New England league. He has an excellent presence on the field, is possessed of a first class voice, knows the rules thoroughly, and has an unblemished reputation. He is a native of Randolph and has acquired considerable success as a player.

Secretary Fredericks Returns.

Secretary C. A. Fredericks of the Chicago American league club returned yesterday from Denver much improved in health but disgusted with Chicago's frigidity and anxious for the start for spring training in Texas.

Pittsburg Secures Scanlon.

Utica, N. Y., Feb. 10.—The Utica Baseball association has come to terms with the Pittsburg club for the sale of Pitcher Scanlon.

BLACK BOXERS MAY SUE.

OBJECT TO BEING BARRED FROM MEETING WHITE BOXERS.

Claim American Citizenship Prevents Such Discrimination Against Them by Chicago Boxing Club Managers and May Invoke the Law—Tommy Warren, for Many Years the Featherweight Champion, Dies in San Francisco—Pugilistic Jots.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

The colored fighters in and about Chicago are up in arms concerning the recent edict barring them from fighting at the local clubs. They claim their American citizenship entitles them the same rights as the white fighters, especially in a state where boxing is considered unlawful. Influential colored men take the same view of it and report has it that colored attorneys have been engaged and that all clubs that bar their colored brethren will be enjoined from giving shows. Local fight promoters say they have only barred the colored man from fighting the whites, and that colored fighters can batter one another's heads off if they choose.

Young Griffo's pugilistic career was punctured beyond repair at the Twenty-second Ward Athletic club's show last night. He was slated to wind up the entertainment with Tommy White, and as his recent contests with Martin Judge and George Memsic demonstrated he was regaining his old time form an excellent and scientific contest was anticipated. Instead it ended before it had been in progress two minutes. They began with straight lefts, and after a few deliveries dropped into a clinch. A little fiddling followed, when White let go left and right, the blow from the latter member landing full on Griffo's jaw, sending him down for the count of five. This unexpected happening surprised the crowd, and when a moment later Grif walked to his corner as though he had given up the battle the crowd was dumfounded. He resumed the fray after a short spell, but when Tommy cut loose at him again he turned tail, covered his face with his gloves, and practically quit. When asked what ailed him, he said he was ill, but the opinion of the crowd was he was in no condition to box. This will undoubtedly end Grif's career as a fighter.

White announced he would meet Abe Attel at 126 pounds or any man in town at that weight. Tommy showed much of his old time skill and if anything appeared to hit harder. His right jolt which sent Griffo down was neatly planted and had much force behind it.

The semi-final between Tommy Smith and James Malley went to Smith in the fourth round through a peculiar accident. Malley looked a sure winner at the end of the third, but in the fourth he tripped over Referee Krone's foot, fell to the floor, and sprained his ankle. He was unable to continue and the fight was awarded to Smith, as he could not be held accountable for the accident.

In the other bouts Jack Reedy and Tim Maloney, a pair of novices, fought six hard rounds to a draw, and Pat Kenneally stopped Joe Sanders in the third round.

If Billy Mellody, the Charlestown, Mass. lightweight, is as good a fighter as his record indicates, "Buddy" Ryan will have a fight on his hands when he meets him in the windup at the Battery D show on Friday night. Mellody is young in the business, but his last three fights, in which he knocked out Patsy Sweeny, Matty Matthews, and Eddie Connelly, stamp him as above the ordinary. The easterner is expected in town today. Other events to be contested are: Ralph Worthington vs. Jimmy Sweeney, 118 pounds; Milt Kenny vs. Young Sharkey, 138 pounds; George Shrosbee vs. Pat O'Hearn, 158 pounds; Pat Feeney vs. Charlie Burns, 150 pounds.

Matchmaker Mike Butler of the Chicago Athletic association announces the following card for Satuday night: Ed Ray vs. Jack Madden, 130 pounds; Gus Bezenah vs. Paddy Nee, 122 pounds; Willie McNamara vs. Billy Funicane, 122 pounds; Joe Galligan vs. Tommy Cody, 127 pounds, and the windup between Harry Forbes and Johnny Kelly, at 118 pounds, weigh in at 5 o'clock. Forfeits have posted by all the contestants.

Death of Tommy Warren.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 10.—Tommy Warren, once the champion featherweight pugilist of America, is dead in this city of pneumonia. For several years he had been in the army transport service and recently returned from Manila.

Rauch to Fight Preston.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Morris Rauch of Chicago and Eddie Preston of Kalamazoo, Mich., have been matched to fight ten rounds in South Bend Feb. 23.

Anson Team Still Leads in the Five-Men Team Event—Owen Heads Individuals.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Cleveland, O., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Peace has practically been declared in the bowling world, and from present indications the strife which has been brewing between the east and the west since the annual congress at Buffalo two years ago will be brought to an end tomorrow and the two factions united into one harmonious body.

Agreement Is Reached.

Delegates of both factions met in a session at the Hollenden hotel today and discussed their differences. A satisfactory agreement was reached on all of the four recommendations presented by the New Yorkers. The fifth, which has been the bone of contention between the two factions—the loaded ball question—was put off until tomorrow, when Charley Ebbets of Brooklyn is expected to reach town. A final joint session will then be held between the A. B. C. executive committee and the New York delegation, when the troublesome problem will be settled.

Ball Question Remains.

While no difficulty was encountered in reaching a settlement on four of the recommendations, that referring to the weight of the ball proved to be a stumbling block. The A. B. C. committee conceded all of the points asked by the easterners, with the exception of the weight of the ball, without any argument, and the expected fight failed to materialize.

The session, however, was a lengthy one, taking up several hours' time and resulted in a subcommittee composed of C. F. Moll, Milwaukee; George Schreiner, Dubuque; and William Bosson, being appointed by the A. B. C. committee to confer further with the New Yorkers in the hope that the controversy over the loaded ball may be brought to an end. This committee will also draw up a list of the concessions asked by both sides and will present it at the meeting for final ratification tomorrow.

Compromise Suggested.

A compromise was suggested at the meeting today that the west be permitted to continue the use of the 16¾ pound ball another year, while the east could maintain its 16 pound all wooden sphere as it has in the last few years. It was deemed inadvisable to call a special meeting of the congress at this time, hence the suggestion that home rule be permitted in the two sections of the country for the next year.

This seemed to meet with the approval of many of those present at the meeting, but what may result at the final session tomorrow cannot be predicted with any degree of certainty. At any rate the "white dove" has fluttered over the factional delegations all day long and that there will not be any further conflict seems assured.

Steele to Play Voorhies.

The much talked of match game between Gus Steele of Chicago and John Voorhies of New York was clinched this afternoon, and the two men will meet Saturday night on any alley agreeable to both players.

Steele and Voorhies posted their $250 today and both will roll a sixteen pound ball.

Crowd Is Big.

The largest crowd that has attended the tournament assembled at the Central armory tonight, the attendance being estimated at almost 4,000 people. The weather moderated a little today, which accounts for the size of the crowd.

The feature of the day was the appearance on the alleys of a number of the best five men teams entered in the tournament. Several Chicago teams competed, among these being the champion O'Learys, Brilliants, Columbian Knights, Tuxedos, and others. The O'Learys, with fife and drum corps, appeared on the alleys in the first squad of the night and made the building reverberate with music. The stockyards men then started to roll, and while the crowd cheered proceeded to make a disappointingly small score, securing a total of only 2,553 pins. James O'Leary was on the scene to watch his men.

Ansons Still Lead.

Capt. Anson's men will not be displaced from the head of the five men division by any of the teams rolling today, the best effort recorded being 2,722 by the Centrals of Erie, Pa. Scores:

Individual Scores.

A new leader appeared in the individual race, W. R. Owen of Louisville totaling a score of 55 pins better than the record made yesterday by R. W. Lee of Columbus. A peculiar feature was the fact that Tony R. Owen, a brother of the present leader, came out second with 605 pins. L. Gazzolo of Toledo is now third, having toppled 595 pins. The Chicago bowlers who rolled today were in poor form and had low scores.

PHILLIPS LOSES GOOD CHANCE.

Four Mounts Offered to Him Before He Was Set Down, Finish First or Second.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The elimination of the star jockey cut a figure in the races at the fair grounds today. H. Phillips, before being set down, had agreed to ride Maritana for Myron McHenry in the first race, Yo San in the second, Viperine in the Rosebud stakes, and Velos in the final event. This set of engagements probably would have given Phillips four winning mounts.

He would have done better with Maritana than Fuller did, as his alertness at the post would have got Maritana off near the front. It was only the bad beginning that beat Maritana. Lord French beat the barrier and staggered home a scant head in front of the trotting horseman's filly. Yo San needed only the services of a capable rider. She was beaten half a length by Clear the Arena because Apprentice Stille was of no help to her.

Phillips could not have done any better in the Rosebud stakes with Viperine than Fuller did. This shifty daughter of Filigrane needed nothing but a steadying hand. Fuller got her well away from the post and after that there was nothing to the race. Viperine finished under restraint four lengths before Pinkie, who proved to be the better of Albert Simons' pair. The Texas colt Truffle Hunter showed considerable speed.

DRIVING CLUBS GAIN A VICTORY.

Harness Marks Made at Amateur Meetings Will Not Go as Records.

N. T. A. AMENDS THE RULES

Notification of Sale Before a Race Must Be Handed to Officials.

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The twenty-second congress of the National Trotting association met at the Murray Hill hotel today. Instead of a stormy session, as many had expected, everything passed off harmoniously.

The real work had been done before the congress convened. Only 374 members were represented, and yet six present held proxies giving them 224 votes, more by a liberal margin than a working majority.

Just how the respective forces lined up was not made public, but the voting force must have been nearly evenly divided, for each side got all it asked. The opposition wanted a good representation on the different district boards and more recognition for the League of Amateur Driving Clubs. It got all this as fast as the order of business could be carried through, but it is said to have been obtained only after a preliminary show of strength that made the concession from the party in power preferable to warfare.

At a former meeting, when H. K. Devereaux of Cleveland introduced a rule asking that clubs of the amateur league be allowed to give amateur meetings and charge admission at the gates without incurring penalty records for horses, the request was not acted upon favorably. Today it was incorporated in the rules without a dissenting voice by the congress.

A nominating committee composed of George W. Archer, Rochester; Joseph C. Simpson, San Francisco; and C. A. Chapman, Vermont, named the following ticket, which was put before the congress and elected by acclamation:

President, P. P. Johnston, Kentucky; first vice president, Morgan G. Bulkeley, Connecticut; second vice president, N. T. Smith, California.

For members of the eastern district board—C. D. Palmer, Lowell; F. E. Perkins, Providence; J. M. Johnson, Calais, Me.; Horace White, Syracuse; James Butler, New York; W. Perry Taylor, Buffalo.

Western district—J. C. Welty, Canton; H. K. Devereux, Cleveland; Senator Bailey of Texas.

When the report of the committee on rules was read each was approved without debate until rule 44, section 2, was reached, and here an amendment was offered providing that any amateur club belonging to the National Trotting association should be allowed to hold a three days' amateur meeting at which an admission fee could be charged without incurring a penalty record or bar for horses winning the various events.

A question was raised that this would not be fair to those amateur clubs that were members of the national association but not of the amateur league, and finally it was compromised by the statement that any amateur club might become a member of the league.

An amendment to rule 59 brought out much discussion and several changes were made in the amendment before it was finally in shape to please all. It then set forth that no horse entered at any meeting could be sold, leased, or otherwise transferred before a race unless written notices were at once filed with the secretary and by him transmitted to the judges, to be publicly posted or announced. Failure to do this makes all parties to the transaction liable to a fine, suspension, or expulsion.

The rule for shortening the distance to fifty yards was not acted upon favorably and the distance remains as it was. The question of weights will be acted upon hereafter. It will be virtually catch weights.

D. J. Campau of the Detroit Driving club was reinstated in membership in the national association.

Josh Wins on the Speedway.

After one of the best series of races seen on the Washington park ice path this season Roach's Josh, driven by Dick McMahon, won the free for all pace yesterday afternoon for the Canadian sleigh presented by the Dryden brothers. Thirteen horses started in three tiers. In the first tier Josh won two straight heats after a stout argument with Miss Sylvia and Billy K. Rex took the two heats in the second tier, chased out by Blue Ribbon and Radical. The half mile track veteran, Robert Wilkes, won the third tier. In the final Starter Pruyn sent them away beautifully and the trio raced head and head until near the finish, where Josh drew away and won by a length from Robert Wilkes. This afternoon the race for the two prizes offered by C. W. Marks will take place. The event was transferred from the north side.

VARICOCELE HYDROCELE

CURED IN FIVE DAYS.

H. J. TILLOTSON, M. D.

(Copyrighted.)

I Do for My Patients All That I Promise Them.

The reason my professional practice has become larger by far than that of any other physician or specialist ever in Chicago is because of the manner in which I deal with my patients.

In the first place, my methods are clean. I never promise more than I perform, nor make misleading propositions to the afflicted in an ignoble effort to secure their patronage. While I am naturally ambitious to rescue as many men as possible from the ravages of disease, yet if they engage my services I want them to do so upon an honest, fair, and square basis, with mutual confidence and respect between physician and patient.

In the next place, those who come to me for treatment are guaranteed a safer, surer, and more rapid cure than can be obtained anywhere else, on account of the thorough scientific equipment of my office. Every apparatus, instrument, and device essential to the modern methods of specialty practice are found in my consultation, operating, and treatment rooms. Absolutely nothing of proved value is lacking.

Besides, I have earnestly devoted twenty-four years of my life to the exclusive study of Male Maladies, during which time I have discovered and developed various forms and treatment for them which make the cure of the sufferer as certain as it is that he employs my services, and I treat patients personally.

My professional ability is recommended by leading physicians as well as by my cured patients, while my financial standng is indorsed by the best banks and business houses in this city.

My specialty and modes of treatment are more fully commented upon below, and are well worth the careful perusal of all in need of medical attention.

Varicocele

Surgery seldom cures it, but always weakens.

I daily demonstrate that Varicocele can be positively cured without cutting, burning, tying, or any other form of operaton.

Instead of vital parts being maimed and injured, they are preserved and strengthened, pain ceases entirely and almost instantly, swelling subsides, healthy circulation is rapidly re-established, and every part of the organism affected is thoroughly restored.

Hydrocele

My treatment of Hydrocele and its associate conditions is original with me and obtainable exclusively only at my hands. You are no doubt familiar with some of the tedious, painful, and surgical methods of old-time treatment. I have investigated all of them. To do my important work I have spent thousands of dollars with a special view of knowing all that is to be known about Hydrocele.

I cure Hydrocele and its complications within five days WITHOUT PAIN, WITHOUT KNIFE, WITHOUT DETENTION FROM BUSINESS; CURING TO STAY CURED under bank guarantee.

Rupture

Disregard of existing rupture has cost many human lives. Strangulation of the bowels and old-time methods of operating with the knife have contributed to this fatality. My methods obviate this and cure with absolute certainty and safety, and entail no suffering. The smallest hernias are the most dangerous to life, because of the increased liability to strangulation.

Blood Poison

Prompt and heroic treatment is the only kind that should ever be used in combating this disease.

Only temporary relief can come from hot spring baths, specifics, mercury, potash, or other minerals, mixtures and poisons.

I have originated and perfected a cure for Blood Poison that is absolutely safe, rapid, and permanent, and leaves no injurious effects.

Every external symptom soon disappears, while the blood, the tissues, the nerve fibers, the bones, and the whole system are cleansed, strengthened, and restored to perfect health and purity.

Nervo-Vital Debility

CEREBRAL—When the mental forces are impaired.

SPINAL—When the spinal centers are involved and motor power is diminished.

VITAL—When the Great Sympathetic Nervous System is affected and the forces that govern the organs of life are reduced by the baneful reflex effects of disease incident to the organs of the pelvis.

No one afflicted with Nervo-Vital Debility in any of its forms should despair after failure to obtain satisfactory results from inferior treatment. My methods rid you of the main malady which underlies nervous disease and disturbance, and I am able to restore you to enviable health and strength. Every case is a personal study with me, and I invariably modify my treatment to answer the requirements in individual cases.

I cure all weakness induced by specific nervous complaints and put you on the right track to complete health or restore the conditions essential to your future life and happiness.

Associate Diseases

In curing a disease of any kind I never fail to remove all reflex complications. In the case of Varicocele or Hydrocele the weakness caused by it disappears. If it has developed into Prostatic, Bladder, or Kidney affections the injured parts are all restored to a perfect, healthful condition. If it is Blood Poison, all Skin, Blood, and Bone diseases arising from the taint are entirely and permanently eliminated from the system. If it is Nervous Debility, the many distressing symptoms following in its train, and indicating a decline of physical and mental power, are totally removed and rapidly replaced by the energy of robust manhood. Hence, all resulting ills and reflex complications, which may be properly termed associate diseases, and which, in fact, are often more serious than the original ailment that gives rise to them—all, I say, disappear completely and forever with the cure of the main malady.

New Books

My latest medical publication, embracing scientific yet simple discussion of Male Pelvic Diseases and the best methods of curing them, will be sent free upon application.

Correspondence

If you cannot visit me personally, write symptms that trouble you most.

A vast majority of cases can be cured by my system of home treatment which is the most successful system ever devised.

I make no charge for private counsel and give to each patient a legal contract in writing, backed by abundant capital, to hold for my promise.

My Reception Rooms

are open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., but my hours for consultation are daily from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sundays from 8:30 to 1 only.

CERTAINTY OF CURE is what you want. I give a legal guarantee to cure or refund your money. What I have done for others I can do for you.

MY CHARGES for a perfect cure are reasonable, and no more than you are willing to pay for successful treatment of your case.

ALMOST THEATER PANIC.

Ushers and Policemen Prevent Trouble in the Metropolitan Opera House.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, Feb. 10.

Belmont Interests Gain Control of Trolley Line.

Announcement probably will be made by August Belmont at tomorrow's meeting of the Rapid Transit commission that the interests he represents have obtained the control of the trolley system of the New York and Queens County Railway company, comprising practically all the trolley lines in Queens. Mr. Belmont intended to make the announcement two weeks ago, and intended to tell the board he had gained control of the Queens county railway system and also had obtained the rights of the old Steinway Tunnel company to dig a tunnel under East river. He decided to delay this announcement for the time being, but is expected to make it tomorrow.

The New York and Queens County company owns about 150 miles of tracks. It carries about 12,000,000 passengers a year, and runs from Long Island City to such centers in Queens as Astoria, Ravenswood, Steinway, Woodside, Winfield, Elmhurst, Newtown, Corona, Flushing, College Point, and Jamaica.

With the Manhattan subway and the extension to Brooklyn as well as the Manhattan elevated railroad and Queens county roads in their possession the Belmont interests now need only to get control of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system, and it has been more than once reported that they were angling for that, in order to almost monopolize the local transportation facilities of the city.

In the ruin of the Brooklyn Chair company's factory, which burned yesterday, three bodies were found today, making four dead. The bodies were identified as Elizabeth Pfunder, Christopher Chron, and Vincenzo Di Lanto.

Almost Panic in Metropolitan Opera House.

Prompt action by the policemen and attendants and good judgment on the part of the audience of 4,600 persons prevented a panic in the Metropolitan opera house tonight. By the blowing out of an electric fuse a momentary alarm was caused in the dress circle and grand tier, but Conried's ushers, drilled for just such an emergency, rose to the occasion and with the assistance of a police squad and the fireman on duty in the front of the house quiet was restored without any interruption to the performance on the stage.

One of the largest houses in the present opera season had gathered, as it was Caruso's last appearance this year. Every seat from the pit to the gallery was taken and many persons were standing.

Mme. Sembrich and Sig. Campanari were on the stage singing a portion of the second act. It was ten minutes before 9 o'clock when an insulation covering the wires and magnets of the electric call bell in the corridor leading to the dress circle ignited.

There was a slight flash and puff of smoke as the paraffin and cotton covering of the wires burned. The smoke was blown through the outer entrance into the dress circle. Miss Sembrich and Sig. Campanari saw it. They continued singing. Several women in the dress circle arose from their seats, but the ushers induced them to resume their places.

Dog Show Prizes Are Won by Morgan's Entries.

The feature of the opening day at the dog show in Madison Square garden was the sweeping success of J. Pierpont Morgan with his rough collies. Mr. Morgan has not exhibited in recent years, but today he showed some superb English importations. The star of the kennel was Wishaw Clinker, a dog which could not be beaten in England and for which Mr. Morgan is said to have paid between $3,000 and $4,000.

The second best was Ormskirk Olympian, which, until it met Clinker, had not been beaten. With these two dogs, and some others, all the principal prizes went to Mr. Morgan. In the open class he took all three prizes and in the winners, which is tantamount to the championship, Wishaw Clinker beat all, and Ormskirk Olympian took the reserve ribbon.

Another feature of the day was the contest for the Waldorf-Astoria cup for bulldogs, presented by George C. Boldt. This cup has to be won three times by a member of the association to become his property. W. C. Coleman already had won the prize twice, but today C. C. Hopton took first prize with Rodney Smasher.

Placards for Rockefeller's Bible Class.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr. gave a reception at the Fifth Avenue Baptist church tonight to the Bible class which Rockefeller has made famous. The class is large and Rockefeller's aim in giving this reception was to bring about a better acquaintance among its members. Upon entering the church parlor where the reception took place every guest after being announced received a placard with his name on it. The placard was pinned on his lapel, and from that time on he walked about a marked man. The men sitting next to each other could enter into a conversation and call one another by their names without being introduced.

Mrs. John D. Rockefeller and Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller Jr. came about 8:30 o'clock and began to receive. All the guests were mustered into line one by one and shook hands with the hosts.

Paper Pulp Makers Hold Big Meeting.

The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the American Paper and Pulp association was held here today. There were present 265 members, representing 800 mills. Labor matters took up a large part of the time allotted for discussion. It was decided not to employ any man who goes on a strike until the termination of the trouble, and in carrying out this provision manufacturers will require of new employés certificates from former employers. A request from the American Federation of Labor that manufacturers use the union label was refused.

Prof. Herron Seein' Things Again.

T. W. Dugan, one of the several delegates of the Western Federation of Miners, who is here asking for money from the labor unions, spoke at a socialist meeting this evening. Another speaker was Prof. George T. Herron, who said the military despotism now in force in Colorado is only a forerunner of military despotism throughout the United States. "Another four years of Roosevelt," he said, "and we shall have a coup d'état, and Roosevelt will be the man on horseback."

Murphy for Uninstructed Delegates

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, said today that he was opposed to any plan to have the state democratic convention instruct the delegates to St. Louis for any particular presidential candidate. Mr. Murphy said: "It is my idea that the New York delegation should go to the national convention uninstructed and in a position to do what is best for the interests of the party."

BANQUET HALL A TUNNEL.

TWELVE HUNDRED PEOPLE DINE FAR BELOW STREET.

Occasion the Formal Opening of Conduits Under Downtown Streets for Freight Transfer Business—President Wheeler Tells of Company's Plans and Engineer Jackson of the Construction—Press Club Members and Friends Guests.

Twelve hundred Chicagoans sat down last night to a banquet forty feet below the level of the streets. It was a dinner given by the Illinois Tunnel company to the members of the Press club and their friends. The table at which the guests were served was in the tunnel beneath Jackson boulevard, and extended from La Salle street to Franklin.

The occasion was the formal opening for business of the tunnel system. The party was lowered to the level of the conduits in an elevator in the company's exchange, 177 Fifth avenue. There they entered a train of diminutive electric cars and were whisked through the shaft to Jackson boulevard and Fifth avenue. Disembarking at this point, the guests were shown through the tunnels in all directions by uniformed guides. The banquet section was floored and the walls decorated with bunting. At La Salle street and the boulevard an orchestra was stationed.

Guests Explore the Tunnels.

Adventurous members of the party were allowed to penetrate as far as they wished in the twenty miles of tunnels, which were all brilliantly lighted.

After the dinner there were speeches delivered from the stand at Jackson boulevard and Fifth avenue. President Homer J. Carr of the Press club introduced the speakers. President Albert G. Wheeler of the company outlined the aims of the underground transit scheme and George W. Jackson, general manager and engineer, told of the task which the building of the system had been. Opie Read was called upon to tell "What I Am Reminded Of," and replied:

"Now that I know what it's like down here I'm not afraid to die."

Reverses Plan of Other Cities.

President Wheeler in his address declared that, contrary to the custom in London, Paris, and Boston, Chicago is to carry its freight instead of its people underground.

"The first transportation business to be done by the company," he said, "will be to deliver coal to all the office buildings and take away the ashes; then it will connect the tunnels with the important wholesale houses handling large tonnage of freight, and through these tunnels this company will be transporting several tons of freight daily before the end of this year. When this is accomplished, and the transportation department of this company is in full operation, it is the purpose of the company to extend its tunnels throughout the north, west, and south sides of Chicago, and do the package delivering business of the city."

CULLOM'S PLACE IS STAKE

REPORTS OF LOWDEN-WARNER COMBINATION RECEIVED.

Deneen's Workers Say the Alliance Is Fast and the Understanding Is That One Is to Be Governor and the Other Be Supported for the Senatorship—Part of Jamieson-Lorimer-Smyth Program—Governor in Chicago for a Conference.

Despite protests to the contrary some of the politicians long have contended that there was a Lowden-Warner combination, and now, it is said, proof has come into the possession of other candidates for the republican nomination for governor.

Reports have been received by the managers of Charles S. Deneen's canvass that the supporters of Frank O. Lowden and Vespasian Warner are working together wherever they can and with the understanding that one is to be made governor and the other United States senator to succeed Shelby M. Cullom.

That this deal is the program of the Jamieson-Lorimer-Smyth end of the organization has been an open secret among the lieutenants of these leaders. When Mr. Warner consented to become a candidate a southern Illinois republican said that the "heads of messes" were under pledge to be with him for senator in the event that he failed to land the governorship.

Reports from Many Sources.

Now the story, as it comes up from the country, is that Lowden and the congressman are making the gubernatorial race in each other's interests. Those who brought the information to Chicago said they had encountered the combination and its operations in many places.

Mr. Warner, however repeatedly has declared that his candidacy was entirely independent of all the other aspirants. A candidate for one of the minor offices is authority for the assertion that Warner was brought out to offset Attorney General Hamlin, and that the leaders promised him he should be fully protected.

"He probably could go to the senate," this candidate continued, "when Cullom gets ready to retire. Some of us have assured the senator that he will be reelected if he wishes at the expiration of his present term. He has that assurance from men against him since he and Tanner parted company."

Yates Comes for Conference.

Gov. Yates left Carroll county last evening and came to Chicago for a conference with Col. J. H. Strong, who returned from California in the morning. The executive stopped only between trains, however, and went on to Bloomington, where there is another sharp three cornered fight, with Yates, Hamlin, and Warner involved, in progress.

Mr. Deneen is billed to speak twice in Ford county on Saturday. He will be in Gibson at 2 o'clock and in Paxton at 8 p. m. Roy O. West said developments of the last few days showed much progress in favor of the state's attorney.

LOAN AND BANKING COMPANY COMPELLED TO CLOSE DOORS.

All Departments of Wolfboro, N. H., Institution Enjoined from Paying or Receiving Money.

Wolfboro, N. H., Feb. 10.—The Wolfboro Loan and Banking company here was closed today by State Savings Bank Commissioner Baker and the institution has been enjoined from paying or receiving money. The savings department was closed on Monday, when the bank commissioners were notified of a shortage of $25,000 in the accounts of Cashier Charles F. Piper, who is ill at home. Attachments for $30,000 have been placed by the company on the property held by Piper. The trust and banking departments have liabilities estimated at $130,000 and carried previous to the run about $75,000 in deposits. The savings department has deposits of about $170,000.

Receiver for New York Bank.

New York, Feb. 10.—The Equitable National bank was closed today by direction of the controller of the currency. Bank Examiner Edward Ridgley was appointed receiver. The failure, it is said, is due to bad loans and injudicious management. The failure is not considered significant. The stockholders may lose more than 30 cents on the dollar on $30,000 or $40,000. It is said depositors will be paid in full. The bank, situated in the dry goods district at Broadway and Eleventh streets, was organized two years ago. The assets and liabilities are given at $652,781. Its capital was $200,000 and it had deposits of $395,273.

Bank Closes After Run.

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 10.—As the result of a run of ten days, the Merchants and Farmers' bank of Dunn, N. C., a state institution, today closed its doors. The capital is $22,000; assets, $115,000. Depositors probably will be paid in full.

DELAY MAY INJURE HEARST.

Plot Asserted to Be Behind Backwardness in Issuing Democratic State Convention Call.

Although the state committee ordered it a week ago, no call for the democratic state convention has as yet been issued. It is said the politicians in control of the state organization believe something can be accomplished towards weakening the Hearst movement through manipulation of certain matters connected with the call, especially in fixing the basis of apportionment for delegates, and that is asserted to be the reason for holding it back.

Chairman John P. Hopkins, Secretary George E. Brennan, Dennis Hogan, and others of the dominant faction say that the Hearst movement in Illinois is not what the managers of it are leading the people to believe. They have promised to prove their claim, and the plan adopted may result in a series of stirring contests.

It was said the first result of the counter movement was shown in the failure of the meeting at Elgin last Tuesday night. The next chance will be at Anna, on Saturday, where the Hearst democrats of Union county expect to have a demonstration and organize a William Randolph Hearst club.

DEFEAT FOR HEARST FACTION.

Conservative Element in Iowa State Committee in Control—Convention in Des Moines on May 4.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The democratic state central committee met here this afternoon, and called the state convention to meet in this city May 4.

George W. Cullison was elected temporary chairman, the vote standing 6 for Cullison and 3 for Lewis Murphy. This vote indicates the conservatives are in control. Cullison favors sending delegates to the national convention without instructions. Murphy is understood to favor the reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform.

The selection of Cullison is an anti-Hearst victory.

BARRELS OPEN IN CARROLL COUNTY.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Mount Carroll, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Col. Lowden has entwined himself still more tightly in the heartstrings of the people of Carroll county. He has bought a pair of felt boots and has tucked his trousers in them. There is no longer any doubt that the colonel's address is Ogle county, not Chicago. He is accepted as a farmer now.

In spite of this and in spite of the lavish use of money it is admitted that Mr. Lowden will have a hard fight to get the county delegation on Saturday. He has conceded Mount Carroll and Yates has conceded Savanna. Mr. Deneen, who has just finished a tour of the county, believes the governor has the best of it at present. After a thirty mile trip over frozen country roads in a buggy today, Mr. Deneen has decided Carroll county is no place for him.

Deneen Is Shocked.

The Chicago state's attorney is shocked at the moral state of the county. He has been telling the people a few things about the iniquity of their ways and his speeches have been full of hot shot for the Yates and Lowden campaign managers. He has found he should have loaded a freight car with silver dollars when he came into the county, and with that as an opening wedge he might have had some success.

As it is, all he has been able to do is to tell the farmers and townspeople how wicked they are and at the same time tack on a moral lecture on the need of a primary law which would prevent these evils. He has been told by friends every saloon in the county has been stocked with money, and half the members of the various communities will be wearing new clothes after Saturday.

The uselessnees of a candidate who is not a millionaire or who has no slush fund behind him, trying to carry a county has been proved to him. Even men who promised him when he was here last fourth of July to support him were found to have gone over to Lowden. He supposed that some of these men were working for him until he reached here and found them working for Lowden. Lowden men admit the use of money by the barrel.

Slush Fund vs. Walking Delegate.

"What can we do against a slush fund and walking delegates of Yates?" asked one of the Carroll county committeemen. "If a millionaire had not tried to capture Carroll it would have gone for Yates sure."

Both Yates and Deneen finished their work in the county today. Deneen spoke in Chadwick, Milledgeville, and Lanark, a circuit of thirty miles. Yates spoke in Thomson. Lowden crossed Deneen's track at Milledgeville.

LOWDEN MEETS WITH A DEFEAT.

Chicago Farmer Loses to Deneen and Yates in First Round by Vote of 492 to 184.

Sterling, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Frank O. Lowden was defeated at the Sterling primaries today by a vote of 3 to 1. The Lowden ticket was defeated by a vote of 492 to 184.

The defeat of Lowden comes as a great surprise to his followers in this city. The Lowden followers expected to carry the city and secure the sixty-two delegates to the county convention.

The result will have a remarkable influence over the county against Lowden and will also be the cause of the fight between the various factions becoming more bitter.

The defeat of Lowden in Sterling is attributed to the uniting of the Deneen and Yates factions. The Sterling delegation to the county convention is uninstructed.

A light vote was cast. The greatest surprise of the day was the defeat of the Lowden forces in Rock Falls, the victory for Deneen and Yates being 263 to 181. Rock Falls has twenty-five delegates to the county convention. This gives Yates eighty-seven votes at the first two primaries in the county, there being a total of 283 delegates to the county convention.

Yates Delegates Elected.

Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Two primaries were held tonight in district No. 1, Jacksonville. Both sets of delegates were instructed for Yates.

WAR ON RAILROADS IN IOWA.

Bill Introduced in Legislature Reducing Passenger Fares to Two Cents a Mile.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—More railroad bills were introduced in both the senate and house today. Representative Delano and Senator Stirton introduced bills for a 2 cent passenger fare and also prohibiting the issuance of free transportation of any sort to any person except stock shippers and railroad employés.

The bill also makes it unlawful for any state officer, judge, member of the legislature, or county attorney to accept any pass for himself or family. The punishment for a violation is a fine of from $500 to $1,000, and if any official so designated accepts any pass he shall forfeit his office.

Another railroad bill, introduced in the house by Representative Doran, prohibits the employment by railroads of minors as operators or as signalmen.

In the senate railroad committee this afternoon railroad men were heard in opposition to the senate bill providing for keeping signal lights on all switches and requiring that the lights be kept burning during the night and also during foggy hours in the day time.

CHICAGO WOMAN IN VAIN QUEST.

Mrs. J. M. Swan Believes Brother Resident of Tacoma, but Is Unable to Find Him.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—A sister spending three months in a vain search for a brother whom she believes to be a resident of Tacoma is the strange story told to Postmaster John B. Cromwell this morning by Mrs. J. M. Swan. Mrs. Swan came to Tacoma from Chicago the latter part of November. She had received a letter from Mr. Carver stating that he would meet her at the train when she arrived, but no one was at the depot to greet her. She called at the address given her, but found he had left a few days previous. Since that time Mrs. Swan has continued the search, but has failed to find him.

WAITRESSES GIVE A DANCE: MEN THE WALL FLOWERS.

Strictly Leap Year Affair in Brand's Hall—Business Agent of the Union, Local 484, Leads Grand March.

Men were the wall flowers at a dance given last night at Brand's hall, Clark and Erie streets, by the waitresses' union. It was a strictly leap year affair, and the man who forgot and asked a waitress to dance was snubbed promptly.

"They all look alike to me," said the girl who shouts the order of "draw one" and "ham and" to the kitchen regions.

"My poor man could not dance at all. We had an awful time," said one giggling creature to another.

One man was paraded around all the evening by an elderly female who took great pride in her conquest. She addressed him in endearing terms and made him waltz upon her on all possible occasions.

At 11 o'clock the grand march was started, led by Lottie Hazlett, business agent of the local, No. 484, and Joe Morton of the Steam Power council. Refreshments were served and the dancing continued until morning.

Some Get Sick This Way

Then My Book Is a Help.

The Book Tells a Way to Health.

Which shall I send?
Book 1 on Dyspepsia.
Book 2 on the Heart.
Book 3 on the Kidneys.
Book 4 for Women.
Book 5 for Men (sealed).
Book 6 on Rheumatism.

When you are losing strength.
When your nerves are failing.
When your vitality is slipping away.
When something is eating away your constitution.
Then my book will tell you a way to help.
And the book is free.
It will tell you of my past—of 30 years given to the sick.
It will tell you how I found the cause of all this weakness. It will tell you that the inside nerves have failed. And it will appear to you as clearly as the light of day.
Not the nerves you know about, that you feel with, that you command when you walk, when you move. But the vital organ nerves. The nerves that operate, that regulate the heart. The nerves that mean either strength or weakness to the stomach, the liver, the kidneys—to all the organs that are essential to health, to life and to happiness.
This was my greatest discovery. Then the way to health was clear. I must vitalize these weakened inside nerves. In hospitals and at bed-sides my work was to that end.
At last my prescription was perfected. I called that prescription a restorative.
It is now

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

And why this unusual publicity?
What brought it so quickly before the people?
There are three vital reasons.
First, my individual—my personal application of a treatment to these obscure inside nerves.
That was never done before—nor since.
Secondly, the prescription itself—the only one that acts directly on these failing nerves.
Thirdly, and the most conspicuous reason—is because I announced to the world that practically any sick one—anywhere—was welcome to use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a whole month without the risk of even a single penny.
After this, my discovery failures were so few that I could safely make this offer.
And the simple way to that help is this:
You write me for the book you need.
Send no money. A postal card will bring the book.
If you need my advice, it is free. Tell me of your ailment as you would your home Doctor. Write to me in strictest confidence.
Then with the book I'll send the name of a druggist near you who will grant the month's treatment on trial.
All druggists keep the Restorative. All do not grant the trial, though, so write for the name of one who does.
Six bottles will be offered for the test. If the Restorative satisfies, the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails, the loss is mine. The druggist will bill the cost to me. And you alone shall be the judge.
I know you will gladly pay $5.50 when it brings you the help you need.

HEAR EMPLOYES TODAY.

Girl Who Escaped Coming from Samaritan Hospital to Take Stand.

Progressing rapidly along the trail blazed by the coroner's inquiry, the Iroquois special grand jury will hear today evidence tending to show responsibility for conditions in the theater. Following the testimony of police and firemen as to the results of the fire, the jury yesterday heard stories of those who escaped, describing the rapid spread of the flames, and the difficulties encountered in escaping, caused by steep stairs, darkness, and closed exits.

Today employés of the theater will be called, and from them the jury will learn of the cause of the fire, and of its spread. In this connection will be told the tale of inadequate fire protection which, when told to the coroner's jury, fired its members with indignation, which they took little pains to conceal. From certain of the witnesses summoned for today the jury will learn of the precipitate flight of the undrilled and uninstructed stage hands, and of the failure of the men in charge of the auditorium to make any preparation for the escape of the crowds in the event of a panic.

Making Rapid Progress.

"Our progress has been more rapid than I expected," said Foreman Joel E. Field at the close of the day. Assistant State's Attorney Blair declared that at the present rate the inquiry would be completed in less than the two weeks during which the jury may sit.

Testimony of great technical value toward sustaining a manslaughter charge was given the jury by Samuel B. Rogers, 1342 North Sawyer avenue, whose wife perished in the disaster. Rogers gave the jury the seat check, which his wife had showed him on the morning of the catastrophe and which he later recovered from her purse. It called for a seat in the balcony within a few feet of the middle main entrance, which is believed to have been locked. Evidence of a similar value will be given this morning by James S. Strong, whose wife, mother, and niece perished inside the locked door at the end of the gallery promenade, over which he escaped.

Testimony of Especial Value.

Other testimony of especial value was given yesterday.

Mrs. James Pinedo, 478 North Hoyne avenue, said that she stood on the first floor, near the boxes at the north side of the stage, and that a single line of persons stood along both sides of the theater, and that they stood three deep at the rear of the seats at the back of the first floor.

Ernest Stern, 3423 South Park avenue, told that he and his sister got down the stairway leading from the first balcony to the foyer in the van of the fleeing crowd, only to find themselves stopped by a closed door at the end of the foyer entrance. He broke the door down.

Assistant Chief Campion, after describing the condition of bodies found in the building, was questioned relative to the appointment of House Fireman William C. Sallers, one of the men held by the coroner. He said that he had recommended Sallers, and that he had told J. J. Noonan, assistant manager of the theater, what kind of fire apparatus to get.

Among witnesses called for today is George M. Dusenberry, head usher at the theater; Robert E. Murray, engineer at the theater; John Wiertz, an electrician; and Willard Sayles, a former usher. The first testimony innvolving the building department will come from Inspector William Curran, who is on the day's list of witnesses.

Coming from Hospital to Testify.

A dramatic incident scheduled for today is the appearance before the jury of Carrie Anderson, a 13 year old girl, who escaped while her mother perished. The child will be able to leave the Samaritan hospital during the day. Her story is of the crowded fire escape leading from the gallery and of the rescue of a number of people over the ladder and plank bridge to the old Tremont house building.

Vote Confidence in Heldmaier.

At the morning session the fact that Juror Ernest Heldmaier was the contractor who built the stone front of the Iroquois theater became known to his colleagues, and a question as to his right to sit on the jury was raised. Juror Heldmaier declared his willingness to withdraw from the jury if his colleagues wished it. The jury's answer was a vote of confidence in the integrity of their associate.

JUSTICE MAYER GROWS STERN.

Imposes $20 Fines on Violators of the Midnight Closing Law and Gives Warning.

Justice Theodore C. Mayer of the East Chicago avenue police court has seen a great white light, and, as a result, will let no more saloonkeepers off with $1 fines for violating the midnight closing law. He became interested when he read in THE TRIBUNE yesterday morning that his sentences amused the liquor sellers. Tuesday morning he assessed four of them $1 and costs each. They considered the fine a cheap tax for running their bars after midnight.

Justice Mayer yesterday went to the courtroom with a firm resolve to reform. Otto Herzog, 318 Larrabee street, and C. A. Smith, 393 Division street, were charged with keeping open after midnight. The justice fined each $20 and costs.

"I fined those first fellows $1 and costs only as a notice to the north side that violations of the law would be punished," said Justice Mayer. "Having served the notice I now intend to impose stiff fines on all violators. For second offenses the fine will be $50."

SEEKS AGAIN TO FREE BRENNAN.

Attorney Gives Notice That on Saturday He Will Ask That Judgment Be Vacated.

Attorney W. S. Forrest served notice yesterday that he will make another effort to secure the release of Ald. John J. Brennan, Herbert E. Kent, and Charles McCarle, sentenced to terms in the bridewell for election frauds. Arguments will be heard by Judge Gary Saturday morning and Mr. Forrest will seek to have the judgment vacated, asking the court to strike out sections declaring there is an agreement whereby prisoners sentenced in County courts may be kept in the house of correction. In his affidavit Ald. Brennan contends there is no such agreement.

HELD PRISONERS BY THE ICE.

Passengers and Crew of Barry Steamer Empire State Have Unpleasant Experience.

The passengers and crew, seventy-eight persons in all, were held imprisoned in the Barry steamer, Empire State, from Monday night until late yesterday afternoon off Fort Sheridan, before the ice which held the boat was driven away by winds. There was much apprehension on receiving a message from Milwaukee announcing that the boat had not been sighted. This was allayed by a telephone message from the steward of the Empire State, who went ashore at Fort Sheridan and notified the company that the boat would be able to proceed to Milwaukee.

STATE TIGHTENS THE NET

DETAILS OF CAR BARNS MURDERS AGAIN ARE TOLD.

Lawyers for the Bandits Make Few Attempts to Cross Examine Witnesses and the Prisoners Apparently Have Abandoned Hope—Connection of Neidermeier and Van Dine with Franklin Park Station Holdup Is Brought Out by the Testimony.

The details of the murders and robbery at the Chicago City railway car barns were told again in Judge Kersten's courtroom yesterday during the trial of the "automatic trio," Gustav Marx, Peter Neidermeier, and Harvey Van Dine. The lawyers for the defense made few attempts to cross examine the state's witnesses and the three bandits, from their manner, appeared to have abandoned hope.

Today, it is expected, the state will introduce testimony bearing on the flight of Van Dine to Cincinnati, his journey with Neidermeier to Denver, the battle at the Indiana hut, and the killing of Detective Quinn.

The street railway company's cashier at the Sixty-first street car barn, William B. Edman, for the first time made public the amount of money in the office before the robbery. His testimony tallied with the confession of Marx. There was in all $3,669.20.

Hotel Clerk Identifies Men.

The first witness of the afternoon session was William M. Fiske, Kinzie and State streets, former night clerk in the Hotel Lenox, 255 South Clark street.

Fiske identified Marx as having been at the hotel on many occasions, registering as "W. H. Allen." Marx, he said, came the first time Sept. 26, and between that date and Nov. 16 was there nearly fifteen different nights. On the night of Nov. 11 he brought a friend with him, who registered as "E. W. Turner." This is supposed to be Van Dine. Nov. 16 the latter brought with him a "William Rambow."

Tells of Holdup and Murders.

William B. Edman, who was shot by the robbers, explained the position of the money and the cash drawer on the night of Aug. 30, just before the robbers came. He gave the details of the murders and robbery. He said that he reached in a drawer for the company's revolver and started to turn in the burglar alarm.

Edman dropped to the floor and showed the jury the kneeling position he was in when the robbers burst into the office. The witness said he then turned on his face until the robbers left. He was shown the company's revolver, which had been identified at the morning session by Eugene Cord. It was recovered in a Denver pawnshop.

Sergeant Clive Stack, who was called to the car barns the night of the murder, testified as to the condition of things when he arrived. Patrolman John W. Cavanaugh gave similar testimony.

Counsel for Defense Fall Into Trap.

The lawyers for the defense fell into a snare laid by Assistant State's Attorney Olson in the forenoon, and themselves brought out the connection of Neidermeier and Marx with the holding up of the Franklin Park station of the Wisconsin Central. W. J. Pitman, a telegraph operator there, testified that the men had robbed him of 75 cents the night of July 7.

Emil Peterson, president of the Monticello Athletic club, to which Van Dine belonged, said that Marx and Roeski were frequent visitors to the clubhouse with Van Dine.

"We will introduce the mask used in the robbery," said Mr. Olson last night. "It is long, and covers the hair and ears, showing that whoever wore it was afraid of his hair being recognized. Our best evidence is the revolver and the sledgehammer traced to the hands of Van Dine. He will attempt to prove insanity, but it is of no use."

MAN INSANE FROM LOVE, IS WOMAN LAWYER'S PLEA.

Mrs. Antoinette Funk in Closing Admits Nathan Breen Murdered Sweetheart, but Declares Flirting Was the Cause.

A jury yesterday afternoon began considering the case of Nathan Breen, declared by his attorney to have murdered Irene Donner after he had been "made insane by love."

Mrs. Antoinette Funk, Breen's attorney, made the plea in summing up that "Breen's mind was unbalanced by the girl's flirtations, and when she jilted him he killed her." The first woman lawyer to plead in a murder case in Illinois continued:

"The girl was beautiful and the man infatuated. Miss Donner flirted. It wore on his mind. When she continued he became desperate. When she broke off the engagement he became a maniac.

"Breen loved her, and he would not have killed her had he been of sound mind. Why, we have proved that he gave another man $100 to introduce him to the woman! We have proved that during the courtship Breen spent $500 for her. Costly dresses and expensive hats were among his gifts."

Earlier in the day witnesses had testified that the girl apparently cared nothing for Breen.

Assistant State's Attorney Newcomer declared Breen was not insane but that he was "one of the best actors ever on trial in the Criminal court." Breen on Tuesday attacked two bailiffs and attempted to reach Mr. Newcomer.

A verdict is expected this morning.

CHARGES CRUELTY TO FATHER.

Constable Declares Owen Cooney Forced Aged Parent to Remain in Cold During Eviction.

Cruelty to an aged father is charged by Constable Brown against Owen Cooney. Brown says he will report to the humane society that Frank Cooney, 80 years old, was forced to sit in a wheel chair in a cold basement yesterday while two constables, the son, and a helper carried the household goods from 327 Bissel street on a writ of eviction. Brown said the aged man was not moved until the son was threatened with arrest. Then he secured a cab. Brown delayed serving the writ for two days, to give Cooney an opportunity to move the father.

BLAMES TROUBLES TO MURDER.

Patrolman Curtis, Ordered to Resign, Affected by Killing of Policeman Driscoll, His Son-in-Law.

"The killing of my son-in-law, Policeman Driscoll, by the car barn bandits has affected me, and I ask you to consider it."

CURES PILES
FISTULA, VARICOCELE, AND HYDROCELE
Without Pain, Danger, or Loss of Time.

DR. H. H. DE PEW.

Dr. De Pew's absolute certainty of cure is based upon a successful experience of more than thirty years in the treatment of thousands of cases. Not a single failure among them. This is the only kind of guarantee which you can absolutely depend on. How could Dr. De Pew afford to make you such an offer if he were not confident that he could cure you? His time and services are valuable, for he is one of the busiest practitioners in the United States. Yet he stands to lose both time and trouble if he does not cure you. Surely on these terms you can with confidence intrust your case to his care.

Have you a

RUPTURE?

And are you being tortured with a truss? If so, THROW IT INTO THIS BASKET.

Don't neglect a rupture. Strangulation of the bowel has caused countless deaths, and the smaller the hernia the greater the danger. Don't submit to the knife. It is a needless risk. Dr. De Pew will

YOUR RUPTURE CAN BE CURED IN A VERY SHORT TIME.

You may have tried other physicians and failed to find relief. But the failure of one physician is no proof that you cannot be cured. Medical science has made as gigantic progress as any other science in recent times, and what old-fashioned methods could not effect is quite possible with up-to-date scientific methods. No matter how long you have suffered or how malignant the character of your disease, Dr. De Pew will cure you without fail, by methods that involve no danger, no cutting, no loss of time. You do not run the slightest risk in placing your case in his hands. Dr. De Pew Cures by harmless methods that do not maim or injure the organs, that restore you to vigor and health in a few days, and remove all the debilitating effects of Varicocele upon the nervous system and functional powers. Why run the risk involved in the old surgical methods, with their accompanying pain and danger and the tedious period of convalescence, when the modern methods employed by Dr De Pew restore you to health, vigor, and happiness without danger or loss of time?

HYDROCELE

or dropsy of the scrotum, which is often mistaken for rupture. In this disease Dr. De Pew does not resort to the usual practice of inexperienced physicians of drawing off the water every few weeks, but he has perfected an orginal method of treatment that enables him to effect a positive and permanent cure without pain or the use of the knife.

Dr. De Pew guarantees a certain cure of

and all diseases of the rectum by a speedy and safe method. His success warrants him in saying that HE CANNOT FAIL to cure you. He has not met with a single failure in all his long practice.

MAKE LIFE WORTH LIVING.

Are you a victim of any form of chronic disease of the Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bowels, Blood, Skin, or Nervous System? Have you enlarged Glands, Sores, or Ulcers? Are you weak, run down, nervous and easily exhausted? Are you suffering from Nervo-Vital losses, caused by violation of the laws of health? Come and consult Dr. De Pew. Don't delay. Why continue to spoil your usefulness and happiness in life when the road to health and all the enjoyments of life lie plain before you? Call or address, with stamp,

CLAIRVOYANTS.

CLAIRVOYANTLY GIFTED—
READINGS REDUCED TO $1 FOR 7 DAYS.
PROF. C. J. ROMAINE'S extraordinary clairvoyant powers, combined with his superior knowledge of occult forces, enable him to read human life with unerring accuracy from infancy to old age. His powers are indisputable, his advice is reliable, his information clear, concise, and to the point in love, courtship, marriage, divorce suits, wills, patents, journeys, pensions, investments, speculation, property, insurance, mortgages, etc.
WITHOUT ASKING A QUESTION,
without any previous knowledge, and having no natural means of knowing who you are, whence or for what you came, he tells your name, age, occupation, where you live, the number of your house, and the street you live on. He tells you names of your friends and enemies, who is true and who is false. Tells whom and when you will marry, giving names, dates, facts, and localities, taking no fee in advance, accepting none unless satisfaction is given.
SPECULATION AND INVESTMENTS.
His advice is much sought for by those contemplating investing and speculating. The dollar properly invested today has seldom failed to make the poor man rich.
WHEN AND WHERE OTHERS FAIL.
I never fail to teach how to fascinate any one you desire, how to make your enemies your friends, cause a speedy marriage with the one of your choice, give you good luck, remove evil influences, reunite the separated, give lucky numbers, locate the earth's buried treasures, settle the old estates that time has placed beyond the lawyer's shrewdness, make you successful in your business, and positively complete your business in 29 days.
READINGS
By mail just as good as if you called at the offices. Readings reduced to $1 for 7 days. Hours, 10 to 8 daily; Sundays, 11 to 6. Office and reception rooms, 329—MICHIGAN-AV.—329,
Opposite Illinois Central Depot.

OLD LOCAL OPTION LAW DUG UP FROM OBLIVION.

Cicero Town Ordinance Requiring Saloonkeepers to Have Petitions of Residents Now to Be Enforced.

The local option ordinance passed in the old town of Cicero in 1880, and which affects the district between North avenue and Thirty-ninth street, and Fortieth and Forty-eighth avenues, has been resurrected, and all the saloonkeepers doing business in that district will now be forced to obtain the petitions which they failed to obtain before getting their licenses.

The ordinance provides that no saloon shall be licensed until a petition shall have been presented bearing the signatures of more than one-half the voters within a half mile of the saloon on either side. Practically no attention has been paid to this measure, and the result is that more than 200 saloons paying the city more than $100,000 a year, have started within the limits prescribed and without the petition.

A few days ago Selver & Miller applied for a license for a saloon at Lake street and Forty-second avenue. The Garfield Park Protective association and the Citizens' league took up the case with the result that the old ordinance was dug out of oblivion. There is little doubt that the new saloon firm will be able to get the petition.

The ordinance provides that these licenses shall not be transferable, and those that have been sold will be declared void. This will be done by the advice of the corporation counsel.

FIGHT ON TELEPHONE COMPANY

Another Lawyer Installs Independent Service and Obtains an Injunction Against Interference.

Another step has been taken in the fight against the Chicago Telephone company's rates for switchboard service, started last December by Beach & Beach and other firms of attorneys occupying offices in the Ashland block. Their example has been followed by Charles A. Brown, a patent lawyer, with offices in the Monadnock building, who has installed an independent service connected with a Chicago Telephone company instrument, and yesterday secured an injunction from Judge Tuley restraining the company from cutting off his service, as, he states, it was threatened to do. In the bill of complaint it is set forth that the company has violated its charter rights.

When the complainant applied for a system comprising six instruments he was made a proposition by the company embodying the following terms: Annual rental for one switchboard, $72; annual rental of two trunk lines, $72; annual rental of six telephones, $72; total, $216. In addition to this, there was to be a charge of 3 cents for each outgoing call.

The company, the attorneys state, will not rent a line on which an independent system is to be connected, and Brown put in the same system employed by Beach & Beach in their offices, connecting with the Chicago Telephone company's wire, for which a yearly rental of $125 is paid. For the new system of instruments the attorney paid $105, buying it outright.

NORMAL PARK PASTOR WEDS.

Dr. J. A. Rondthaler Marries a Member of His Congregation, Mrs. Lanford, at Richmond, Ind.

Dr. J. A. Rondthaler, pastor of the Normal Park Presbyterian church, last Tuesday evening married Mrs. Adda Lanford, a member of his congregation, at the residence of Mrs. Lanford's parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. Benham, in Richmond, Ind. Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler are expected to return the last of the week. The bride has resided at 6521 Yale avenue for several years. She came here soon after the death of her husband, R. Holland Lanford, in Richmond, Ind. Dr. Rondthaler formerly was pastor of the Fullerton Avenue Presbyterian church.

Wrong Medicine Causes Death.

A coroner's jury yesterday found that the death of Frances Jacobowski, 3 years old, 1868 Iowa street, was caused by morphine accidentally given. The baby was ill with its mother and a physician prescribed for both. The medicines were mixed.

The executive committee of the Chicago Underwriters' association yesterday took radical action toward securing an expert investigation of the Chicago fire department. The association has had a fire department committee, which recently reported it could secure no satisfaction from Chief Musham, and Mayor Harrison was not inclined to be serious in his relations with the committee. The underwriters feel they should have some voice in the fire department owing to the immense interests they have in the city and the amount they contribute to the fire department—2 per cent of the gross premiums, aside from the property tax and the maintenance of the insurance patrol system.

The insurance men desire a larger appropriation for the department, more men, a new chief, and more equipment. They have reached the conclusion that they cannot secure these by dealing with the city council finance committee or the city officials. Accordingly, at yesterday's meeting, President E. M. Teall was instructed to invite the national board of underwriters to send experts to Chicago and thoroughly investigate the status of the fire department and the general conditions in the city. If an unfavorable report is made rates at once will be advanced to meet the situation and a "pink slip" will be attached to every policy stating that the increase in rate is due to an inferior fire department. This will serve to call the attention of the citizens to the needs in this direction.

Manager H. H. Glidden and Inspector F. J. Stewart of the Chicago Underwriters' association yesterday left for Baltimore to meet officials and experts from local boards of St. Louis, Boston, New York, and Philadelphia to investigate the conflagration, especially as to its results on fireproof and sprinkled risks, the origin from a gasoline engine and tank explosion, and the general course of the fire. Experts from many other underwriting, rating, and inspection associations have been ordered to Baltimore to secure data. A general report will be made in order to guide companies in future underwriting judgment.

The fire insurance patrol committee has requested members to cease calling up the patrol houses to ascertain the amount of loss on fires. The committee says this practice interferes with the efficiency of the patrol system, as it may prevent or delay notices of fires coming in over the telephone.

The Royal Exchange has opened its new Chicago branch office and Illinois general agency in room 304 National Life building, under Manager J. E. Hendry. Fred L. Johnson, during many years with W. E. Rollo & Son, has been appointed Illinois and Cook county special agent.

No further information has been received from the Baltimore fire companies concerning their losses. Agents still are canceling policies and endeavoring to protect their customers. They are solicitous as to the payment of return premiums. The Royal has cabled from its home office that it will pay its losses, amounting to $1,000,000, direct from the home office, and not draw on its American funds. The Phœnix of England also will pay from the home office. The Royal Exchange has cabled $350,000 to its bankers to pay Baltimore losses. The North British and Mercantile yesterday received word from the home office that it desired all its Baltimore losses, amounting to $1,000,000, to be paid by draft on England, in order to keep its United States funds intact.

General Agent Pohlman of the Firemen's of Baltimore wired at the close of business last evening from Cincinnati that the company's home office building is only partly destroyed. Temporary quarters have been established at 143 North Gay street. He says reports of its losses have been greatly exaggerated.

Jameson & Frelinghuysen report the following losses for their companies, except the Globe and Rutgers: Insurance Underwriters of the Spring Garden, $25,000; Stuyvesant, $25,000; Pacific, $25,000; National of New Jersey, $15,000.

Hall & Henshaw have received word that the Union of London has cabled $250,000 to meet Baltimore losses.

Klee, Rogers & Cory have been informed that the Georgia Home had $70,000 losses in the fire.

J. L. Chapman of the Merchants' Loan and Trust company has resigned as vice president of the Mutual Life of Illinois.

H. R. Manchester has been elected president of the Cleveland board. W. B. Maxon becomes vice president and M. C. Willis secretary.

TO PROTECT POLICY HOLDERS.

Business of the Peabody Fire of Baltimore Will Be Reinsured by the Home of New York.

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The business of the Peabody Fire Insurance company of Baltimore, which was hard hit by the conflagration, will be reinsured by the Home of New York. This deal, it is understood, will enable the Peabody to protect all its policy holders.

Below is presented the revised amounts for the various fire insurance companies whose estimates have been given, also reports from various companies not heard from previously by the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin:

At a meeting of the New York Fire Insurance exchange the appeal of the Hanover Fire Insurance company from the decision of the arbitration committee in the Forbes case was considered. The committee had ruled that the Hanover should cancel the appointment of W. R. Forbes as branch manager. The exchange sustained the committee, which reported through Chairman Harold Herrick that the appointment was not in accord with the practice and spirit of the agreement of the New York Fire Insurance exchange. President Charles A. Shaw of the Hanover Fire said he would determine whether the company would withdraw from the exchange. Regarding the matter, Mr. Shaw made the following statement to the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin tonight:

"It is an absolutely unjust decision, but I feel before coming to a definite conclusion, I should confer with the finance committee of the company. If the contingency had arisen at any other time than this, the Hanover would immediately withdraw from the New York Fire Insurance exchange without regard to its possible disruption. It is on the committee's construction of the spirit of the agreement that it prevents a branch manager soliciting risks which are located in his territory, but are controlled by a broker outside of it. Our position is that the risk itself, being in his field, he may solicit it wherever he thinks advisable."

The North British and Mercantile had also made an appeal, but it sent a letter stating it was not prepared to appear, and asked that its case be postponed, which was done.

Some underwriters think the time ripe for a company board in Baltimore, like the one in Philadelphia. The present Baltimore organization is composed of agents who have opposed the wishes of the companies in various matters.

At a meeting of the Connecticut Life Underwriters' association at Hartford, an entirely new board of officers was chosen as follows:

President—George W. Staples, Hartford, agent of the New York Life.

Vice presidents—F. X. Willson Rogers, Hartford, general agent Massachusetts Mutual Life; Eli D. Weeks of Litchfield, agent Phœnix Mutual Life.

Secretary and treasurer—W. Miller Scott of Hartford, general agent of the Provident Life and Trust company, Philadelphia.

Executive committee—L. Cary Stayton of New Haven, chairman, general agent for the Pennsylvania Mutual Life; Benjamin L. Lewis, Hartford, assistant superintendent agencies Connecticut General Life; Rodney Kellogg, Hartford, general agent Washington Life, New York; James P. Campbell, New Haven, district manager Mutual Benefit Life of New Jersey; Martin C. Hillery of Hartford, manager of the Mutual Life of New York.

Directors of the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance company have elected Francis B. Allen first vice president, to succeed the late Gen. Franklin. Mr. Allen has been second vice president of the company for the last nineteen years, having been elected to that position in 1885. His connection with the company began in 1872, when he was made special agent of the New York department. In 1882 he was appointed supervisor of the agency department. In 1885 Allen was promoted to second vice president. Directors did not fill the place of president, made vacant through the death of President J. M. Allen nor that of second vice president, vacated by the promotion of Mr. Allen.

John M. Parker Jr. has been elected assistant secretary of the accident liability department of the Ætna Life.

ASKS FOR BALTIMORE LOSSES.

Supt. Hendricks of New York Department Sends Notices to Companies.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks today caused to be sent to every fire insurance company in the state of New York and every foreign insurance company a request for an estimate in each case of the company's loss due to the Baltimore fire. This information is desired by the department that it may be in a position to advise other state departments as to the conditions of New York state companies and foreign companies having United States branches. Within a few days Supt. Hendricks will have sent to every fire insurance company operating in this state a special statement for the purpose of obtaining from each company a sworn statement of its Baltimore losses.

NEBRASKA LAW IS ATTACKED.

Another Suit Filed to Test Validity of Act Taxing Gross Premiums of Companies.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Another suit to test the validity of Nebraska's new insurance law was begun in the Supreme court today by the Northwestern Life of Milwaukee, which asks for an injunction restraining the city treasurer of Omaha from collecting a 12 mill levy on its gross premiums for 1902. The company in its petition recites it has already paid 2 per cent tax to the state treasurer, thereby discharging all its obligations. The city tax is declared in conflict with the state law or else the latter is faulty. The company claims it has reason to fear coercive measures.

Surplus Division Suit on Trial.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The case of the Equitable Life Assurance company of New York against Insurance Commissioner Zeno M. Host, who would compel a division of its surplus among policy holders, was begun in the Circuit court here this morning before Judge Dunwiddie of Janesville. The only witness called was J. E. Van Cise of New York, actuary of the company. Counsel for the plaintiff is Winkler, Flanders, Smith, Bottom, and Vilas of Milwaukee, Alexander & Colby of New York, and H. W. Chynoweth of Madison. Attorney General Sturdevant of Madison and State Senator Julius E. Roehr of Milwaukee are attorneys for the defense. After the examination of witnesses, which will consume several days, arguments will be made by attorneys and briefs submitted.

MUST LEARN TO SAVE.

Lewis Bierman of St. Louis, who began life with nothing, by hard work, good business ability, and sound principles of economy rose to be president of a prominent real estate company. He died the other day and left an estate of $500,000. In his will he stipulated that his son should be paid $1,000 at the expiration of the trust formed by the will, but that the amount may be increased to $20,000.

It is evident from the wording of the will that Mr. Bierman was much dissatisfied with his son's extravagances, that he was tired of advancing money to him, and that he did not propose to trust him with as large a sum as $20,000 unless his habits showed some improvement. The thrifty German provides that the trustees may increase the bequest from $1,000 to $20,000 if they have good reason to believe the son will make good use of it and not squander it. As a test of this he suggests that they make the increased payment "conditional upon his having been able in good faith to save out of his salary and deposit each month with the Mercantile Trust company at least $10, which shall remain on deposit until the final distribution and not subject to garnishment or attachment proceedings on account of extravagances."

This seems to be a wise and practical test of the stuff the young man is made of. If he cannot overcome his extravagances his deposits with the trust company will show it, and at the expiration of the trust he will have $1,000, which it will not take him long to run through. If, on the other hand, he makes good the deposit condition he will have the $20,000 plus his little hoard in the bank with interest, and in the meantime saving may have become a habit. The outcome, at least, will show whether he is a hopeless spendthrift or a man who has learned a useful lesson in economy. It may be a hard lesson for one given over to extravagance, but it is a useful one which might be applied in the case of many another son who has not learned to save.

CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM.

Politics and science will not lie down together.

Meyer left the Kankakee State Hospital for the Insane and took charge of the New York State Pathological Laboratory.

These have been the losses of only one of our state institutions during the present era of treasons, stratagems, and spoils. Few medical experts will long submit to interference, insecurity, and assessments. We have our choice between scientists and politicians. Which shall we take?

> We believe that the opening of the next legislature should be the signal for the appointment by the governor of a commission of physicians to which might be added representative laymen. It should be the duty of this commission to make an immediate and thorough inquiry into the best methods of administering the medical and business concerns of the state charities and to report a plan to the governor and the legislature.

We of Cook county know that the improvement in our county institutions dates from the appointment of a similar commission of local physicians and of local laymen.

A state commission would find many interesting things. It would find that the last twelve years have thrice set the table of luscious spoils for victorious partisans. In 1892 the democrats, lean and ravenous, returned to Springfield after long exile. They soon grew plump and round. The state institutions were filled with democratic trustees, democratic superintendents, and democratic janitors. In 1896 the republicans reappeared. They were not so used to abstinence as the democrats. Four years away from the public crib had given them an appetite quite equal to that which the democrats had spent thirty years in acquiring. The state institutions were at once put in the charge of the friends of republican politicians. In 1900 the table of spoils was laid and garnished for the third time. Not so many resignations were demanded as in 1896, but the feeling of insecurity among state appointees was just as intense. As long as this feeling exists we may expect to see our state institutions supplying other similar institutions with the expert medical skill which we have developed at our own expense.

The period from 1892 to 1904 is a period at which whatever righteousness there is in Illinois points the finger. That is the only kind of pointing that can be done. "Pointing with pride" is out of the question. The policy of that period should not be carried out except on a stretcher. The present candidates for governor have a big interrogation craning its neck at them.

Will you, if elected, inaugurate an investigation of the state institutions and expedite the introduction of a civil service system?

"A GREAT AND GOOD FRIEND."

China has a good friend in Secretary Hay. He it was who first spoke out at the time of the boxer troubles for the maintenance of the territorial integrity of China and induced the great powers to assent to his suggestion. If it had not been made and acted on, China probably would have been parceled out among European nations.

Mr. Hay again comes to the relief of the Celestial empire by asking the neutral powers to unite with this country in insuring the integrity of the Chinese empire and in securing from both belligerents, if possible, an agreement defining the limits of the ring within which they will fight out their battle. It is the ardent wish of Secretary Hay to "localize the hostilities," and thus to save from the miseries of war regions which might otherwise be devastated. There are enough square miles of territory in Corea and eastern Manchuria for all the armies of the world to wage war in.

The neutral powers again follow the lead of the United States. Informal assurances have been received from most of them that they concur heartily in the suggestions of the secretary of state. Neither Russia nor Japan can properly take umbrage. It is the right of nations not parties to a war, while strictly neutral between the combatants, to adopt all legitimate measures to hinder the spreading of the area of conflict.

The prime condition of the success of the pacific measures which the United States has initiated is that the Chinese government shall remain neutral. The indications are that it wishes to be neutral. It can have no love for Russia, which occupies Manchuria. It can have none for Japan. If China were to take sides with either, the forces of the other might appear in Pekin and the empress dowager would have to fly again to the interior.

The Chinese government should consider Secretary Hay's suggestions a life preserver thrown to it at a critical moment and feel itself under profound obligations to the government which has taken the initiative in its behalf.

It is to be hoped that Secretary Hay's plan to preserve the integrity of China, lessen the horrors of war, and protect American trade—a plan which has the full approval of President Roosevelt—will not be the subject of unfriendly comment by senators who can find nothing to praise in the management of foreign affairs by the administration. It may be that there are senators who will regret that the United States has taken so prominent and commanding a position in the matter, or that it has joined hands with other nations even for the best of purposes.

SCIENTIFIC CURIOSITY.

The financiers and the men in commerce have dreaded war between Russia and Japan. If they were the rulers of nations there would be none. Naval officers in this and in other countries have no objection to war, not because they are bloodthirsty but because they are filled with scientific curiosity as to how the modern warships will stand the battering of modern ordnance and the attacks of torpedo boats. One may theorize on the subject unendingly, but the problem will not be solved until fleet meets fleet in deadly earnest. Naval contractors would like information. Governments which have put hundreds of millions of dollars into floating fortresses of undetermined efficiency would like information if they can have it at the expense of others.

For decades the great powers have been constructing armored vessels and adding to their size, speed, and thickness of armor and the power of their guns, but there have been what navymen would call a provokingly small number of opportunities to find what account these engines of destruction can give of themselves in actual conflict. The Chinese and Japanese fleets had an encounter, but that was a one sided affair. The Spanish vessels under Cervera were disposed of summarily by the American ships at Santiago, but in accuracy of firing and in some other essential points the American sailors were far superior to those who manned the Spanish ships. It is the impression that when Russians and Japanese meet conditions will be more nearly equal than when Chinese encountered Japanese or when Spaniards and Americans fought.

Navymen will be disappointed if there is not an engagement on a grand scale between the Russian and the Japanese fleets. It may be the end of many vessels and many brave men, but it will furnish information which can be got in no other way.

TWO LESSONS OF THE BALTIMORE FIRE.

The recent Baltimore fire has two important lessons for other cities. The reports indicate that the firemen in the earlier stages of the conflagration were continually and seriously hindered by overhead electric wires, of which there was a perfect network in that city. The Washington Star intimates that no steps had been taken to remove any of them "on account of the close relation between a political machine and the electricity producing and using corporation." Whether this be true or not, Baltimore had taken no steps towards making itself wireless above ground. The innumerable wires in its streets prevented effective work on the part of the firemen in getting at the fire, endangered lives of spectators, and particularly of firemen, who were obliged to be among the live wires for some time, as the power plants continued generating electricity after the wires had fallen. Baltimore, however, is not alone in this regard, although it was greatly exposed because of its past neglect. Other cities are in similar condition in their business districts, and should they be visited by a dangerous conflagration overhead wires will add to the danger. Bury the conductors is one lesson of the Baltimore fire. That city will have the opportunity when rebuilding begins.

Another lesson of the fire is the necessity for similar conditions of fire service in various cities. Baltimore had to call upon neighboring cities for miles around, even as far distant as New York, for help. It is so in the case of every great fire. Chicago had to do it in 1871 and Boston a little later. The Philadelphia Press says that when the engines from that city, as well as from some other places, arrived the firemen were seriously handicapped because the Baltimore fire plugs were of a different measure from their hose connections. To what extent this may have added to the destruction is not known, but it is easy to conceive of conditions under which it might have been of serious disadvantage. It is not necessary that fire apparatus all over the United States should be constructed after the same pattern and measurements, but this incident does teach the lesson that the fire plugs in all cities should be made adaptable to the engines of other cities which may be called upon in an emergency. These are comparatively simple matters, but sometimes little simple precautions prevent great disasters.

JOHN A. ROCHE.

John A. Roche died suddenly yesterday while yet in the prime of life, but not before he had attained a high position in Chicago as a man of business and as administrator of municipal affairs. Seventeen years ago, after the elder Harrison had temporarily withdrawn from politics, Mr. Roche, then known as a rising business man, was picked out by the republicans as their candidate for mayor and was elected by a great majority. He gave the city an efficient and irreproachable administration. He showed that gambling could be suppressed and that politics could be kept out of the police department. All branches of the municipal service were well managed.

Mr. Roche had made so admirable a record that his party renominated him, confident that he could be elected. But Chicagoans showed that they were tired of a clean administration. The democrats nominated Cregier and imported George Francis Train to make speeches for him. Mr. Roche was beaten. That ended active political life for him. He had learned fully its uncertainties. He returned with pleasure to the activities of private life and with abundant rewards. He did not give up all his time to business. Some of it he reserved for the promotion of civic reform. His advice and aid were often solicited by those who knew the extent of his information and the soundness of his views.

Mr. Roche was a good citizen. It was a misfortune for Chicago that the voters did not appreciate him at his true worth fifteen years ago.

A VERSATILE VERBALIST.

Those were choice, hothouse, extra fancy words that James H. Eckels brought down from the shelves of his mind night before last and exhibited to the National Association of Merchants and Travelers.

"It is not easy of solution to have complete purity of government in a city of 2,000,000 inhabitants."

"How can you expect good things when citizenship exhausts itself at the ballot box?"

Lest, however, it should be supposed that he had only one line of words in stock, Mr. Eckels had sent a few of a totally different kind to the government at Washington.

"I have known T. N. Jamieson personally a number of years and I am certain he will make an excellent officer."

Patronize James H. Eckels, the verbalist! Words of all kinds furnished at short notice! Lamentations over the impurity of public life! Recommendations of "queer" men for public positions! Most completely stocked verbal hothouse in town! All words subjected to a patent compressed hot air treatment! Warranted then to bloom in any color the customer may desire!

And what sweet perfumes of truth those words exhale! How true it is that it is "not easy of solution to have complete purity of government in a city of 2,000,000 inhabitants" when so many of those inhabitants, themselves spotless, are not afraid of contracting spots from association with spotted politicians! How true it is that citizenship exhausts itself at the ballot box when it is subsequently observed to fall limply into the arms of its worst enemies!

THE TRIBUNE'S advice to Mr. Eckels would be that he should, even at the risk of losing his reputation for versatility, blow either hot always or cold always. These alternations between hot and cold produce a tepidity which, in accordance with the precedent set in the book of Revelations, the public cannot help spewing out of its mouth.

ANYHOW, February is giving us a lot of other things to talk about, besides its beastly weather.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Things That Went Wrong.

CURIOUS EXPERIENCE OF MR. AMES.

Mr. Bartholomew Ames, senior member of the firm of Ames & Gumbert, dealers in builders' hardware, was sitting at his desk the other morning when a seedy looking man smelling strongly of whisky entered.

"This is Mr. Ames, isn't it?" said the stranger.

"Yes, sir."

"I used to know you when you lived in Lexington, Ky. My name is Bardwell—Hosea Bardwell. Remember me?"

Mr. Ames was able to recall that he had been slightly acquainted with a man of that name many years ago.

"I shouldn't have bothered you during business hours," said the caller, becoming confidential, "but I find myself rather short of cash, on account of some remittances failing to arrive, and——"

"Well, the fact is——"

"O, I don't want to borrow any money. I only want you to cash a little check for me. You can do that, I reckon, for the sake of old times in Kentucky?"

"How much is it?"

"Only $10. I wouldn't ask a stranger to do it, you know, because that's an old game, and besides, the chances are ten to one he wouldn't do it. It's blamed awkward to have to impose on one's friends in this way, but when a fellow gets hard up——"

His seedy friend took out his pocketbook, extracted therefrom a soiled and disreputable looking slip of paper, wrote his name on the back of it, and handed it over.

The cool assurance of the thing was too much for Mr. Ames. Without a word he took the check and gave a new $10 bill in exchange for it.

Mr. Hosea Bardwell's profuse gratitude was harder to bear than his assurance.

He shook the merchant warmly by the hand, vowed eternal friendship, invited him to come and see him if he ever visited Lexington again, and went away.

WHAT HAPPENED TO CUPPLES.

As showing the value of forethought and promptness in an emergency the case of Mr. Cupples, a west side shoemaker, may be worth narrating.

While he was soundly sleeping one night last week his eldest daughter came shrieking into his room and awoke him. A fire had broken out in the back attic, presumably from a defective flue.

Mr. Cupples instantly jumped out of bed.

Without the loss of a moment's time he seized a big water pitcher that always stood by his bedside and rushed into the attic.

The flames had eaten a hole through the floor and were rapidly mounting.

He saw that with one dash of water he could put the fire out.

But the pitcher, by an unlucky chance, was empty.

The fire department, however, succeeded in saving the building, and the loss did not exceed $150.

Then the War Began.

Epithets they bandied
 Forth and back,
And the samovar called
 The teapot black.

Natural Resentment.

The Rev. Dr. Fourthly was reading the morning lesson.

"'Doth not even nature itself teach you,' he said, 'that if a man have long hair it is a shame unto him?'"

Whereupon Cactus Bill, who happened to be in town that day, and had gone to church for the first time in twenty-five years, fingered his revolver ominously, but thought better of it, and avenged himself by withholding the $5 gold piece he had intended to drop into the basket when it came around.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1904: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

IN the service of the czar every civilian official possesses a military title. The ranks are assimilated. Thus a titular privy councilor is regarded as having a grade equivalent to that of major general, even though he has never done an hour's military service in his life, and I dare say there are some who may remember a distinguished Russian dignitary who was in this country at the time of the nation's centennial in 1876, making a long stay at Philadelphia. He was not a soldier, but a university professor, who by reason of his learning had been given the titular rank of privy councilor. He was about the most unmilitary looking man that it is possible to conceive, a kindly, good humored, bespectacled face, denoting the scientist and the bon vivant, surmounting a body of such a colossal girth as to preclude all ideas of his being a dashing warrior. Yet this emeritus professor of the University of St. Petersburg bore on his visiting cards an intimation that he was "Maj. Gen. Modeste Kitary," while on all possible and impossible occasions he would appear in the uniform of a major general. So it is with nearly every grade in the Russian service, the lower officials being assimilated to lieutenants and captains, majors and lieutenant colonels, while all above a certain rank are titular generals and have the right of wearing a military uniform as such.

I am led to make this remark by the discussion which has arisen in connection with the proposal to confer the rank of major general upon an eminent physician, Dr. Ainsworth, at present chief of the record and pension office at Washington, and whose only military service has been about six years spent as a regimental surgeon.

In Turkey and in Egypt much the same state of affairs prevails as in Russia, the grade of bey in the civil service being equivalent to that of major or colonel, while that of pasha is assimilated to the rank of general. But in no other country in the old world are wholly military titles accorded to purely civilian officials, although there are tables assigning the relative precedence to civilian and to army and navy officers.

Of course, not merely the army surgeon but even the military vet has been given a semi-military title. But the utmost care is taken to emphasize the fact that they are not professional soldiers. Thus they are styled surgeon lieutenants, surgeon majors, surgeon colonels, and surgeon generals, and stress is invariably laid on the fact that they belong to the noncombatant portion of the army. So strictly, indeed, is the line drawn, even in Russia, between the combatant and noncombatant that it is impossible to conceive one of the latter, even if enjoying the grade of general of the highest rank, being assigned to any military command not connected with his particular profession.

Would it not be well, in view of the proposal to make Dr. Ainsworth a major general for his valuable services as chief of the record and pension office at Washington, to introduce the Muscovite plan? It would save much bad blood, especially in army circles, if it were to be known that Dr. Ainsworth's major generalship were only of the nature of that borne by my friend Gen. Modeste Kitary, that it was decorative and honorary rather than actual, and would in no way interfere with the ordinary progress of regular military promotion in the army.

I am sometimes asked to give an idea of the annual income of the czar, who is described as the richest sovereign in Europe, his court being assuredly the most magnificent and extravagant. It is difficult to give any precise reply, for his private estates are so colossal, embracing as they do a large percentage of the total area of the empire, and his mines of every description both developed and undeveloped are so incalculably rich that it is impossible to convey any idea of his income derived from his own personal estates, and from the "domaine privee" or property of the imperial house of which he has absolute control.

I can only state that last year $9,300,000 were drawn from the national treasury under the head of "civil list" for the expenses of the court and the imperial household. Inasmuch as the whole of the national revenue of Russia belongs theoretically to the czar, he deserves considerable credit for having contented himself with so little.

If any of my readers happen to want to shoot an okapi, that queer animal, half zebra, half giraffe, discovered a few years ago in the depths of the Congo forests by Sir Harry Johnstone, formerly high commissioner for British East Africa, they will have to get a permit from King Leopold in person, who in nine cases out of ten will refuse the application, no matter whether it be presented by a sportsman or by a scientist in search of specimens for a natural history museum. The okapi is so rare an animal, constituting, it is believed, a survival of prehistoric animal times, that it is strictly preserved by orders of King Leopold throughout the Congo Free State, the killing or capturing of one being punishable by heavy fines and long imprisonment.

Indeed, it is only with the utmost difficulty that Baron Maurice Rothschild, who has just started with an expedition which he has organized for exploring the regions between Abyssinia, Lake Rudolph, and thence to Uganda, the mountains of the Moon and the Congo forest, obtained from the king a permit over his own hand and seal to shoot three specimens of the okapi, two of which are destined for museums. This is considered as an altogether exceptional privilege, which could not have been obtained had it not been for the influence exercised with the king by Baron Lambert, the representative in Belgium of the house of Rothschild, and son-in-law of Baron Alphonse Rothschild, the chief of the great banking firm at Paris.

Lord Barrymore, whose American stepdaughter, Miss Post, and whose sister-in-law, Mrs. Adair, are now in this country, and who is himself just recovering from a severe carriage accident, which prevented him from spending the winter in the United States as he had intended to do, enjoys the questionable distinction of having on one memorable occasion bowled over his sovereign.

Fortunately it was away back in the early '70s, when King Edward was much more lithe and vigorous than he is today. Lord Barrymore, then Mr. Smith Barry, member of parliament for Cork, was riding in Rotten Row at too rapid a gallop, when suddenly he cannoned against his future king with such force that the royal horse was bowled over, the heir apparent himself being fortunate enough to fall clear of his mount. That the prince was angry conveys but a faint idea of the outburst of indignation to which the member for Cork was subjected, and popular sympathy was all with Queen Victoria's first born in the matter, as the reckless riders in the row have always been regarded as an unmitigated nuisance, and not merely that, but also a danger to the other riders. Indeed, the mishap led to the production of a number of topical songs wholly uncomplimentary to Mr. Smith Barry in the music halls.

That the king, however, bears him no grudge today is shown by the fact he conferred upon him about two years ago the title of Lord Barrymore, which formerly belonged to his family. He owns all the Barrymore estates in southern Ireland, and would long ago have established his claim to the ancient peerage of Barrymore, which was in existence long before it was recognized by King Henry VII. in 1489, had it not been for the absence of an all important marriage certificate, which was indispensable to prove the legitimacy of his descent. As it is, the old Barrymore earldom has been extinct since the death in Paris in 1823 of the sixteenth earl of Barrymore, the last of three brothers who successively held the family honors.

That Jamieson Appointment.

Chicago, Feb. 10, 1904.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your editorials of Feb. 9 and 10 anent the appointment of that "old sea dog," "Doc Jamieson," as naval officer at Chicago, hit the nail fair and square.

Notwithstanding Hopkins' record as a civil service champion, his recent political conduct stamps him for what he is now—a spoilsman—that and nothing more. What do the people of Chicago think of the president appealing to "that great merchant," John M. Smyth, for a recommendation for the nimble little doctor!

There is a deal of satirical humor in this, of which the president presumably is all unconscious. This appointment, which outrages the best sentiment of this community, is not in line with the president's former conduct in such matters. It is unfortunate for us and for the president as well. It would seem that in this instance he has descended markedly from his former high estate; impelled thereto, unconsciously perhaps, by his own ambitions. In truth, it is a spectacle "to make the judicious grieve" much for Chicago, but more for Theodore Roosevelt.

JOHN MILTON OLIVER.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

A Leap Year Valentine.

Is it from Bess, or Jane, or Rose,
 From Lillian, Prue—that prim coquette!
From Alice? Who do you suppose
 Sent me this thing my mind to fret?
 I've read it many times, and yet
I find no clew nor hidden sign
 To tell me who my peace upset
With: "Will you be my valentine?"

The wording very plainly shows
 Affection; this "My heart's to let"
Would indicate a dearth of beaux—
 Is it from Mabel or Jeannette,
 From fair Louise or dark Babette?
I've traced it slowly, line on line—
 This is the puzzle I have met:
"O, will you be my valentine?"

The penmanship is much like Flo's,
 Also like that of arch Lizette.
O, woman! What a world of woes
 You loose in leap year to beset
 Poor man—his marvelings to whet—
Such as this card, where hearts entwine
 In wreaths about an amulet
Of "Will you be my valentine?"

L'ENVOI:

Girls, I am not an anchoret!
 Fain would I say: "I will be thine."
Show me to whom I owe the debt
 And I will be her valentine.

LATEST PARIS BOOK GOSSIP.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—Every one remembers George Ohnet's last powerful book, "LE MARCHAND DE POISON," which I have already described to THE TRIBUNE readers, a strong appeal against the growing vice of France, which is sapping the physical and moral vitality out the French people—alcoholism.

In the "Poison Merchant," as the translated title runs, Ohnet paints the terrible consequences of the sweetened liquor habit, the deadliest of all, for the alcohol is so skillfully masked in a sweet sirup that it is far more tempting than in any other form. The hero of the story, Vernier-Marenil, makes a fortune by selling "Royal Vernier" and "L'Abricotine." His products are so deadly that the young men whose duty it is to taste each fresh supply die one after another; his own son finally ends a victim to his father's poison. The book is as gruesome as any of Zola's blackest tales, and made an immense sensation.

Naturally the ire of the liquor manufacturers has been roused, and one of them has pretended that he is indirectly named by the author, and that his "Abricotine," which he invented and owns the sole control of, is held up to the world as poison. As a result of the consequent damage done his trade he has sued Ohnet for a large sum of money.

Some exceedingly interesting pieces of evidence were taken during the course of the case, demonstrating the immense influence an author of popular books wields in France. After the appearance of the "Marchand de Poison" one commercial traveler declared that he could "get no orders for his house." "What a life we have with these book maniacs," he naively added, "who condemn a product they do not know, talking against honest people who are struggling for a living." This was a most unfortunate admission for the plaintiff, for the defendants took immediate advantage of it, and the abricotine manufacturer found himself a defendant instead of a plaintiff. Some one has said that the whole French nation could be moved by a single book, provided it touched the chord of popular sentiment. Ohnet's book, in any case, has been the strongest weapon yet used in the anti-alcoholic campaign. The editors believed it would be a second "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and in Europe their judgment has proved correct, but, strange as it may seem, no English or American publisher was willing to undertake to edit it.

One thousand dollars, the first of the Goncourt academy prizes, has just been handed to John Phillippe Nau for the best volume of the year—"Les Forces Ennemies," an interesting work, a little young in its style, but indicating an author of promise. In private life Nau is plain M. Torquet, and began life as a pilot on an ocean steamer when the "call" to literature prompted him to write "Les Forces Ennemies." The prize is a large one, as the Goncourts intended it should be, so that the author could live for a year on it and write another book. This is, "in every one's opinion," say the academicians, the best plan. Small prizes give no satisfaction whatever to a writer, whereas a good sum of money enables him to live and work.

Comte de Montesquiou has forsaken his hortensias and his pet beetles long enough to write a pretty set of calendar verses which have been used for one of the most successful calendars of the year. Each month has been personified and its graces sung. The first verse, January, runs:

Les bijoux sont la perle et le clair diamant

"January is white and the snow has covered him with snow fur—
His jewels are pearls and diamonds sparkling—

HOW WE GREW.

Austin's "Steps in the Expansion of Our Territory" a Good Book for Americans.

A book crowded with useful facts, and one that every American should know by heart, is Oscar P. Austin's "STEPS IN THE EXPANSION OF OUR TERRITORY," published by D. Appleton & Co. as one of their "Expansion" series. It ought to be read daily by every citizen who thinks his country has already grown too big.

Other volumes of this fine series, issued thus far, have been confined to special subjects, like the Louisiana purchase and the western reserve. In this one, however, the tremendous territorial growth of the United States is dealt with comprehensively. The relation of each new accretion to the others, their final development as states and territories, and their relation to the federal system as a whole, are considered so that the most "set" anti-expansionist ought to feel thrills of pride in reading it.

An attempt to cover such a big subject in less than 250 pages might easily have resulted in a mere catalogue of names and dates, and been excusable. There is no such suggestion in this book, although numerous tables and maps are included in it. There is something fascinating in the way our once juvenile republic has been shedding its clothes for the last 115 years, each time for a larger suit. Its growth looks so constant, when the facts are all grouped together, that it is hard to believe there ever will come a time when the United States will have reached its territorial limits.

Books such as this are good educators in politics. They show how impossible it is for a nation to stand still, and that willingly or not, it is pushed or dragged toward some far off place called manifest destiny. The United States has bought, annexed, or had thrust upon it territory that once belonged to the French, Spanish, Russian, Dutch, Mexican, and Swedish nations, and has assimilated it, little chunks and big ones, just as it assimilates the citizens of those nationalities who come to it. So far the nation has not had an attack of indigestion. At least that is what appears from reading this book.

DO YOU REMEMBER THAT—

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO TODAY:

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY:

Andrew Jackson, president-elect of the United States, arrived at Washington by coach while the electoral vote was being counted in the house of representatives and cannon were being fired in honor of his election.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY:

The English Baltic fleet sailed from Portsmouth in the presence of Queen Victoria, who had come to review it.

FORTY YEARS AGO TODAY:

A bill was introduced in the house at Washington offering loyal slave owners $300 bonus for each of their negroes allowed to enlist in the union army.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY:

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY:

Queen Victoria's book, which her critics described as a tribute to John Brown, her Scotch servant, was issued in London.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY:

The two trials of Dan Coughlin for the alleged murder of Dr. Cronin, just being concluded, were said to have cost Cook county $85,000.

FOR hundreds of years Chinese coasting junks, beating along the Yellow sea in the coastwise trade, had run into the land locked harbor of Lu Shun Kow, down at the extreme southern end of the Liaotung peninsula. All along the shore great gray cliffs ran up straight from the sea to a height which varied from 300 to 1,500 feet. If you came close enough in you could make out a slit in the mountains which gave entrance to a body of water within. This slit was not more than 200 or 300 yards wide. Once you got through the passageway there was a wide stretch of water before you, hemmed in by cliffs on every side. At high tide the water was deep enough for the anchorage of a big ship, but when the tide went out hundreds of acres of mud flats were exposed to view.

In the valleys between the cliffs were built some fifty or sixty miserable mud huts, and in them lived 300 or 400 Chinese coolies. That was the situation up to 1860 in what is now Port Arthur.

In that year three or four ships of the British navy came that way on a surveying expedition. One of these ships was the gunboat Algerine, commanded by Lieut. William Arthur. Lieut. Arthur daringly ran his vessel in between the cliffs which guard the harbor, which was thereupon named Port Arthur in honor of his exploit.

But beyond the name, Port Arthur gained no new fame for another twenty years. In 1881 it was still merely a convenient harbor into which coasting junks could run for safety when great storms swept the seas outside. On the cliffs and in the valleys thereabouts there still lived only a few hundred wretched Chinese coolies.

Then the great Celestial empire began to wake up. Foreign engineers were sent along the coast to pick out a safe harbor which might be fortified and made the chief station for the new and modern navy of China. They settled on Port Arthur, and it was planned to transform the place into an immensely strong and completely fitted naval station. Plans were drawn for great dockyards, workshops, dry docks, refitting basins and foundries, while above them on the commanding cliffs strong fortresses were to be erected. The contracts for all this work were let to French contractors, so that it was France which first among the nations had to do with this Gibraltar of the far east. French contractors, with the aid of swarms of Chinese coolies, working like slaves for 15 cents or 20 cents a day, worked for years on the works in and about Port Arthur. Not until 1891 was the place turned over to China, ready for occupancy as a great naval station.

By that time Port Arthur—its namesake already forgotten—had become a fairly well built town, containing more than 1,000 houses and shops, outside of the government works. It then had a commercial population of 6,000, to say nothing of the Chinese garrison of 7,000 or more soldiers. The forts were mounted with modern guns, and Chinese gunners were trained by German and other foreign experts in the use of the artillery.

In 1894, during the month of November, the victorious Japanese army marched down one of the two narrow passes which lead through the surrounding mountains to the city of Port Arthur, captured the city, and put to the sword many of the inhabitants, noncombatants as well as the members of the garrison. It was a bloody day, though the Japanese officers stopped the slaughter as quickly as was possible.

For a time then Port Arthur was apparently in the permanent possession of the Japanese, until the pressure of the allied powers forced her to give it back to the Chinese in January, 1896. Before they marched out the Japanese destroyed a large part of the Chinese fortifications.

In 1898 Port Arthur was "leased" to Russia, which immediately began to fortify it with the intention of making it the strongest port in the eastern seas. Its importance to Russia is great. Vladivostok, the other great Russian port on the Japan sea, is ice bound a large part of the year. The possession of Port Arthur, gives the navy of the czar a port which is never frozen. Moreover, it is a port which commands the approach to Pekin, the Chinese capital.

Never since the Russian occupancy has there been any cessation of activity in and about Port Arthur. In miserable hovels on the hillsides swarm thousands of coolies, who at a word can be hired for 20 cents a day to do any kind of hard and adventuresome work. Last year a Russian contractor at Port Arthur offered to bet that within a half hour he could hire 10,000 men outside of his regular large force. These regular forces are extremely large and are kept steadily at work, both by land and sea. Any time within the last five or six years one could find in the outer harbor a fleet of from 500 to 1,000 Chinese junks, all loaded with railroad ties, lumber, and other building material. They, of course, are all working for the Russian government.

One important result of the Russian occupancy of Port Arthur has been a tremendous increase in the imports from the United States. During several weeks in 1902 American goods to the value of more than $2,000,000 weekly were landed at Port Arthur and the yearly commerce of the United States with that and the adjacent ports has been estimated at nearly $100,000,000.

But the Russian plan has been from the first to make Port Arthur a purely military and naval center. With that plan in view the Russians several years ago began the construction of the wonderful city of Dalny, thirty miles north and ten miles east of Port Arthur, which they hope to make the commercial capital of the far east. The plan contemplates that all commercial ships shall be barred out of Port Arthur and sent to Dalny and that the former fortress shall be barred to civilians, where, indeed, they are now allowed only on sufferance, property being held on merely temporary leases.

Dalny—or rather the site of the present city—was located on an open roadstead, where the navies of all nations might ride. In order to make there a safe harbor, an immense breakwater, costing millions, was built and is now completed, projecting into the sea for a great distance and including a splendid anchorage. At Dalny, also, great administration buildings were erected and even—that rare thing in the far east—a first class and comfortable hotel.

Eventually, as planned, Dalny is to be the final terminus of the great Siberian railroad by means of which Russia has tied together her widely scattered empire.

Visitors to Port Arthur within the last few years have been vastly impressed by the spirit of boundless energy which prevails there. Life in the fortress city is in great contrast to that in most of the settlements along the Chinese coast. The streets have been thronged with Russian soldiers and with gangs of coolies, all busy on some important errand.

The Russian soldier, as seen at Port Arthur, impresses the visitor as being in deadly earnest. Before them all, from the lowest private in the ranks to the highest officer, shines the hope of winning the little cross of St. George for valor in the face of the enemy. And on the day of St. George the brave men who wear his cross have the honor of breaking bread with the great white czar himself in his palace at St. Petersburg, if they be stationed there, or, if they are quartered at

Port Arthur, they eat breakfast at the table of the czar's viceroy, Admiral Alexieff—and how can greater honor come into the life of one of these wiry Cossacks, wrapped in skins and furs and mounted on a little shaggy pony, even tougher and hardier than his master?

So, strangely, in the passing of the years and in the working out of the policy of the nations, has the little Chinese junk harbor of forty years ago, named by the English, fortified by the French, for the Chinese, won by the Japanese at a great cost of blood and finally leased and turned into a Pacific Gibraltar by the Russians, come to be the center of the world's interest.

NEARLY 200 AT THE COTILLON IN GERMANIA CLUB.

Dancers Do Not Reach the Hall Till After 11 O'Clock—Mrs. W. W. Augur Has Ten Guests at Luncheon—Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Musgrave Give a Dinner—Mrs. Edward Cushing and Miss Cushing to Receive This Afternoon.

Nearly 200 members of Chicago's fashionable set danced in the big ballroom of the Germania club Tuesday night, when the first Tuesday cotillon was given. It was a late dance. The dancers did not reach the hall until after 11 o'clock, as the fore part of the evening was given over to dinners.

The first guests to arrive were the members of Mrs. Harold McCormick's dinner party, numbering eighteen. Mrs. McCormick could not accompany her guests, owing to her illness. Soon after came Mrs. Walter Keith's guests, and then Mrs. Honoré Palmer and those whom she entertained. Mrs. Palmer looked exceedingly well. She was wearing a black lace gown over white, the entire costume being trimmed with strips of narrow black velvet. In her low dressed hair she wore a scroll-like tiara of diamonds. A single string of pearls and a corsage pin of diamonds and emeralds were her other ornaments. Her sisters, Mrs. Stanley Field and Mrs. Walter Keith, were also handsomely gowned, Mrs. Field in black velvet with jets and chiffon, and Mrs. Keith in white messaline, the skirt being made with deep tucks, and the bodice a soft draped affair with chiffon.

Mrs. Joseph Coleman wore an elaborately embroidered gown, trimmed with cut steel sequins. Mrs. Strobel was with her and wore a black gown, which also had glittering spangles. Mrs. Preston Gibson was in white satin, with rare lace, and Mrs. Norman Williams in a beautiful, filmy looking creation of white veiling covered in design with black and silver spangles. Miss Edith Hoyt was another wearing a shimmering gown, all white and silver. Miss Muriel Byram and Miss Marjorie Burns wore the dainty frocks they wore at the bal poudre, somewhat altered but strikingly becoming. They were made alike, with underskirts of silver cloth, garlanded with pink roses and veiled with white tulle. The bodices were made of the silver cloth and trimmed with the rosebuds and tulle. In their hair they each wore wreaths of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Mather Smith, who is still in half mourning, appeared in an all white costume, and in her hair was a wreath of bright green leaves. Mrs. Ogden McClurg wore a filmy dress of white, and Miss Bellas was in light blue satin, white tulle trimming about the neck, and the flowing sleeves being of soft white lace. Miss Pauline Kohlsaat and Miss Katherine Winterbotham each wore pink and Miss Elizabeth Caruthers was in soft white satin covered with cream lace, the skirt having a triple flounce, and the bodice having a short bolero effect of lace caught up to one side of the front.

Mrs. E. S. Adams wore a cream white gown with angel sleeves of white net, which were caught about the elbow with a white cord. Mrs. Harold Howard was in white and Mrs. Kohlsaat in gray. Mrs. Lockwood Honoré was in lavender tints, and Mrs. Bruce Clark in white satin. Miss Kathleen Scudder wore pale blue and Miss Ethel Kerfoot wore a soft frock of white net, with which she wore a wreath of forget me nots and a bunch of the same small flowers at one shoulder. Miss Harriet Smith wore a gown of cream lace over white satin, the skirt made with a knee flounce effect and the bodice having the lace about the corsage caught at the left shoulder with a large red flower, which well became the wearer's dark beauty.

Fruits in February—

Dried fruits come then to the rescue of the house mistress who is too wise to deny her table the delicious and beautiful assistance of daily fruit.

There is much food value in dried fruits, even if it is only half appreciated.

The percentage of nutritive elements in dried apples approaches that of bread, although with some modes of drying the delicate flavor is sometimes partly lost.

To cook dried fruit, let it soak a few hours and it will then need less boiling; then slip it carefully into an aluminium, earthen, granite, or porcelain lined saucepan and cook it in the same water until done, thus keeping it in shape.

It is best not to add the sugar for sweetening until about five minutes before taking it from the stove.

Another good way is to drain the water off when soaked, add sugar to make a sirup, let it boil up, turn in the soaked fruit, and cook till tender. It is credited with the delightful reputation of equaling canned fruit when thus treated.

Coffee—

Is prepared by roasting and grinding the seeds of the coffee tree, which grows in Arabia, East and West Indies, Ceylon, and some other places.

They have little scent or flavor and look something like small dry beans.

During the roasting, which is conducted in iron cylinders revolving over a fire, a fragrant, volatile oil is developed and the seeds swell and become of a rich brown color.

They also become light and pliable, so that they can easily be ground to a powder.

Coffee contains (1) an aromatic essence; (2) caffein, a nerve stimulant; (3) extractives; (4) fat.

The fragrant odor and delicate flavor of coffee depend upon the aromatic essence developed during the process of roasting.

This essence is volatile, and escapes if the coffee is kept long after roasting and grinding, unless inclosed in well fitting tins.

It also escapes if the coffee is boiled in making it, the proper plan being to pour the boiling water on the grounds.

Caffein stimulates the nervous system.

The Hostess of Today—

Is the title of a book by Lina Hall Larned, whose purpose is "to make it possible for the inexperienced to calculate the exact cost of a projected entertainment, how to cook it, and how to serve it.

"Many housekeepers with small incomes wish to gather their friends around their tables, but hesitate to do so because of the incalculable expense of both time and money. This book has been compiled to meet such a difficulty, and to show that guests can be lunched or dined in a dainty or charming manner at a moderate cost and a small expenditure of time.

"Effort has been made to give recipes a little out of the ordinary, such as one may like to place before guests who recognize and appreciate the finer effects of seasoning and serving. Most beginners in housekeeping have been so engrossed with school duties and the business of getting an education that the minor details of serving a meal have escaped their observation. The few hints about serving contained in this little book will, it is hoped, meet this emergency. There is also an attempt to assist the novice in selecting recipes which harmonize." Published by Charles Scribner's Sons, New York.

Furnace Wisdom—

It is well to have a thin bed of clean cinders. On this put several crumpled newspapers and then lay on kindling—about three or four bundles as sold in city stores.

Light this, add a few shovelfuls of nut or stove coal, and keep all the drafts open. When the small coal has ignited add the egg or furnace coal.

When this is well lighted slightly check the chimney draft, but not entirely, and close the other drafts. Allow the gas to burn off for a few minutes, then check the chimney draft and leave the fire for the day.

Keep the fire pit full up to the level of the bottom of the firing door, insuring a layer bed of coal and requiring less attention than a thin fire.

If the furnace be large enough properly to heat the house it will need to be attended to but twice daily, except in the severest weather, when it may be necessary to put on coal at noon.

In the morning the drafts should be all opened for a few minutes after fresh coal has been added and the grate should be shaken till live coals start to come through.

Do not shake the grate too much. Do not let the fire burn up too hot when all the drafts are open.

Check the chimney draft as soon as possible and close it as soon as the gas is burned off.

In an indirect draft furnace this may be done more readily than in a direct draft type, as the main damper may be closed as soon as the fire is started up, and then the air check in the indirect pipe may be opened after the gas is burned off.

The chimney draft should be kept closed as much as possible and the air supply to the furnace should be regulated by the damper in the ash pit door. The smoke pipe should be practically cold.

Except in cold weather it will not be necessary to shake the grate. Coal should be added together with a few cinders, provided they are at hand, and the usual precautions should be observed regarding gas.

In the coldest weather the furnace should be shaken at least twice daily to keep the fire clean and bright.

In mild weather do not let the bed of coal become thin. Keep the level of the top of the fire at the bottom of the fire door and regulate the heat by the depth of the ashes on top of the grate. Do not shake too often, and when the fire is resting on a bed of ashes put on fresh coal and get it ignited before shaking.

Proportions—

BAKING POWDER—For bread use four even teaspoons to one quart flour or one teaspoon to each cup of flour. For cake, made light with eggs, two teaspoons to one quart flour.

BATTERS—Use one scant cup of liquid to each full cup of flour.

BREAD—Use one scant cup liquid to three full cups flour.

CAKE—For plain cake use one saltspoon spice and one teaspoon extract for each loaf of usual size. For sponge cake use one saltspoon of salt and one teaspoon of extract to one ordinary sized loaf.

CREAM OF TARTAR—Use two full teaspoons to one level spoon of soda.

CUSTARDS—Use one teaspoon extract for one quart of custard, and one saltspoon of salt to four cups of milk.

EXTRACT—Use one teaspoon to each loaf of plain or sponge cake, or to one quart of custard.

HERBS—In soup use for flavoring one teaspoon of mixed herbs to each quart of soup.

LIQUIDS—For bread use one scant cup to three full cups flour; for muffins use the same for two full cups flour; for batters use the same for one full cup flour.

PEPPER—Use one saltspoon white pepper to one quart soup stock.

SALT—Use one teaspoon to two quarts flour or to one quart of soup stock. Use one saltspoon to one quart of milk in custards, or to one loaf of sponge cake.

SODA—Use one even teaspoon to two full teaspoons of cream of tartar; use one teaspoon soda to one cup molasses, or two cups sour milk.

SOUP—In soup stock use one tablespoon of each chopped vegetable, one teaspoon of mixed herbs, four cloves, four peppercorns, one teaspoon salt, and one saltspoon white pepper to each quart of stock. For each pound of meat and bone use one quart of water.

YEAST—For each two cups liquid used in bread, etc., take one cup liquid yeast or one-half of a yeast cake; one cup liquid yeast is equal to one-half cake of compressed yeast.

A Perfectly Plain Skirt—

The treatment of the blouse is subtle where hipless figures are in question, the one and only chance of salvation occurring in a short shaped basque, and a permanent disposal of the fullness. While a slight modification of this rule, demanded by washing blouses, is found in a slot for the drawstring being placed in front, in the position required for the slight pouch, the strings subsequently passing through an upright strap of tape at either side. But with every other than a washing blouse, that shaped basque holds the record for neatness and comfort.

On the other hand, for serious school wear, a bodice en suite, with a skirt, spells infinitely better economy than the least ephemeral blouse. A navy serge frock throughout is hard to beat for sense and suitability, for a girl from 10 to 14 years.

As a trimming for juvenile wearers braid is an admirable factor. It is as durable as it is suitably decorative, and of moderate cost withal.

Frying Beefsteak—

To fry, correctly speaking, is to immerse in fat heated to anywhere from 450 degrees to 600 degrees. Hence, it is easy to see that it spoils a beefsteak to fry it. Frying, as understood by the average housekeeper, however, is putting a little butter or oil or lard or roast fat into a frying pan, laying the food to be cooked in it, and placing the pan over the fire, turning the food frequently until it is cooked to her liking. This is not frying, but sautéing, from the French verb (to) sauter, which, translated literally, means to toss or tumble—in this case to turn or toss or tumble in sufficient frying medium to prevent the food from sticking to the frying pan. The pan need not be a frying pan; sautéing can be done in a sauce pan or a roast pan. The object aimed at is to do the cooking over a brisk fire and to keep the food moving either by turning or tumbling.

It does not spoil a beefsteak to cook it in the manner described as sautéing. It will happen frequently that the fire is not in a proper condition to broil over, as it may be too low or not clear enough. Following are directions for cooking beefsteak in a frying pan.

Have a pan large enough to hold the steak without crowding and place it on the fire with a tablespoonful of fresh roast fat in it. As soon as the fat is hot enough to emit a thin blue vapor put in the steak. Keep up the temperature. When the steak has been one minute on one side turn it over. When it has been a minute on the other side turn it again. So doing, we accomplish exactly the same thing that would have been done if the steak had been on a broiler over the fire—the albumen of the surface is coagulated so that the valuable juices are confined in the steak during the remainder of the cooking. The steak will not absorb the fat, which has become an oil admittedly unhealthy. Now, having turned the steak frequently until it is sufficiently cooked, remove it at once to a hot platter, spread over it a tablespoonful of good butter, season with salt and pepper only, and send to table. There is nothing unhealthy in eating a steak prepared like this, and, as far as its taste, it is almost impossible to detect the difference between it and a steak that has been properly broiled.

Hintlets—

To Clean Oilcloth, Tiles, Etc.—Put into a pail of hot water two or three handfuls of salt and wash with a linen rag. It takes off all stains and leaves a beautiful polish.

To Clean Fruit Jars Quickly.—Fill them (almost) with hot soapsuds. Then put into the jars an ounce of carpet tacks and shake vigorously; afterwards rinse well in clean cold water and turn upside down to dry. This is a much quicker method of cleaning than the ordinary one.

To Brighten Mirrors.—These may be rendered brilliant and spotless by rubbing them with tissue paper vigorously for a moment or two.

To Clean Velvet.—Stains may frequently be removed by scraping pipeclay over the marks in the velvet, and then brushing the powder off lightly with a stiff brush. This will restore the bloom and raise the pile as well. Also, to raise the pile when much crushed, make an iron hot, cover it with a damp cloth, and hold the velvet, lining side, over it. The operation cannot be undertaken alone, for while the velvet is being drawn over the hot iron the pile should be whisked with a soft brush. As it is the damp heat which benefits the pile, holding it, lining side, over a basin of boiling steaming water is also effective.

To Remove Red Ink Stains.—Moisten the stains with a mixture of ordinary alcohol and nitric acid. Some colors might not stand such a strong application, so it would be advisable in the first instance to try the preparation upon a loose piece of the material.

PLAN A TOUR FOR AUTOS.

ASSOCIATION MEMBERS TO ADOPT PROJECT TODAY.

Will Have Cross Continent Run to St. Louis, All Clubs on Way to Participate—Officers to Be Elected at Meeting in Coliseum—Largest Afternoon Crowd of the Week Inspects Exhibits—New President for the Manufacturers.

The American Automobile association holds its annual meeting at the Coliseum today, and interest centers in the adoption of plans for the "grand tour" in August.

This is to be a trip from New York to St. Louis, including club runs from every town along the route. The dates will be arranged so that each club will join the procession, which will be a continuous march of automobiles from New York to St. Louis. Cleveland is to be the rallying point where all eastern and southern clubs will meet and go through Chicago and Illinois to St. Louis.

The association will also elect officers, as follows:

President—Harlan W. Whipple.

Vice presidents—John Farson, Chicago; W. H. Hotchkiss, Buffalo; Milbank Johnson of South California.

Treasurer—George Farrington, New Jersey.

Secretary—C. H. Gillette.

Directors—Dr. Julian H. Chase, Rhode Island; A. R. Pardington, Long Island; Samuel H. Valentine, Windsor T. White, Cleveland; Barclay H. Warburton, Philadelphia; Dr. W. E. Milbank, Albany; Eliot C. Lee, Massachusetts.

New President of Manufacturers.

Windsor T. White succeeded M. J. Budlong as president of the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers. Mr. Budlong was elected at the recent meeting of the executive committee in New York, but found that business prevents his giving time to the work. The executive committee accepted the resignation and Mr. White took charge.

After the meeting the doors of the Coliseum were thrown open to the largest afternoon crowd of the week.

Will Start for Cuba in an Auto.

Old Betsy of the Chicago-New York record run was sold during the day to F. L. Hartigan, a contractor, who is shortly to leave for Cuba, making the journey in the automobile as far as possible. The car made 1,177 miles to New York in seventy-six hours.

CHILDREN AID THE CRUSADERS.

Young People's Christian Temperance Union Confident of 100,000 Signers of Ward Option Petition.

From present indications officers of the Young People's Christian Temperance union believe that by the last of the month they will have the necessary 100,000 signatures to the ward option petitions they started out to secure. Children are circulating the petitions and are writing to Miss Eva M. Shontz, president of the organization.

"The work of obtaining signatures now is going on by its own momentum," said Miss Grace Adams, one of the officers, who visited four churches last Sunday, securing several hundred names.

W. J. Earhardt yesterday found 300 persons willing to sign the petition and Otto Olson of the Salvation army secured fifteen signers in a street car.

ONE BIG SHORT COVERS WHEAT.

LIVELY TRADE IN CORN.

Breaks and Bulges Follow Each Other in Bewildering Style; Other Markets.

The rush of events in the war between Russia and Japan had a decidedly enlivening effect on the local wheat market, and shorts in the May delivery manifested growing concern over the awkwardness of their position. There was a heavy covering movement, with offerings light, until there had been an advance of 2c, to the new high point of 97c, around which the supply increased, and there was a slight reaction, the market closing at 96¾c bid, a net gain of 1¾c for the day. Two commission houses which have represented eastern shorts were large buyers, taking possibly 1,000,000 bu, and it was pit gossip that the buying was for a New York operator who had held out until his loss had amounted to 20c a bu, or $200,000 in the aggregate, before deciding to take his medicine. The wheat was sold by commission houses, but it was the general impression in the trade that no one but Armour had so much to sell.

While the May was showing such strength the deferred deliveries were by no means standing still. There was a big trade in July, and at times general buying, both for southwest traders and for local professionals, who are generally bullish, on the theory that the war will enhance values sharply. The July is the favorite among buyers generally, because it is over 8c lower than the May, and there is not supposed to be the danger in buying it of the sudden unloading of any big holding. The market opened 1c higher on the war news and firmer foreign grain markets, sold off 1c promptly on some concentrated pressure, but started up just as sharply on the rumor, which came by way of New York, that Turkey had declared war on Bulgaria. The trade was sure that, if one war would increase values, two wars would have a much more decided effect in that direction, and the July price was rushed up 1⅜c, to 83¼c. It held firmly there for a long time, although, of course, the rumor regarding Turkey was not confirmed.

Late Reaction in Price.

In the last hour, on heavy selling for northwest account and by commission houses, the market slipped off 1c, but rallied a little on buying orders, which were thought to come from Armour, closing at 87⅝c, a net gain of ⅞c, while the September gained 1½c. All other domestic markets were strong, though the advances nowhere else equaled the gains here. Cash prices were strong everywhere, No. 2 red selling here again at $1.00, at 99-½c at Toledo, and at $1.03 at St. Louis. Minneapolis reported a sharp demand from millers, and northwest receipts were light, 227 cars to 388 last year.

The southwest received less wheat than it shipped, and primary points had 520,000 bu, compared with 539,000 bu last year. Clearances were light, only 6,000 brls flour. The seaboard reported export sales of 144,000 bu. Minneapolis stocks decreased 100,000 bu for four days. Consols were 1-16c to 2-16c lower, the Liverpool grain market ½d higher, London up ¾d, to 1½d, Paris ½c to ¾c higher, and Antwerp up 2c. A Liverpool cable reported the continent buying Australian cargoes. Liverpool also reported the strike of vessel loaders in Argentina had been settled.

The promised snowfall for the southwest amounted to traces only, and the weather over that section of the winter wheat belt was cold. The buying of May wheat was led by Wrenn and Barrell. Lichstern had it for sale at times. Trade in July was at times heavy, Wagner, Lohrke, and St. Louis houses were buyers early. The first break was on selling by Ware-Leland and Gifford and the dip from the top prices on selling by Peavey, Kidston, and northwestern houses.

Sharp Changes in Corn.

There was a big trade in corn and some quick and sharp fluctuations, the market moving up or down a cent or so several times with no apparent reason for such uncertainty except the fact that there was at times a general rush to buy and at other times as marked an anxiety to sell. Prices at their best were ⅝c higher and at their worst ⅝@⅞c lower. The close was at the low point of the day. On an opening rally, which carried May up to 55½c, there was selling by Bartlett, Cudahy, Champlin, and local traders. It looked as though the big eastern interests were unloading. On a break of about 1c there was buying by Bartlett and the market moved up again, partly in sympathy with wheat. On this partial reaction there was heavy buying attributed to Armour and buying also by the local trade, but when the commission demand gave out there was a sharp slump, May dropping to 53⅜c and closing there. The cash market did not follow the vagaries of the futures, prices firm to 2c higher, and there were sales of 60,000 bu, most of it to exporters. Iowa reported feeders paying high prices. Receipts were lighter, 217 cars in and 220 estimated. Primary points had 657,000 bu, compared with 795,000 bu last year. Clearances were small, less than 7,000 bu. Liverpool was ⅛@¼d higher for futures and ¼d up for spot. The seaboard reported export sales of 192,000 bu.

Profit Taking in May Oats.

Oats for May delivery held under Tuesday's close throughout the session, except for a short time near the opening, when a gain of ⅛c resulted from the execution of scattered outside buying orders. July, however, was ⅛c over the previous close at best and ended the day with a loss of only ⅛c, while May lost 1⅛c. September closed ⅛c off. Selling on a good scale by the Patten houses was the bear motive and traders with bull views were generally getting out of May into July or September, thus helping the far months at the expense of May. On the early firmness with other markets there was free selling by Bartlett-Frazier, Ware-Leland, and others the pit watches for Patten moves, and by Tuttle, Rumsey, and Jorgeson. On the break Updike, Armour, Pringle, Buckley, and Harris-Gates were buyers, with the last two taking more than any one else. Shipping demand was better and sales of 100,000 bu were reported, with samples ¼@½c over yesterday. The seaboard reported some inquiry, but no sales, and clearances were only 5,000 bu. Receipts were 143 cars, with only one standard, but unlicensed houses continued their activity, turning about 110,000 bu standard into public stocks. Withdrawals from store were 30,900 bu, 28,700 bu of which were standard. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 165 cars.

Provision Buying Less Active.

Provisions had a relapse from the bull fervor of the previous session, although there still was a large enough volume of scattered outside demand for the list to close pork 2½@5c up and ribs 2½@7½c up. Lard, however, had too much profit taking by holders to contend with to do better than close 7½@10c off to 2½c up for the day. Everything opened higher, with the pit full of buying orders and few sellers, but around top selling by Gregson, the Bartlett house, and scattered holders caused a general reaction. The packers seemed to have little for sale. Cash demand for lard continues slow and for meats fair. Local hog receipts at 47,000 head exceeded expectations, but prices at the yards were moved up 5@10c. The west got 96,700 hogs, against 88,800 last year, and this increased run persuaded many to be content with present profits. Shipments of meats were 3,136,000 lbs, about 700,000 lbs over last year, and lard at 1,504,000 lbs was 500,000 lbs under a year ago.

Rye Advances with Wheat.

Rye followed wheat, May selling 1c over Tuesday at 64c. February was nominally 62c, and July sold at 63c. A car of No. 2 spot sold at 64c f. o. b., and No. 4 at 56c f. o. b. Postings gave receipts as 1 car and shipments 6,980 bu. Withdrawn from store, 9,060 bu, and from unlicensed houses 1 car of No. 2.

Barley offerings were light and the market was strong at a 1c advance. Firmness of oat samples was an influence. Malting sales were from 43@54c, with fancy nominally 60c. Feed sold from 40@42c, and screenings from 34@42c. Receipts were 46 cars and shipments 29,990 bu.

Flaxseed was up ¼c with Duluth, and no trading was done here. May was $1.13 bid and February $1.11 bid. No. 1 northwestern was $1.17½ bid and No. 1 nominally $1.11. Receipts were 4 cars here. Minneapolis received none and Duluth 19 cars.

Timothy seed ruled easy on more liberal offerings, especially to arrive. Country lots averaged 5c lower, sales ranging from $2.25 @3.10. February was nominally $2.95, and March $3.05 sellers and $3.00 bid.

Clover seed held at Tuesday's level with trade dull. February was nominally $10.75. Country lots sold sparingly from $9.50@10.50.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

A line of May wheat was bought for some one through Wrenn and Barrell, amounting to possibly 1,000,000 bu. This buying was the main factor in advancing the price to 97c, and the demand was not all filled on the upturn. Wrenn took 250,000 bu of Lichstern at 96¼c on the downturn. It was the gossip of the pit that the buying was for a New York short and represented a loss of about 20c a bu. An advance of 20c on 1,000,000 bu amounts to $200,000, but the short presumably had it to lose. There was little open selling by Armour, but no one in the trade supposes that any one else besides the big bull interest now has May wheat to sell on such a scale. Presumably the losses of the unfortunate short have been added to the bank account of the local bull. It was pit theory last fall that Loyal L. Smith of New York was the leading bear on May wheat in this market, but the losers are not apt to proclaim their misfortunes from the housetops, and there is nothing to indicate who was the sufferer who wound up his operation on the short side of May wheat yesterday. There might have been a loss of over 20c in it, as May wheat sold as low as 76c in November.

New York wired Lohrke: "There has been further good demand for hard wheat from the continent. Limits were better and about six loads were worked from the gulf in addition to six loads spring wheat. A number of orders were unfilled, being too low. We find that it is difficult to get gulf wheat offers at a reasonable price. Sales today were all resales at 1@1½c less than first hand. Corn demand was fair and business difficult, owing to higher ocean freights from Atlantic as well as the gulf. Continent has been a large buyer of September wheat in our market. Late cables are urgently asking for firm offers of hard wheat. Looks like a better demand in the near future."

Henry Zeiss of Boyd-Lunham said yesterday: "Cash demand for hog products has been slow, but this bulge and the war are expected in a measure to whip buyers into line. There is a belief in some quarters that little mess pork can be made out of the quality of hogs now coming in. Receipts have been under the estimate until yesterday, and the average weight has fallen off materially. The average last week, although light, was deceptive, as there was considerable buying of light hogs by scalpers. These were carried over and resold in a good many cases, and were reweighed each time, thus tending to reduce the average. Quality and weight, however, are not satisfactory."

"The movement of wheat in Manitoba," said Percy Buchanan of the Crown Grain company of Winnipeg, "is not quite as small as the receipts at Winnipeg would indicate, as extremely bad weather the last ten days has kept down the receipts there. We have been getting several cars daily at our country stations, but the quality of the wheat is even worse than it has been pictured. There is a great deal of frosted wheat, much of which can be used only for feed, and the proportion is so great that feeding wheat has lost 5c in the last week. There is a good demand for good wheat, both for milling and export, the No. 1 northern bringing about 87c at Winnipeg."

The general speculative sentiment in wheat seems to be as bullish now as it was bearish when all the deliveries were selling well under 80c. The war scare has brought in a new demand, although the trade still seems largely professional, and there is the general expectation that one result of the war will be to enhance values materially. It is felt the small stocks everywhere, the light supplies of wheat of good quality, while there is no superabundance of any kind of wheat, and the uncertainty as to the outcome of the growing crop, will justify as high prices for the July delivery as the May has sold at.

Export provision rates have been reduced 5c per hundred by the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways on business going through Boston, Portland, and St. John's. The reduction is due to a drop in the ocean rate. Rail rates on grain at and east of Buffalo have been reduced to 3.80c on wheat and 3.55c on corn, on grain now at Buffalo. The old rate was 4½c on wheat and 4¼c on corn.

Although a car or two of No. 2 red winter wheat was sold at $1.00, the bulk of the trades in soft winter were unchanged from the day before, while hard winters were up 1c. It was evident millers are loath to pay the prices of contract wheat, although sometimes obliged to have it, and more inclined to use the cheaper substitutes.

Harroun's agent at St. Joseph, Mo., reports not much damage has been done to the growing wheat in Missouri so far, as the roots are all right, although the tops are looking brown; that with favorable weather in the spring the plant ought to come out all right, although favorable weather and plenty of moisture would be absolute necessities.

"The flour demand is decidedly dull just at the moment," said B. A. Eckhart. "There is a good deal of reselling being done by jobbers who have considerable quantities of flour bought to other jobbers, and this is supplying the demand which would otherwise come to the mills."

The Kansas City grain cars must be big ones, as the receipts there were 135,000 bu out of 71 cars. The receipts, however, were smaller than the shipments, which were 152,000 bu, and receipts at St. Louis were 49,000 bu, against shipments of 87,000 bu.

A New York message said: "Good strength in all foreign markets. Cash, 1@2½c up, both in united kingdom and on the continent. Buda-Pesth, 2c up. Stocks of Manitoba wheat here are reduced, only about 80 loads being left."

"The continent is buying Australian wheat cargoes," said a Liverpool cable to Armour. "We think the market will advance under any circumstances." A cable from Australia reports the markets in that country firm.

No. 2 hard winter wheat sold yesterday afternoon at the gulf at the highest price on the crop—81½c. This price was ½c over the best figure obtainable for that grade on Tuesday.

Minneapolis messages reported the offerings of cash wheat light, the demand better than ever, and millers all buying at ½c over May for No. 1 northern and 2½c under May for No. 2 northern.

Winnipeg had 29 cars of wheat yesterday, compared with 190 the corresponding day last year.

There will be no session of the board of trade Friday, Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday.

Declines of 23 to 29 Points at Opening Followed by Recovery Near the Close.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—A decline of 23 to 29 points in the old and of 1 to 5 points on the new crop months marked the opening of the cotton market, on continued liquidation and rumors connecting the New Orleans bulls with the failures in Bremen and Berlin. Prices worked upward until shortly after midday. March was selling at 13.13c, May at 13.45c, and July at 13.54c, a net advance of 45@49 points. The rally attracted fresh selling by the local bear element, and prices sagged off several points, but rallied again later, closing steady at practically the best for the day, a net advance of 25@50 points. Sales were estimated at 500,000 bales. Exports were light. There was a better demand from New England for actual cotton.

Exonerates Boy for Wreck.

A coroner's jury yesterday exonerated Arthur Winkler, a railroad call boy, charged by the police with starting an engine which caused a collision a week ago at Ashland avenue and Fifteenth street, when two persons were killed. Winkler at the inquest described his ride on the "wild" engine.

President Knapp's Report.

It may be observed the company now has a profit and loss surplus of $6,349,788. President George O. Knapp in his annual statement to shareholders yesterday, after noting the company had been successful before the Supreme court of Illinois in sustaining the legality of the company's consolidation, and stating that the question of the city regulating the price of gas is before the United States Supreme court, continued:

"Notwithstanding a marked increase in the cost of labor and materials, and a more or less adverse condition of affairs, due to a strike among the employes, and a diminished supply of gas, the company has prospered. The earnings for the year exceed those for 1902, which were the largest, up to that time, in the history of the company.

"Something over a year ago the directors concluded to take up the matter of pushing the introduction and installation of what are known as gas arc lamps, and the total number of these lamps now in operation is 28,477. A careful record of the operations of these lamps indicates that the consumption of gas by an arc lamp is substantially the same as the consumption of the average family gas stove. The increase for the year in the number of gas meters set is 5,600, and in the number of gas stoves installed 19,337.

"The increase in the number of meters and gas stoves set and installed is not so large as during the year 1902, due to the fact that for a considerable period, during the strike, the company could not install meters and gas stoves with the same facility as prior to, and subsequent to, the strike of its employés. However, whatever deficiency exists in this department is more than compensated for by the number of gas arc lamps installed.

"The increase in the mileage of mains is small, due entirely to prevailing labor conditions in the city of Chicago during the year. There has been no increase in the outstanding capital stock or bonded indebtedness of the company."

The election of directors resulted as follows:

C. K. G. Billings, A. N. Brady, Walter Ferguson, A. R. Flower, George O. Knapp.

St. Paul Gossip.

There was talk yesterday of $25,000,000 additional St. Paul stock to be issued the coming spring. Because of this rumor the shares were weak.

St. Paul pays 7 per cent and its earnings are beginning to fall off. While December and January have been generally bad months for northern systems, it is beginning to suggest itself that present dividends will not be continued on some of the roads. St. Paul, Pennsylvania, and Atchison are possible candidates for reduced dividends.

General Financial News.

In event of an increased demand for copper for war purposes it may be noted there is no present danger of a famine. The United Metal Selling company, the American Metal company, and John Stanton could, it is said, deliver immediately 100,000,000 lbs of refined copper.

Wall street has figured out a new theory for the advance in the price of Steel preferred. It is that the stock is being bought by Harriman interests who will later on place large rail contracts with the company, the effect of which will be bullish on steel stocks. Mr. Harriman is believed to represent a potential tonnage of between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 tons in this affair.

It is considered likely that Thomas M. King of New York will be chosen president of the reorganized Lake Superior company. The directory is expected to include John Pitcairn, president of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company; John T. Terry, T. J. Drummond, and several other influential men.

The Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph company reports for the year ended Dec. 31 gross earnings of $3,480,042; net, $1,309,123; and surplus, $273,711.

Bond experts attach no importance to the action of the Texas Pacific in discontinuing payment of interest on the second income. About $1,500,000 of the issue is outstanding. The interest is not cumulative and is not a fixed charge.

At the meeting of representatives of the largest distillers in the country, held in New York, it was decided to exercise control over production with a view to limiting the latter to actual trade needs. A committee was appointed to formulate a plan by which the products of the industry may be handled by a general selling agency.

The Carnegie company is already receiving orders for structural material to be used in reconstructing the buildings destroyed by fire at Baltimore. Officials of the United States Steel corporation say the export business of the company for February will be the largest in its history.

An official of the Otis Elevator company says business in the last year has been good. There was not so much new building during 1903, but a great many old buildings were fitted with modern elevators.

Chicago Stocks.

On the local exchange yesterday Pneumatic Tool 5 per cent bonds sold at 50. This is an advance of 5 points within a few weeks. President Duntley returned yesterday from New York. He said the financial statement would not be made previous to the annual meeting.

There was a sale of Cook county 4s at par and an eighth, and a sale of Chicago Consolidated Brewing company 6s at 100⅛.

In the stock list there was little doing. Prices were steady.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Large Supply of Cattle Makes Prices 10 to 20 Cents Lower, but Hogs Are Higher.

Receipts of live stock yesterday were much larger than the trade had been expecting, cattle running up to 30,000, hogs 48,000, and sheep 25,000. The supply of cattle was beyond all demands of the trade, and prices ruled 10@20c lower. Hogs were in good demand, and prices were strong to 5c higher. Sheep opened steady, but, as the supply ran below the early estimate, the market showed a firmer turn toward the finish, and lambs closed 10c higher.

Cattle.

Of the 30,000 cattle arriving a large proportion were of not better than common to medium quality, short fed and no more than half fat. The demand was not good. Trains were late, and the market showed a drag from start to finish. A few cattle good enough to sell at more than 5c were picked up at not more than a shade under prices current on Monday, but for the great bulk of offerings buyers were slow to take hold, and a clearance could not be made at prices 10c to 20c lower than on Monday. Top cattle for the day sold at $5.90, but there were comparatively few sales as high as $5.00, and the bulk of trade was below $4.75, with fair beef steers selling at $3.75 to $4.25. The market for butcher stock opened steady but weakened and closed 10c to 15c lower. Stocker and feeder trade also was a shade lower. Quotations:

| Good to prime steers | $4.60@5.60 |
| Poor to medium | 3.50@4.50 |
| Stockers and feeders | 2.40@4.15 |
| Cows | 1.85@4.25 |
| Heifers | 2.25@4.60 |
| Canners | 1.50@2.50 |
| Bulls | 2.25@4.00 |
| Calves | 3.00@7.25 |

Hogs.

The market for hogs was strong and active from the start, stimulated by the bullish effect of war news on the provision market. The liberal supply was readily absorbed at prices generally 5c higher than Tuesday's market and on the highest level of the winter. Fancy butchers sold as high as $5.45 and a number of sales were made at $5.40. The bulk of butcher and shipper droves cost from $5.30 to $5.40, mixed and packing grades sold at $5.10 to $5.25, and light weights at $4.75 to $5.20, though most of them went at $5.00@5.10. Quotations:

|---|---|
| Mixed and butchers' | $5.00@5.37½ |
| Good to choice heavy | 5.25@5.45 |
| Rough heavy | 4.95@5.20 |
| Light | 4.75@5.20 |
| Bulk of sales | 5.00@5.25 |

Sheep.

First estimates on sheep receipts were placed at 35,000, and it was due to this that the market showed a slow tendency on the opening. It soon developed that the estimate was at least 10,000 too high, and this gave the trade a little better turn. Sheep sold steady as a rule and lambs strong to 10c higher, with late sales showing a full 10c advance. Quotations:

| Good to prime lambs | $5.50@6.10 |
| Western yearlings | 4.75@5.25 |
| Western wethers | 4.25@4.50 |
| Western ewes | 3.50@4.35 |
| Native ewes | 3.50@4.25 |
| Native wethers | 4.00@4.50 |

The Worst Enemy of Legitimate Mining Is the Mining Faker.

Hypocrisy is the tribute that vice pays to virtue. The good whose methods are imitated are flattered.

Four years ago our office, on the recommendation of the property by Professor Treadwell, put the Greene Consolidated Copper Company on the market, and later followed it up with the GEORGE A. TREADWELL MINING COMPANY, which was not only recommended by Professor Treadwell, but named after him.

Those who followed our lead in the Greene bought stock at $5 a share, and sold it within twelve months for $40.

Professor Treadwell believes that the Treadwell is a better and more valuable property than the Greene, while the Treadwell Company has but little more than one-third the Greene's capitalization.

Swarms of imitators, incapable themselves of taking the initiative, have imitated the methods we have employed to raise the capital for these two meritorious and valuable enterprises, and have attempted, under our cover, to foist on the public things of little value at enormous prices.

The fact still remains that the Greene is now producing one-sixth the copper of the world, and the Treadwell will soon be producing another sixth, and having a small capitalization, and economical management, may be expected to pay very handsome dividends.

It can afford to let the fakers continue their imitations, for its place among the world's copper producers and dividend-payers is already assured.

MARKET FEATURES REFLECT THE WORK OF PROFESSIONALS.

Wall Street Traders Generally Regard War Developments as Favorable, Apparently Taking Optimistic View of Japanese Successes—Fractional Gain in Brooklyn Rapid Transit on Deals in Excess of 60,000 Shares—Figures on Steel Profits.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—For a time the bears on the stock market had fears that the market would be taken away from them and that their short sales would prove far from profitable. Early in the day the market showed much strength. In some parts of the list prices advanced aggressively. It was seen, however, that as quotations rose transactions fell off. Before noon the market become dull. In the last hour prices so far receded that many issues closed with net losses and the gains in others were reduced to inconsiderable amounts. The consensus of opinion was that the market apparently was entirely in the hands of professionals.

Once again the market opened with a considerable show of strength in the face of lower quotations for American stocks from London and the selling of about 15,000 shares for foreign account. London's position was changed later in the day, and it brought back part of the stock sold at the opening. The war news was looked upon as favorable, the Japanese victories being generally regarded in Wall street as preferable to the opposite outcome of the conflict between the two powers at war.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit was a star performer during the morning, advancing in a fashion to give a pause even to the most hardy bear. On one board it was said the advance resulted from buying by shorts. It was held that the advance from 41 to 43½ was due to renewed buying by the pool whose selling several days ago was held responsible for the break in the stock which carried it below 40. The stock's net gain was only three-quarters of a point on transactions in excess of 60,000 shares.

The weakness in New York Central after the publication of the January earnings showing a heavy falling off from last year's figures was a factor of considerable importance in shaping the course of prices during the closing hour. On sales of less than 10,000 shares New York Central declined from 117¼ to 114⅝, and rallying only an eighth showed a net loss of 2¼ points.

New stock issues and rumors of them as a depressing influence are well illustrated in the decline in St. Paul from 141½ to 139⅝. A report concerning the stock was that $25,000,000 of stock authorized in October, 1902, was to be issued within a few weeks within accompanying rights to stockholders. In regard to this report it is interesting to recall it was said a long time ago there was no likelihood of this stock being issued at all. It is claimed it had been authorized as an act of protection against certain plans contemplated by interests not too friendly to the St. Paul road, it being sought to place the company in position to adopt retaliatory measures should it be necessary. These steps according to the same report proved efficacious, and the plans which the St. Paul endeavored to frustrate were abandoned.

Efforts have been made to determine to what extent the Baltimore fire and need of rebuilding the destroyed section of the city will benefit the United States Steel corporation. Estimates of net profits on material which the corporation will be called upon to supply run as high as $12,000,000. One who claimed to have figured the problem out estimated the companies' profit from this source would amount to $5,000,000.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Trading was not active in the Boston market. Amalgamated, the favorite, was strong until the afternoon, when it weakened. Utah once more was active. Other coppers were not much in demand. There was call for small lots of telephone. Steel preferred was easier. Call loans, 3@4 per cent; time loans, collateral, 4½@5 per cent; time loans mercantile paper, 5 per cent; clearing house loans, 6 per cent.

IN THE FOREIGN MONEY MARKET

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Money was less plentiful today, and the demand was increased owing to money disturbances in connection with the war. Discounts were firm. Business on the stock exchange was more cheerful, the sales pressure having relaxed, though the markets were still sensitive. The conflagration at Baltimore accounted for some of the declines among first class securities, certain British insurance companies' shares being heavily affected. Prices on the stock exchange were also influenced by the failure of Stephen Luhrmann & Son of Bremen. Consols were easier. Stocks closed above the lowest quotations of the day. Foreigners mostly had a better tone, especially Japanese, while Russians were 1½ points lower. Americans opened firm, but the movements were irregular. Grand Trunk weakened on the unexpected traffic decrease. Closing stocks:

PARIS, Feb. 10.—Prices on the bourse today were steadier. Rssians opened lower, and then improved. Later they fell back, closing on the same level as yesterday. Other internationals were irregular. Russian imperial 4s closed at 90.50. Industrials were irregular and heavy. The private rate of discount was 2 9-16 per cent. Three per cent rentes, 96 francs for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 22½ centimes for checks.

BUTTER AND EGGS ARE HIGHER.

Dairy products again ruled firm, and 1c was added to the price of "extras" in butter and ½c to egg prices. In butter the fancy creameries are scarce and their firmness is helping the tone of the whole market. In eggs there was a good demand for all reasonably good stock, in spite of the fact that purchases are no larger than necessary to meet requirements. The long continued high price is forcing into the market buyers who have been holding off. A good demand existed for potatoes, and weather favored holders.

NEW SOLICITOR FOR ALTON

F. S. WINSTON SUCCEEDS WILLIAM BROWN WITH RAILWAY.

Latter to Continue Work for Railroad Company, with Office at Jacksonville—He Retires at His Own Request, Having Offered Resignation When Harriman Interests Bought Control—Central Association Agrees on Rates to St. Louis World's Fair.

Announcement was made yesterday by President Felton of the Chicago and Alton that William Brown had been relieved, at his own request, of the duties of general solicitor of the Alton railway company, and will hereafter devote his entire time to the affairs of the Chicago and Alton railroad.

F. S. Winston takes Mr. Brown's place as general solicitor of the railway company, with headquarters at Chicago.

William Brown has been with the Chicago and Alton since 1872, when he took the position of local attorney for both the Alton and Wabash railroads at Jacksonville, Ill., at which city he had been a prominent lawyer for many years. Two years later he relinquished the position of attorney for the Wabash, but remained as attorney of the Alton at Jacksonville until 1890, when he was appointed general solicitor. In this position he gained an enviable reputation as one of the most successful and ablest railroad attorneys in the country.

Previous Effort to Retire.

When the Harriman interests obtained control of the Alton it was Mr. Brown's intention to resign, but he was prevailed upon to keep his position.

As the general solicitor of the railroad company, which is operated by the railway company, Mr. Brown will devote his attention entirely to affairs in which the old company may become involved, while all law matters of the operating company will be attended to by Mr. Winston. Mr. Brown's offices will be at Jacksonville, Ill., where his family residence has been located all these years.

Agree on St. Louis Fair Rates.

The Central Passenger association roads have reached an agreement as to rates and arrangements for world's fair traffic. The following proposition from the St. Louis terminal lines was approved:

1. That so-called season excursion tickets be sold to St. Louis daily, beginning April 25, 1904, and continuing during the period of the exposition, with final return limit of Dec. 15, 1904. Rate 80 per cent double the one way fare.

2. That excursion tickets be sold to St. Louis daily, beginning April 25, 1904, and continuing during the period of the exposition, with final return limit of sixty days. Rate, one and one-third fares.

The further proposition of the St. Louis terminal lines "that excursion tickets be sold to St. Louis daily, beginning April 25, 1904, and continuing during the period of the exposition, with final return limit of ten days from date of sale from territory distant 350 miles or more from St. Louis, at rate of one fare plus $2," was amended so to provide for a ten day limit from territory 350 miles or less from St. Louis and a fifteen day limit for over 350 miles.

Coach Excursions Weekly.

Another recommendation agreed upon was that coach excursions may be run not oftener than once a week by each line from competitive points at approximately 1 cent a mile, the return limit to be six days.

It was also agreed that fares and arrangements for each class of round trip tickets, including coach excursions, may be authorized; that stop over of ten days be allowed on all one way and round trip tickets through the St. Louis gateway, upon tickets being deposited with the joint agent, accompanied by a deposit of $10; that within a specified territory variable routes may be authorized for people to go via one gateway and return via another. This means that tickets to St. Louis by direct lines shall be good to return via Chicago, or vice versa.

WABASH TO ISSUE $50,000,000.

Proposed Increase in Capital Stock Said to Be for Purpose of Complying with Missouri Law.

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Stockholders of the Wabash railroad received notice today that a special meeting will be held in Toledo March 22 to authorize an increase of $50,000,000 in the company's capital stock. The stock at present consists of $24,000,000 preferred and $28,000,000 common. President Joseph Ramsey Jr. of the Wabash said the $50,000,000 of new stock, all of which will be common stock, was to be authorized only to comply with the laws of Missouri, which provide the bonded debt of a corporation shall not exceed its authorized capital stock. The company's bonded debt is about $95,000,000. In Wall street it is thought part of the issue may be used to take over the Western Maryland and West Virginia Central.

Chicago-South Shore Trouble Adjusted

Laporte, Ind., Feb. 10.—The financial difficulties of the Chicago and South Shore railway company, operating an interurban line between Laporte and Michigan City, precipitated by a receivership suit and proceedings to foreclose a $300,000 mortgage held by the Royal Trust company of Chicago, have been adjusted and the road will be operated by a committee of the bondholders. The present management will retire.

Sale of Railroad Is Confirmed.

New York, Feb. 10.—The reported purchase of the Central New England railway by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railway was officially confirmed today. The details were not obtainable, but it is understood that the official negotiations were arranged by President Mellen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford road today.

Coal Operators to Meet Powder War.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The so-called powder trust for two years waged war on the Fontanet Powder company, composed of coal operators, by offering powder at the mines to miners at 50 cents less on the keg than the operators charged. The result was that the powder combine bought the Fontanet plant. Following this the United States Powder company has just been incorporated by Indiana operators and will build a big plant in the coal field.
